BRITAIN WILL TRY TO DIRECT EMMIGRATION INTO RIGHT CHANNELS

Significant Change in the Attitude of the Colonial Office Announced by Lord Milner—Government Bound to Give More Help and Guidance Than Heretofore—Will Help Those Who are Seeking Homes in Other Parts of the Empire.

LONDON, April 8.—The first significant change in the attitude of the Colonial Office particularly and the government generally towards emigration from the United Kingdom to the the Overseas Dominions is indicated by Lord Milner in an address he delivered before the Imperial Institute under the auspices of the Colonial Emigration Society to consider the question of the emigration of women of all classes to the Overseas Dominions.

Lord Milner expressed the opinion that the government was bound to give more active help and guidance than heretofore. Prejudice in some quarters against any government action in the matter existed, and it was said they had no business to stimulate emigration. That was a complete misapprehension of the position. It was not a question of stimulation at all. He was the last person in the world to try to drive men and women from the United Kingdom, and he was convinced there was no need for it.

GOVERNMENT WILL TRY TO INDUCE EMIGRANTS TO SETTLE WITHIN THE BOUNDS OF THE EMPIRE

Lord Milner held that it was the minister's business to help those in the United Kingdom who were seeking homes in other lands within the Empire, not because we wanted them to go, but because they themselves wanted to go. The government could assist in two ways. One was to try and direct emigration into the right channels, and the other was to make arrangements so as to ensure that the emigrants on arrival in their new homes should have the best possible chance of success.

Regarding the former, he emphasized the desirability of inducing emigrants to settle within the British Empire, so that they should not be really lost to Britain, and might uphold great new communities where prosperity and growth were so intimately interwoven with our own prosperity. Apart from sentimental reasons, Britain had the greatest possible interest in building up the Dominions. To put it on the lowest ground the overseas dominions were Britain's best customers in peace and the experience of the last four or five years had shown that they were her trusty allies in time of danger.

FINANCE MINISTER DENIES RUMOR CONCERNING WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Ottawa, April 8.—A report having appeared in an evening paper to the effect that the sale of war savings and thrift stamps was to be discontinued by the government, the Minister of Finance, on being interviewed, made the following statement: "The war savings movement is gaining momentum, the sales are increasing each month. It is, however, an experiment, and if after a fair trial it appears that the expense involved in promoting the movement on the present lines is out of proportion to the success attained, the scheme may be discontinued. In any event war savings and thrift stamps will be on sale for public purposes during the entire current year and as large a measure of volunteer support as possible will be welcomed."

F. W. WOOLWORTH REFERENDUM PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY TO BE TAKEN IN THE AUTUMN

New York, April 8.—Frank W. Woolworth, who started a five and ten cent store at Utica, N. Y. forty years ago, on a capital of $50, and eventually became the millionaire he operated of a great chain of these stores in the United States, Canada and England, died suddenly early today at his home at Glen Cove Long Island. In addition to establishing a business with profits said to be nearly $8,000,000 yearly, Mr. Woolworth built the celebrated fifty one story Woolworth building in lower New York, said to be the tallest building in the world. He was born on a farm at Rodman, Jefferson county, New York, on April 13, 1852.

THE POLES HAVE BEEN MISLED BY GERMAN PROPAGANDISTS

M. Paderewski Pleased With Outcome of Conference in Paris—Explanation Puts a Different Light on the Polish Question—Should Hasten the Despatch of Troops.

Paris, April 8.—After conferences today with Premier Clemenceau, Foreign Minister Pichon and Colonel House, Jan Ignace Paderewski, the Premier of Poland, told the Associated Press that he was somewhat reassured about Marshal Foch's agreement concerning the moving of troops through Danzig.

"Our information throughout Poland," said M. Paderewski "was based largely on the German version of the arrangement made at Spa; consequently the Poles had regarded it as a surrender to German terms. As the matter has been explained to me today by the entente officials, it looks very different, of course."

Misled by the Germans.

"I appreciate the necessity of getting troops from France to Poland as rapidly as possible, and I see that we have been misled by the German propagandists, who are working by the thousands in Poland."

Replying to an inquiry as to whether he felt that the principle of the right to land Polish troops at Danzig had been maintained, Paderewski said:

"We are uncertain still, and not satisfied with the status of the negotiations concerning Danzig. If Poland is not given Danzig, the leaving of Danzig in German hands would mean the defeat of all the armies which participated in this great war."

Asked if the neutral version of the Danzig question would be satisfactory to Poland, Paderewski replied emphatically in the negative. "We have seen how the neutralization of Danzig works. The whole world knows what a failure that was in the past. It would be the same again."

No Differences Between French and U. S. Delegates

Paris Newspapers Discuss Alleged Views of the President's Attitude Put Forth in American Circles—Complete Reparations Will be Called for by the Conference—Plan for Buffer State at the Mouth of the Vistula Abandoned.

PARIS, April 8.—The views of President Wilson's attitude on French claims before the Peace Conference, put forth by "certain American circles," are declared by the Matin today to be "entirely fantastic." President Wilson, the Matin says, is conscientiously studying the final details of the preliminary peace. The Petit Journal comments in much the same manner, denying that there are differences between the French and American delegations, especially regarding financial questions, as has been declared.

According to Le Journal, the plan for a buffer state at the mouth of the Vistula has been abandoned, the handing over of Danzig to the Poles to be probably the course adopted.

The Echo de Paris says it is able to state that the solution of the reparations question reached by the conference provides for complete reparation. The plan, it adds, calls for the annual meeting of an inter-allied commission to decide upon the sum that Germany shall pay the following year.

PLANS FOR ESTIMATING THE DAMAGES WHICH GERMANY MUST PAY HAVE BEEN FORMULATED

The Council today heard the report of the reparations committee and accepted a proposition which provides for the formulation of the categories of damages which Germany will be required to pay and the method of estimating them, but will leave to a commission sitting after the peace treaty has been signed the determination of the full bill and the amount which can be collected from Germany. As it is not expected that Germany will be able to pay in full, the assets which are received from her will be apportioned among her creditors proportionately to the size of the claim, and without preference.

NOW ESTIMATED THAT GERMANY'S FIRST PAYMENT OF INDEMNITY WILL BE $5,000,000,000 IN CASH

The Council will fix definitely the amount of the initial payment and instruct the commission as to the minimum amount to be collected. It is now estimated that this amount will run up to about $45,000,000,000, of which Germany will be required to pay $5,000,000,000 down in cash or securities, with another instalment payable within two years, after peace is signed. After the question of reparations is settled, the Rhine frontier and the Adriatic ports will remain the chief subjects.

The ministers also intimate that they recognize that the Hudson Bay project is one that must be gone on with. In this connection it was pointed out that any amount of money which may be placed in the estimates this year will be in the nature of a re-vote, as the money voted last year was not spent.

STEEL CORP. WON VICTORY IN THE COURTS

Montreal, April 8.—Cable advice from London yesterday stated that the case brought by the Dominion steel corporation in the English Courts to force the owners of a number of ships underwritten when war broke out in 1914 to carry out their contracts, has been decided in the corporation's favor.

The court has ruled that owners must return the vessels the company until the expiration of the charters, which are for long terms, just as soon as they are released from government service. It is understood that the charters are very favorable to the steel corporations and the return of the steamers will permit of the pre-war trade in coal from Nova Scotia mine to St. Lawrence river points being resumed at a comparatively early date.
