A CANADIAN FLAG.

The question of having a distinctly Canadian flag—"a national flag of Canada"—has lately been revived for discussion, says the Montreal Journal of Commerce. The very common and improper use on land of the Canadian marine flag has often been commented on, but the misuse of that flag continues. It is hard to make the public understand that the red ensign with the Canadian arms in the fly, is a correct flag only when it is shown on a Canadian ship. The desire for a flag that can be correctly called the national flag of Canada is quite natural. There are some ultra loyal folk who protest against the use of any flag other than the Union Jack. "Isn't the old Union Jack good enough?" they ask. Surely, it is good enough for us as the flag of the Empire and as such we must keep it. But there is no reason why Canada should not, like other Dominions, have a flag of its own. We venture to suggest that the national flag of Canada should be a flag which will express Canada's position as a nation within the Empire. For this purpose we would make the Union Jack the groundwork of Canada's flag, retaining as much of the Jack as a border as will keep its identity. For a centre we suggest a white disc within which there would be placed a maple leaf surrounded by nine blue stars, one for each province of the Dominion. If such a use of the Union Jack would be allowable the flag we suggest would be an excellent one. It would be handsome, easily recognized and expressive of the position which Canada holds and desires to hold.

Our future kinw knows perfectly well, says La Presse, that so long as we remain faithful to the traditions and customs bequeathed to us by our ancestors, so long the British Crown will be assured of our loyalty and our support. It will only be when, for one cause or another we reject the lessons of our national history that there will be reason to fear insubordination and revolt. In other words, those who are not guilty of treason to their forefathers are far from being traitors to their kings. It is a point that our Francophone neighbors should not lose sight of. The Prince of Wales will visit Montreal at the end of October. It will be the end of his journey across Canada. Let us get ready to give our distinguished guest a fitting reception with our hearts even more than with a superabundance of bunting.

The extra session of Parliament called ostensibly for the purpose of ratifying the peace treaty was opened by the Governor General yesterday. The speech from the throne was very brief and, to use a hackneyed political phrase, is remarkable for what it does not contain. An Ottawa despatch says the feeling prevails at the capital that the session has been called to give the members a chance to cop an extra sessional indemnity of $2,500 for behaving themselves last session.

Toronto Times: There is reason to believe that in the sale of matches an unjust and unreasonable profit is exacted by manufacturers, jobbers and retailers. There is a Federal tax of 5c. a box on all matches, and this tax is paid at the factory by the manufacturer. In selling to the jobber the producing firm adds together the cost of production and the tax and adds a percentage of profit. The jobber, in distributing the goods, adds a percentage of profit also; the retailer does likewise. Therefore the consumer pays a profit of 36 4-11 per cent. of the tax as well as on the matches. Is this fair or even justifiable?

Sikeston Herald: Sometimes we wish we were a billygoat, so that we might roam and cavort around, chew the rag without fear of consequences, buck the tiger and wear that don't-give-a-expression that goes to make up an independent goat. As it is, we are bound to be more or less mealy-mouthed, and are afraid to speak our sentiments on certain questions for fear of making some son-of-a-

AMERICAN COLONEL GIVES FREE ADVICE TO RHEUMATICS

SAYS IT'S SHEER FOLLY FOR ANYONE TO SUFFER THESE DAYS.

Rheumatism can't be cured so long as your system is weak and run down. You must first build up and get strength to fight off the disease. Ferrozone cures because it builds up, because it renews the blood and dissolves the Uric Acid and the poisons that cause rheumatism. It is proved right here that Ferrozone does cure. Col. H. M. Russ, of Edwards, St. Lawrence Co., one of the fine old heroes of the Civil War, was completely restored by Ferrozone. Read his statement: "I couldn't get around without a cane, and then only with difficulty. Rheumatism took complete control of my limbs. Suffering was more intense than hardships on the battlefield. When my doctor had done his best I got Ferrozone. Then came a quick change. Ferrozone gave me comfort at once eased the pain and took the stiffness out of my muscles. I am well today. Ferrozone cured me completely. I can jump and run like I did forty years ago." Be sensible about your case. If your present medicine is useless give it up. Don't experiment again. Ferrozone is known on all sides to be a cure that does cure. Why not get a supply today. The sooner you begin Ferrozone the quicker you'll get well. Price 50c. per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Catarrozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Halifax Chronicle: The moving incident at Toronto when the Prince of Wales expressed sympathy with Sir Allen Aylesworth, who recently lost his only son (a returned soldier), was one of those touches of nature which level rank and make the whole world kin.

Boston Globe: Much of Mr. Carnegie's will was in the ironmaster's own handwriting. Mr. Hammerschlag's name was spelled "Hammerslaig" and Hugh Morrison's name was spelled "Hew." Do you think you begin to see why Mr. Carnegie favored simple spelling?

Good-bye, Archduke Joseph. Heres' your hat. And mind the step.

You never can tell. The orator who electrifies one audience may merely shock another.

Come on, World, get busy and produce something. This country is tired of "divvying up" with you.

Any woman could gain distinction by claiming that her children inherit their good looks from their father's relatives, but few women seem to desire to acquire distinction that way.

HON. MR. VENIOT'S PROPOSITION HAS BEEN ACCEPTED

In ordering the installation of concrete curb and gutter on York Street between King and Brunswick streets was confirmed. Ald. Cooper brought up the matter of the refusal of the council to grant the application of E. C. Atkinson for payment of half of the cost of the construction of concrete curb and gutter and sidewalk in front of his property in University Avenue. His opinion was that there should be uniformity in regard to such matters. As it was some citizens were given curb and gutter free, others paid half the cost and others were turned down with nothing. It was not fair.

Ald. McKay said that where street development demanded the city laid the curb and gutter. In other cases application must be made to the city. Mr. Atkinson had made no application. Had he done so, he (McKay) would have opposed granting it for the curb and gutter and sidewalk were in a section of the city where they connected with no existing pavement and would benefit nobody but those occupying two houses. He could inform the aldermen that it was the opinion of the City Engineer and of members of the Council that the laying of curb and gutter in isolated sections of street should be discontinued as when continuous work was done such sections almost always had to be torn out it being impossible to get grade or alignment to suit them.

Soldiers Tax Question

Ald. Camp asked what was to be done with regard to the taxing of returned soldiers which had caused a strong protest. He was informed that the council would deal with the matter at the regular monthly meeting tonight.

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY CURED HER

Mothers should look well after their children during the hot summer months as this is the time of year when the young ones are liable to all kinds of bowel complaints.

If your children have any looseness of the bowels do not experiment with new and untried remedies. Get one having stood the test of time. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 74 years. Don't accept a substitute and perhaps endanger your child's life. Mrs. Willis Coupland, Sunbridge, Ont., writes:—"About four years ago my little girl, then a baby two months old, took diarrhoea. I took her to the doctor but to no avail. After he had given her up, I read of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and immediately got a bottle. Within two days she was improving fast. I cannot ever praise it enough. I hope some poor sufferers will see this letter and lead them to a friend indeed."
