

SMALLPOX WAS BROUGHT FROM P. E. ISLAND

AMONG CREW OF INDIANS
WORKING AT MAPLEGROVE

Patients New Recovering—Dr. Melvin Summoned to St. John on Account of Typhoid There.

The smallpox which was discovered at Maplegrove Station on the Moncton-Edmundston section of the C. N. R., was brought from Prince Edward Island, according to the information secured by Dr. J. A. Wade, District Medical Health Officer, who was there yesterday. The two cases were among some twenty Indians forming a crew which was engaged in skirting the right of way for the C. N. R. This crew came from an Indian reservation on Prince Edward Island.

One Case Severe

One of the cases is typical and severe. The other is mild. Dr. D. R. Moore of Stanley who is the attending physician had the two men isolated in one of the living-cars used by the crew the car being placed on a siding several hundred yards away from others. Both patients are now improving. All contacts and suspects have been vaccinated and no additional cases of the disease are expected.
