Mr. Scott had urer read the item with amazement Mr. McCready, the then auditor was also astonished. The latter was prompt to act. He took the number of the debentures, repaired to his office and returned in less than half an hour with the missing bond. The report which the committee had prepared was hastily pidgeonholed and the council forthwith adopted a resolution repudiating the Archbishop of Dublin's claim and expressing a readiness to fight the matter in the courts. A local law firm was acting for the Archbishop and they evidently reported that there was not nothing more was heard of the case There is not the slightest doubt in the world that but for the astuteness of Mr. Scott the County would have been called upon to pay the debentures a second time.

Active in Politics

Mr. Scott always manifested an active interest in politics and was for years an active worker in the ranks of the Conservative party. He has frequently been pressed to offer as a candidate for the Legislature but would never consent to allow his name but they were used in the old days to be put in nomination.
