SPEECH FROM THE THRONE WAS REMARKABLY BRIEF

Programme for the Session is Not Likely to be Extensive—

Members and Senators Given an Opportunity to Pick Up

Some Easy Money — Members Report Public Sentiment

Running Strong Against the Government.

Ottawa, Sep. 1—At the opening of the third session of the thirteenth parliament this afternoon, the brevity and the poverty of the speech from the throne made it no longer tenable to pretend that the new session is any other than one called to deal with odds and ends procrastinated from the last session in order to provide occasion to give an extra $2,500 to members who were good and not too aggressive last spring and summer. Ostensibly it is called to ratify the peace treaty, but the session, never the less is far more apt to be known to history as the "indemnity" session than as the "peace" session which the government would like it to be called.

Some lively plays must be staged to make it seem a real season but Union members now in Ottawa state the belief that no attempt will be made at this session to enact a franchise act to take the place of the by-elections act passed last session to replace the war time elections act. That would have given real occasion for conflict and debate. But on this point as on many others the government is feeling its way. It will get most of its experience under the by-elections act, when elections are called for the vacant constituencies in October.

There is something of a stunned feeling on the government's side as the extent and force of the sentiment against it through the country is made apparent by the reports from members coming back to Ottawa after a summer spent in their respective homes.

See a New Party

In influential circles there is a growing tendency to listen to suggestions that the way to opposition success lies through the uniting of Liberal, farmer and labor members elected at the next election in an effective combination such as that which kept Premier Asquith in power in Great Britain and made possible Lloyd George's crusades for reform of the house of lords and social amelioration. In the meantime all these claimant and rising forces make it difficult for new ministers to get a safe constituency. Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, and Dr. S. F. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, cannot sit this session.

There is a renewed belief here that Sir Henry will run in North Toronto. The latest report and one which seems to have the color of truth, is that Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King will run in Prince, Prince Edward Island which in the last election was carried by the veteran mariner and Liberal, the late Captain Read. He would be certain of election in that constituency.

During the session attempts will be made once again to enact legislation to create a war purchasing commission and to pass an act to back up provincial prohibition legislation.

The peace treaty discussions will draw out some interesting information from the premier and other cabinet ministers who participated in the four parliaments and the "waitful watching" at Paris. The session should finish in October, but one never knows. The opposition ranks will be strengthened by the presence and active participation of Hon. W. S. Fielding and Mr. Fred

E. Pardee. That will make a difference

Proceedings Very Brief

This afternoon's proceedings were brief. Following the reading of the speech from the throne, Sir George Foster, in the house, presented the usual pre-forma bill regarding oaths of office. Speaking then in French—to the loud applause of Quebec members—Sir George moved that the speech from the throne be taken into consideration tomorrow. And following another customary motion regarding select standing committees, the house adjourned till tomorrow afternoon. Then Dr. Whidden of Brandon, seconded by J. C. McIntosh of Nanaimo, B. C. will move the address in reply and the debate will open.

It was noted that J. H. Burnham of Peterboro, took his seat on the cross benches. W. A. Buchanan, of Lethbridge, was seated near him, also on the cross benches. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition watched the proceedings from the public gallery.

Speech From Throne

The text of the speech is as follows: Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate: Gentlemen of the House:

In this, which is the first visit to our dominion, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales at once renews happy associations with his comrades of the Canadian army at the same time undertakes the important duty of making himself acquainted at first hand with the resources and development of our country, and with the ideals and aspirations of our people. The warm and sincere welcome which everywhere greets him is an insurance that the ties which unite our country with the motherland and the other dominions into a great community of nations were never closer than they are today.

The urgency of proceeding immediately to the consideration of the treaty of peace between the Allied and associated powers and Germany, signed at Versailles on the 28th day of June, 1919, has compelled me to summon you to renewed labors which I trust will not be of long duration. My advisers are of the opinion that this treaty ought not to be ratified on behalf of Canada without the approval of parliament. Authenticated copies will be placed before you without delay for your consideration.

In addition you will be asked to direct attention to other measures, including those rendered immediately necessary by the approaching return of peace and by the terms of the peace treaty.

Honorable Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

Estimates will be laid before you making such financial provision as may be required in connection with the peace treaty and for other purposes.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate: Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

For more than five years the world has endured the devastation and horror of war forced upon it by an intolerable spirit and purpose of aggression. Fortunately our country has been spared the ruin, which have been inflicted upon many other nations; but our participation in the war has involved many burdens and vast sacrifices which our people have borne with unflinching spirit. With reverent thankfulness we realize that the world emerges victorious from its long struggle against the forces of barbarous militarism and savage aggression. The labors of reconstruction may be difficult and even painful; and we must undertake them with the same united resolve and inflexible purpose as sustained our efforts during the years of conflict. To you and to the great nation whose affairs are committed to your charge, I bid God speed in all your endeavors.
