THE PEOPLE WE LIKE.

You have seen a patient, useful hen scratching about in a barren backyard, picking up here and there a bit of grain, a crumb of bread, an insect, and occasionally a small pebble or piece of shell. You have thought that the hen chose an odd variety of food, and maybe on second thought you decided that after all there was no real choice, for the hen only selected articles that it was the nature of a hen to eat.

We commonly say that we choose our friends, but our choice is bounded by the same influences that affect the hen's eating. Our selection of friends is accidental, if enduring, for we pick up one kind of friend on one occasion and another kind later. Some of our friends furnish us social nourishment as the grain the hen selects, other friends are like the grit the hen eats, they keep us from getting social indigestion. It is rare indeed that we actually choose some person and say, "I will have that person among my friends."

We like people instinctively, rather than by deliberate choice, and we like them because they help fill out our own natures. Sometimes we look over our list of friends and wonder why there is such diversity among the members. It is because we are many-sided ourselves and two persons who fit well into their own lives may not have any points of contact with each other.

If we give thought to our friends, one by one, we can often discover why we like them—we can isolate the quality that attracts us to them. When we have found that we will also find our friend has this quality without being so aware of it that he makes a boast of it. When our friends begin to take the attitude that they have some quality we need, we drop them. While they are unspoiled in those bits of character that help ours, we like them. When they become self-praising in those elements they lose their attraction. The people who are friends to so many others are those who cannot account for it—they are unspoiled in their possession of good qualities; and they are fortunate indeed if they continue to be natural.

We like people we can trust, we make friends with those who fill out our own characters and we trust those who are natural. If you find that you are losing your friends, look into your own mind and see if you are not losing some of the naturalness that has brought those friends to you.

THE TURK MUST GO.

Two of the Central Powers know their fate already and it remains for the treacherous Bulgarian and the murderous Turk to receive their sentence. The Bulgar can be crushed like some objectionable insect, but the Turk presents a greater problem. Britain has an enormous Mohammedan population in India and elsewhere and these people look upon the Sultan as the head of Islam and regard Turkey with reverence as the one independent Moslem nation. This complicates the problem and has evidently caused some hesitation on the part of the Allies in finally settling the Ottoman question. Yet the Turk must go from Constantinople. For five hundred years and more he has been a conqueror and an oppressor of other races but has shown no ability to organize, civilize or develop. He has always and ever been a man of brute force without a redeeming feature to his vulgarity. Politically unteachable, he has contributed nothing to the good of mankind and has fed like a parasite on the labor of others. Such a rule has cursed Constantinople and the Orient for many centuries, and it is now high time that the end should be made of it.

No one wishes to wantonly hurt the feelings of the Indian Mohammedans, but yet justice must be done, and it is quite likely that the King of the Hedjaz, a lineal descendant of the Prophet, will be generally accepted as the "Visible Successor" by those of the creed of Islam.

Russia has collapsed and there is

FEET AREN'T ACHING
OR TIRED NOW! "TIZ"

Use "Tiz" for tender, puffed-up burning, calloused feet and corns.

Your footsick! Your feet feel tired, puffed-up, chafed, aching, sweaty, and they need "Tiz."

"Tiz" makes feet remarkably fresh and sore-proof. "Tiz" takes the pain and burn right out of corns, callouses and bunions. "Tiz" is the grandest foot-gladdener the world has ever known.

Get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" at any drug store and end foot torture for a whole year. Never have tired, aching, sweaty, smelly feet; your shoes will fit fine and you'll only wish you had tried "Tiz" sooner. Accept no substitute.

no chance of Russian banners ever waving over Constantinople, so that there need be no fear on that score; there is nothing to be feared even in handing the city over to Greece, or making it a mandatory to the United States.

The British Empire has no good reason for supporting the "Sick Man" any longer, for the Turk will never forget that he was smashed by British armies and if allowed to remain on the Bosphorus, will at any moment join a re-organized Germany bent on revenge. The Turk must go.

Rev. Dr. John Pringle, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, of Sydney, N. S., has been elected moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, now in session at Hamilton, Ont. Dr. Pringle is a native of P. E. Island and is seventy-seven years of age. When the gold fever was at its height he spent some years in the Yukon, where he had charge of the work of the Presbyterian Church. He served overseas as a chaplain during the great war.

The 85th Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders will arrive in Halifax next week and the people of the province are planning to give the boys a rousing welcome. The 85th Battalion, which is commanded by Lieut. Col. J. L. Ralston, Liberal M. P. P. for Cumberland, achieved much distinction during the war as a fighting unit.

Potato Bugs Plentiful
Local gardeners are predicting a bumper potato bug crop for the present season. Although in many gardens the potatoes are scarcely above ground bugs in large numbers have swooped down on the young plants and are doing their best to destroy them. The ordinary amateur gardener is at a loss to know where all the bugs are coming from so early in the season.

Sought Information
St. John Globe: "Is that affair to be used to put out forest fires in Quebec?" asked a citizen with grey beard, as he stood on the trestle, this morning and gazed at the hydroplane at anchor. "Yes", answered a bystander. "Can those wings be bent?" was the next question. "No", was the reply. "Then", said the elderly citizen, with some heat, "how can she get through the woods?"

Held Linen Shower
The numerous friends of Miss Rose Stafford, daughter of Mayor Stafford of Marysville gathered at her home in Marysville last night and held a linen shower in her honor. The evening was very pleasantly spent. Refreshments were served and the gathering broke up at an early hour. Miss Stafford is to be married next Wednesday to Mr. Judson Bettle, a returned soldier from St. John.

Marked Change in Weather
A marked change took place in the weather between yesterday and this morning. Late in the afternoon a heavy thunderstorm came out of the west which took the form of three distinct showers of which the last was the heaviest. There was sharp lightning but damage is not reported. The heavy rain which fell at various times during the night caused a great fall in the temperature and the contrast with the heat of yesterday is great.
