Witch Soot Destroyer

This article has been such a great boon for our customers and the public since we introduced it last season that we have put in another large stock of it and it will always be obtainable.

THE WITCH cleans the pipes and chimney chemically, saves labor taking down pipes, cleaning of furniture, etc., and incidentally saves your temper.

A trial will convince you.

and elderly people particularly, who are so subject to ailments of the breathing tubes and lungs, are frequently difficult to prescribe for owing to their frail constitutions. For all such people Peps is the safest remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, etc., as Peps contains absolutely no harmful drugs.

Mrs. David Patriquin of Mattetall Lake, N.S., writes: "I have just been cured of a very bad cough by the use of Peps. As I am seventy-five years of age I consider this cure all the more remarkable."

For very young people, too, Peps are just as good. All dealers 50c.

LIBEL SUITS
ARE SETTLED

London, Nov. 12.—Four members of the cabinet, Austen Chamberlain, Sir Eric Geddes, Sir Auckland Geddes and Walter Hume Long, took the witness stand in the Lord Chief Justice's Court today and publicly denied statements printed in the Daily News with reference to their holding shares in various public companies, in consequence of which they brought libel suits against the newspaper.

After their testimony, the announcement was made that the suits had been settled on terms arranged outside the courts. The proprietors of the Daily News agreed to pay to each of the plaintiffs 250 guineas, and also the costs.

A PROPOSAL TO FORM A LEAGUE OF CHURCHES

Few religious movements of recent times have aroused such world-wide discussion as the proposal to form a league of churches along lines parallel to the political league of nations.

This proposal came from the most unexpected source from the Patriarch of the Greek Church, who left the Ecumenical throne, violating a precedent of 400 years to present his plans at Paris. Unexpectedly it explains because the Greek Church not only is remote from the Western world's affairs but many of its own strongholds are isolated and breathe the spirit of past ages. As an example it points to the monasteries of Thessaly, nature-made skyscrapers reached by unique elevators, which are described by Elizabeth Perkins as follows:

"There is a legend perhaps it is history that there was once a ruler in Constantinople who disliked his brother and wished to banish him to the remotest corner of his kingdom. Consequently the monarch built a monastery on a well-nigh inaccessible mountain in Thessaly and founded a brotherhood about 400 years ago. In what seemed to be the uttermost corner of the earth.

"The monastery was called 'Meteora' meaning 'domicile of the sky.' After the original was built twenty-three others grouped themselves around and were inhabited for a while. They were however finally abandoned, with the exception of three which are still in use.

The seven hours' trip across the plains of Thessaly to the town of Kalabaka is most enchanting. Occasionally a Greek priest with long beard, long hair and long garments rides by. His high hat and his large cross indicate prominently his calling and if he is not in too great a hurry, a pedestrian may stop him kiss his cross and be touched on the forehead with a little switch presumably dipped in holy water, and the sinner obtains absolution for the day.

"We left the train at Kalabaka and there took horses and guides to climb to the high-built monasteries. For three hours the horses had to pick their way over hillsides where, in the month of February, no trail was visible.

"As we looked in wonder at one detached colossal pillar of stone, we discovered on its seemingly unattainable summit a building. This habitation of man, half natural rock and half artificial, seemed most extraordinary. Our guides drew attention to the higher precipices, and as we grew accustomed to their outlines we saw, on all sides, monasteries tucked into the ledges of the perpendicular walls. They are not all inhabited today, but they are there, bearing testimony that man has climbed, and built, and lived on crags that seem impossible for goats to climb.

"The whole of the west plain of Thessaly lay at our feet, and the white mountains of the Pindos range rose rugged and imposing before us. At the base of the rock on which Trinity is perched, like an eagle's nest, our guides hallooed and beat with a stick on a tin can, found in the bushes. Soon an answering call came back, and over the precipice some 300 feet above us, the peering faces of several monks were seen. Then something serpentine flew into the air, and as it dropped perpendicularly we saw dangling from a coil of rope what looked like a small fish net. Down came the cable until it touched the earth at our feet, and the fish net proved to be a large sized rope bag, which opened and spread out flat on the ground.

"One at a time we were invited to step into the middle of this net and squat, Turk-fashion. The edges were gathered together on to a large iron hook, a shout was given, and the net soared upward, while its occupant felt somewhat like an orange at the bottom of a market woman's bag.

"The ascent takes just three minutes. Occasionally the open-work elevator swings into the rock with a slight bump, but the monks at the top wind the windlass slowly, and the bumping does not hurt, but as a compensation the view grows more beautiful every second. At last the top was reached. There was a final swing outward, to get a rebound inward, several pairs of hands were outstretched to pull the net over to the platform and then came a drop on to a stone floor. The hook was detached, the meshes opened and the passenger helped to her feet by the black-robed brothers. They all gathered around with words of welcome and hands ready to be shaken in greeting.

"All we had to offer in return for their hospitality were some American postcards. The Flatiron Building caused Eczema ors Salt Rheum manifest itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust is formed, and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat is almost unbearable.

The success with in skin diseases of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties and we know of no other remedy that has done or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Mr. James Walker, 152 Niagara St. Hamilton, Ont. writes: "I have been using Burdock Blood Bitters for some months past and find it an excellent remedy for skin eruptions. I have suffered with eczema for over 28 years, and have tried almost everything you could think of. I was recommended to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and I am now clear of my skin trouble. It is certainly a good remedy and I shall recommend it to all my friends."

ed much unintelligible comment, but also the perfectly understandable remark that 'this must be the Meteora of America.' Our red-haired friend also made us understand the superiority of the original Meteora in having a net bag to facilitate the mounting. Alas! We could not make him understand the greater superiority of an electric lift."

THEIR INEVITABLE CHOICE

THE VICTOR

In those homes where good music has its most devoted hearers you will invariably find the VICTROLA. Why?

Because the highly developed taste in art is satisfied with nothing less than the best which the wide world has to offer. Logically and inevitably such a taste demands the instrument which Caruso has selected as his mouthpiece, which Farrar, John McCormack, Galli-Curci and Alma Gluck and a host of other leaders have selected to be their "other self," to represent them, to carry their golden message throughout the world.

That instrument is the VICTROLA.
