PRINCE OF WALES PUZZLES THE GOSSIPS BY HAVING NO FAVORITES

Dances With Everybody at Small Affairs and Has No Special Partners—Busybodies are at a Loss to Find a New Romance
—Princess Mary's Engagement Contradicted.

London, July 15.—"Is the Prince coming?" is a question eagerly asked at "small" dances which society leaders are giving every night, either at big hotels or in their own homes, for to be at a dance where the Prince is guest, the chance or a likelihood of the royal arm encircling one's waist in a waltz or in one of the more exciting modern dances is not a pleasure to be missed. Both the Prince of Wales and Prince Albert are considered not only good partners by the girls with whom they have danced, but are devoted to dancing.

In fact many of these "small" dances are given specially for their Royal Highnesses on that account. One of the most enjoyable recently was Lady Wenlock's ball, when the young Princess gave themselves up wholeheartedly to the dancing. In choosing their partners it is said they were the most unselfish young men to be seen in any ballroom. They show no favoritism. The busybodies therefore are at a loss to find a new romance.

Who was the busybody who inspired the unfounded rumor, published in all seriousness about Princess Mary's engagement, and made it so uncomfortable for the young man who was a guest at Windsor Castle at the time?

There is no denying, however, that the Princess's engagement to the son of the English nobility would be very welcome throughout the whole kingdom. But the rumor, so flatly contradicted, is certain not to be the last of the season, for there has never been such an opportunity for journalistic "scoops" in connection with royal engagements as just now.

Apart from the branches of the House of Windsor, there are two Princes and one Princess in the direct line who are of full marriageable age according to royal custom, and they

SIX HUSBANDS
FOR TWO WIVES

London, July 14.—The oft-heard assertion that there are "not enough men to go round" would seem to be ill-founded if the experience of two young women charged with bigamy at Lambeth is not insane. The women were accused of having had six husbands between them.

Regarding Emily Rosina Eacock 31,
of Robert road, Brixton, it was stated that she:
Married Charles Henry Eacock in 1905 at the age of seventeen.
"Married" Sgt. John Joseph Ward in August 1917, describing herself as a spinster.
Obtained a decree nisi against her first husband while "Mrs. Ward." The King's Proctor intervened and prevented the decree being made absolute.

Married a Mr. Dawson, a blind widower with eight children, in May last.
Drew two separation allowances in respect of her two "husbands" for fifteen months in the names of Eacock
and Ward.
She was committed for trial.

Mary Goreham 29, a barmaid of Longville road, Newington Butts, was charged with contracting two bigamous marriages—one with William Mac-kinn in August 1917 and the other with Wilnot Bruce Mine in May last.
Detective Nurse said he saw the prisoner, and, telling her he was a police officer, said: "I am informed that you have committed bigamy."
She made no answer then, but at the police station she said, "I will tell you the truth. I have been married three times. I do not know if my first husband is dead. I last saw him about two years ago.
The accused was remanded.

FLOODS IN ARGENTINE REPUBLIC
RESULT IN ENORMOUS LOSSES

Buenos Ayres, July 15.—Government reports show that one million sheep and one hundred thousand cattle have been drowned in floods in the southern part of Buenos Ayres Province. The railways and telegraph communication have been interrupted and several sections in that region have been completely isolated for more than a week from this cause. The floods were due to a month of the heaviest rainfall ever recorded here. Over on the Chilean side of Argentina there have been further heavy snowfalls along the Trans-Andine Railway, causing new damage to the line. At one point the debris on the track has accumulated for a distance of fifty yards.
