SAYS THE BRITISH NAVY MUST ALWAYS BE READY

Vice-Admiral Beatty the Guest at a Banquet—Says the British Navy Learned Many Lessons During the Great War, Which Must be Taken to Heart—The Blockade an Important Factor in Defeating the Huns.

London, March 30—The Earl of Derby, British ambassador to France, speaking at a banquet in honor of Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty, commander of the British Grand Fleet, at Liverpool, on Saturday expressed sympathy with France in her anxiety for the future. He said it was up to Great Britain to stand by France if at any time an ambitious foe crossed her frontier. While preserving silence on the subject of the league of nations, the earl said he felt that "if anything can save future generations from the horrors of the past let us in heaven's name try it. The best foundation, the ambassador added, was a strong alliance of Great Britain, France and the United States, supported by the British navy. Place of England's Navy

England's navy must be prepared for the future, said Vice-Admiral Sir David Beatty, commander of the grand fleet, speaking on the services of the navy during the great war. "The navy just learned many lessons during the four and a half years just past," he said. "We made many mistakes and it is our business today to see that those lessons are taken to heart and that we shall not again be found in such a state that we have to face the greatest crisis with improvised methods, working hand to mouth."

Admiral Beatty paid a tribute to the efforts of Liverpool in fitting out the famous tenth cruiser squadron, which during the war maintained the rigorous blockade of Germany. "That blockade," he said "was one of the most important factors in bringing about the defeat of the enemy. Its maintenance demanded seamanship of a high order with vigilant, untiring devotion to duty. Stretched across the waste of waters from west of Hebrides to the Arctic ice fields, these ships kept their watch and ward in weather that had to be experienced to be understood. Every ship sighted had to be boarded and examined."

"These mariners had also to contend with an enemy which appeared in many guises. Raiders masqueraded as peaceful merchantmen. Blockade runners exercised every stratagem to evade detection and the submarine, was a constant menace."

Must Profit by Experience
"We of the navy know fully well our defects and it is our business to efface them to avoid the repetition of mistakes from which we suffered in the past. The work of reconstruction has to be taken in hand with a full knowledge of our requirements, learned by bitter experience in the past four and a half years. It must be our endeavor to profit by that experience. "The navy is today what it has been for the past two hundred years, the sure shield of Great Britain and the British empire. The sure shield must be kept sure by clear thinking and concerted effort on scientific lines. In the necessary struggle for retrenchment, such economies as certainly will be required must be applied with wisdom and a proper understanding of the problems before us in the light of knowledge gained during the war. Only so shall we be able to avoid impairing the essential efficiency of the navy."

"The navy is a shield and not a rattling sabre. The navy and the mercantile marine have learned to know and respect each other as never before."

"Let it be the care to foster and strengthen that feeling so that in future and for all the royal navy and mercantile marine together will provide a sure shield which will enable the empire to continue and to prosper."

Shippers are Complaining

There is general complaint on the part of shippers about the closing of freight of railways at 4.30 p.m. which under Daylight Saving means 3.30 p.m. Atlantic time. This prevents shippers filling orders received by a noon mail the same day. The Board of Trade and City Council probably will be asked to join in a protest.

Died Very Suddenly

Charles Anderson of Devon died very suddenly on Sunday afternoon at Ruslagornish, Mr. Anderson was working with Frank L. Boone of South Devon who has the contract for building the Morrow Bridge. Mr. Anderson ate dinner and lay down on a sofa afterward feeling in his usual health. He was seized with a fatal illness and rolled off the sofa to the floor, dying very soon afterwards. He was about fifty years of age and was a well known resident of Devon. He is survived by his widow, one son, Frank, and one daughter Hilda to whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

Capt. Read went to St. John this morning having been called there by the serious illness of his brother-in-law Capt. J. H. Crossley.

Canadian National Railways

OPERATING ONE HOUR EARLIER

Important Daylight Saving Change of Time at Two a. m.
Sunday, March 30th, 1919.

All clocks and watches used in operation of Canadian National Railways will at 2 a. m. Sunday, March 30th, be advanced one hour. To prevent serious confusion and inconvenience to the public the attention of all concerned is directed to the following conditions resulting from the important change of time.

If cities, towns, villages and other municipal bodies do not change their local time to correspond with the new railway time, all concerned should keep in mind that while trains continue to leave railway stations on present schedule, such schedule will be operated one hour ahead of present local time.

Therefore, any municipality where local time is not changed to correspond with the new railway time, passengers must reach railway stations one hour earlier than shown in current folders and public time posters.

Where municipal time is changed to correspond with the new railway time, passengers will not experience difficulty growing out of the change.

IN LONDON'S FILM SENSATION

'THE BETTER 'OLE'

From the Stage Success, "The Romance of Old Bill," by Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather.

"The Better 'Ole' is the first motion picture to show the every day life of the boys who fought four long years in France. Pathos and humor follow each other in quick succession. A tear hardly starts down your cheek before it is dried up by laughter.

Every mother, father, wife and sweetheart who has a loved one at the front will clamor to see the only film depicting the human side of the war.
