

DRINK "Perfect Tea"
Fresh and Pure

"SALADA"

Is the one Absolutely
Reliable Brand,
Pleasing to All

Keep your Eye on This Packet Black or Green

THE HERO OF BOY SCOUTS

New York, Jan. 7.—In order to give permanent expression to "All Colonel Roosevelt stood for to the boys of the nation," sixteen thousand troops of the boy scouts of America, comprising 440,000 members, today were instructed to plant one or more trees with suitable inscriptions and ceremonies in memory of the former President.

The national council of the organization in a telegram of condolence to Mrs. Roosevelt, said the Colonel had aided materially in the development of the scouts and each of its members regarded "him as their hero."

It would be interesting to know what has become of General Hell, who used to be a high officer in German army.

Perhaps the reason there are so few good cats is that every woman in selecting which kitten she will not drown selects the prettiest.

Preachers who have quit the job must not attempt to do business with Hon. Mr. Baxter in future. This of course does not include preachers who are registered to solemnize marriage.

SERIOUS FIRE AT HALIFAX

Halifax, Jan. 7.—Fire broke out at noon today in the basement of Winters Bros., men's furnishings, threatens to destroy the entire Roy building, one of the city's largest business blocks, in which it is located, and even to spread to the buildings immediately adjoining in the block bounded by Barrington, Sackville and Granville streets.

SHOWING TOM HOW.

Charlie Schwab has helped ship-building as efficaciously as the pretty girl helped her bashful lover.

As the girl and her adorer sat on the bench in the moonlight, side by side, the young man said:

"Is your little Pekinese affectionate?"

"Affectionate? Indeed he is!" the girl replied. "Here, Fido, come here and show Tom Jones how to kiss me."

HOW NAPOLEONIC WAR WAS BROUGHT TO A CLOSE

The Little Corporal Had All of the Countries of Central Europe at His Feet at One Time—Was Banished to the Isle of Elba, but Made His Escape—His Armies Routed by British and Prussians on the Field of Waterloo.

For a score of years Napoleon Bonaparte had turned Europe into an armed camp, had drenched its fields in blood and had kept the whole world in a ferment of uneasiness.

Almost as fast as he gained the victory in one war he began another. He thrashed Austria and Prussia and Spain and Italy and Russia and a throng of lesser nations. He aimed at world power as did the recently de-throned Kaiser.

The chief difference between Napoleon and the Kaiser was that the former was the greatest military genius the world has ever seen, while the latter cannot claim true genius of any kind—except for causing more trouble than he and his whole nation are worth.

For years Napoleon continued to bully Europe. Then his disastrous winter campaign in Russia crippled his hitherto invincible army. It seems to have crippled his amazing brain as well, for never again was he the same unconquerable genius.

There were not enough recruits in France to replace the veterans he had lost in Russia. His power began to wane. And at once his clinging allies deserted him. The lion was down.

It was the time for the hounds to attack him.

Several other nations formed a coalition against him. And they overpowered him. He was packed off to exile at Elba, while Europe prepared for a much-needed interval of peace.

Exile at Elba

But in less than a year Napoleon escaped from Elba. He returned to France and raised another army. The horrors of the past twenty years seemed about to begin all over again.

At once the Allies made ready to attack him. The chief members of this coalition were Great Britain, Prussia Austria and Russia.

On the battlefield of Waterloo the rival forces met. And Napoleon was overwhelmingly beaten. He had struck his last blow. Again he was sent into exile—this time to St. Helena, whence there could be no chance of escape.

The Napoleonic wars were at last ended. And Europe faced the task of undoing what Napoleon had wrought. He had changed the map of the world, wiping out ancient boundaries and forming new kingdoms and annexing vast territory to France.

All this had to be readjusted. And France had to be put on a new basis under the rule of the Bourbon King, Louis XVIII.

The Allied and the French peace commissioners met in Paris, late in 1815, to settle the myriad questions involving the wiping out of Napoleonism and the certain establishment of a peace.

A delicate task confronted the Allies. They had declared that their quarrel was with Napoleon and not with the French people. Yet it was hard not to penalize the one without the other. In fact, it was impossible not to make the French pay, in part, at least, for the mischief Napoleon had led them into.

After much negotiating the following conditions were imposed on the conquered:

The Allies insisted that they were entitled to compensation for saving France from Napoleonism and that they were also entitled to security against any recurrence of Napoleonism.

So they forced France to give up all the territory she had annexed in the past quarter century, as well as certain other lands of hers. They insisted on an indemnity of $140,000,000 and arranged that 160,000 Allied troops should occupy French soil till the sum was paid.

There were many other minor clauses to the treaty, but the foregoing were the principal points, and they were a cheap price for ridding France of the disease of Napoleonism.

Thus ended Napoleon's dream of world power. Because he was a genius he had not awakened from that dream until twenty years had passed. The Kaiser—not being a genius—was rudely awakened from the same insane dream in less than four years.

You may say what you like about the Premier of Holland, but he has some name—Johnkeer Ruijs de Beerenbrouck. Can you beat it? No, nor even tie it.

"Brother Feels Sick! He Wants a Candy Cascaret"

To Mothers! You will avoid worry and trouble by giving your children Cascarets instead of nasty Castor Oil, Calomel and Pills. Children look upon Cascarets as Candy and never refuse them even when sick, bilious, feverish, constipated. Besides Cascarets cost only 10 cents a box.

Nothing else works the bile, sour fermentations and poisons from a child's tender stomach, liver and bowels like good old harmless Cascarets. They never gripe, never injure, never disappoint the worried mother. Give Cascarets to children aged one year and upwards. Directions on each 10 cent box.

THE PRINCESS PAT'S MADE FINE SHOWING

(From the Philadelphia Ledger)

Princess Patricia of Connaught, whose name was given to one of the most glorious of the Canadian regiments, is to be married to a Commander in the Royal Navy. Her name in itself a vivid reminder of that great day in Lansdowne Park, Ottawa, at the outset of the war, when the Princess gave the regiment its standard with the words, "I have great pleasure in presenting you with these colors, which I have worked myself. I hope they will be associated with what I believe will be a distinguished corps. I shall follow the fortunes of you all with the deepest interest, and I heartily wish every man good luck and a safe return." Nobly the "Princess Pats" justified the confidence of one who became their patron saint—their second Jeanne d'Arc. They went to the front at the end of the year. In action at St. Eloi in March, 1915, they were the first overseas contingent from any of the Dominions to be engaged. After Ypres, May 4th to May 8th, 1915, only four of the officers remained in active service and by mid-summer the regiment is said to have had eight left of its original membership, which at Ypres was 700 strong. Canadians and Americans as well as their brethren of the Allies who have had any part in the fighting in Flanders will rejoice in the happiness that has come to their honorary Colonel—a crown more desirable than any diadem of rank or royalty.

The Allied and the French peace commissioners met in Paris, late in 1815, to settle the myriad questions involving the wiping out of Napoleonism and the certain establishment of a peace.

A delicate task confronted the Allies. They had declared that their quarrel was with Napoleon and not with the French people. Yet it was hard not to penalize the one without the other. In fact, it was impossible not to make the French pay, in part, at least, for the mischief Napoleon had led them into.

After much negotiating the following conditions were imposed on the conquered:

The Allies insisted that they were entitled to compensation for saving France from Napoleonism and that they were also entitled to security against any recurrence of Napoleonism.

So they forced France to give up all the territory she had annexed in the past quarter century, as well as certain other lands of hers. They insisted on an indemnity of $140,000,000 and arranged that 160,000 Allied troops should occupy French soil till the sum was paid.

There were many other minor clauses to the treaty, but the foregoing were the principal points, and they were a cheap price for ridding France of the disease of Napoleonism.

Thus ended Napoleon's dream of world power. Because he was a genius he had not awakened from that dream until twenty years had passed. The Kaiser—not being a genius—was rudely awakened from the same insane dream in less than four years.

You may say what you like about the Premier of Holland, but he has some name—Johnkeer Ruijs de Beerenbrouck. Can you beat it? No, nor even tie it.

TO FORESTALL FOOD SHORTAGE

Washington, Jan. 7.—Recommendation that the United States take the initiative in formulating an international program of agricultural production for the entire world to forestall a possible serious shortage of food, feed and fibre in the next few years, was made to the Department of Agriculture today by the Commission sent to Europe last fall by the Department to study conditions there.

WRIGLEY'S

Is Sealed!

LOOK for the sealed package, but have an eye out also for the name

WRIGLEY'S

That name is your protection against inferior imitations, just as the sealed package is protection against impurity.

The Greatest Name
in Goody-Land—

The Flavour
Lasts

MADE IN CANADA

Sealed Tight
Kept Right

LOOKED LIKE A BREACH OF NEUTRALITY.

Indignant Teacher (with Dutch ancestors)—Now Tommy, tell me why you wrote in your examination paper that "Holland is populated with a lot of stupid people?"

Tommy—Well, the jografy says so.

Indignant Teacher—How ridiculous. Now you show me that statement in your geography or I'll use the ruler.

Tommy (gets geography and shows teacher)—There: "The population of Holland is very dense."

NOTICE OF SALE.

To Helen G. Craig, of the Parish of Kingsclear, in the County of York, and Ralph H. Craig, of the same place, Laborer, and all others whom it may in anywise concern:

NOTICE is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage, bearing date the eighth day of April, A.D. 1908, and made between the aforesaid Helen G. Craig and Ralph H. Craig, of the first part, and the undersigned, Charles E. Clowes, of the Parish of Burton, in the County of Sunbury, of the second part, and recorded in Sunbury County Records in Book R-2, pages 374, 375, 376, 377 and 378, under official number 5188, there will, for the purpose of satisfying the moneys secured by the said Indenture of Mortgage, default having been made in the payment thereof, be sold at Public Auction in front of the Post Office, in the City of Fredericton, in the County of York, on Saturday, the Twenty-fifth Day of January, 1919, at the hour of twelve o'clock noon, the lands and premises contained in the said Indenture of Mortgage, and described as:

"All that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the Parish of Burton, in the County of Sunbury and Province of New Brunswick, and described in the deed thereof from the Rector, Church Wardens and Vestry of St. John Church, in said Parish of Burton, and the Lord Bishop of Fredericton, to Margaret Rutledge, duly recorded in Sunbury County Records in Book F-2, page 278, et seq., as 'All that lot, piece or parcel of land on which she now resides, situated in the Parish of Burton, in the County of Sunbury, and bounded as follows: On the east by lands owned by William Rutledge, on the west by Glebe lands in the possession of William Currie; on the north by Shirley Settlement Road, and on the south by lands owned by Timothy Sullivan and others, containing by estimation one hundred and twenty-seven acres more or less' but which contains one hundred and fifty-eight acres more or less."

Together with the buildings and improvements thereon and the appurtenances to same belonging or in anywise appertaining.

Dated this seventeenth day of December, A.D. 1918.

CHARLES E. CLOWES,

Mortgagee.

McLELLAN & HUGHES,

Solicitors.

What kin dof soap is the hardest? Cast-steel (castile).

It would take all the joy out of a girl's life if she could know how soon the hearts she has broken had sprung right back into working condition.