NOVA SCOTIAN WROTE WILL
BENEATH A POSTAGE STAMP

Made His Will While at Sea and Bequeathed Property to Young Woman to Whom He was Engaged—Case was Carried to the Supreme Court, Which Declared the Will Valid.

Halifax, N. S. March 12—A sailors will, closely written on an envelope and covered by two postage stamps has been declared valid by the full bench of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court and an appeal against the document dismissed.

Colin Wentzell of Mahone Bay, left $2,500 in cash and his shares in the schooner L. N. Corkum to Miss Gladys Keddy, the young lady to whom he was engaged to be married. The will being written during Wentzell's last voyage, while at Barbadoes. He was drowned during the return voyage and while the letter was received in December the bequest, covered by the postage stamps was not discovered until late in January.

The Judge of the Probate thus tells the story in giving his decision upholding this sailor's will, which after the dismissal of the appeal stands good:

"The late Colin Wentzell, a young man about 33 years of age, was lost at sea on the 23rd of December, four days before the arrival in Mahone Bay of the schooner 'Alforetta,' on which he had shipped as mate for the round voyage from Liverpool N. S. to Barbadoes and return. While engaged as a seaman on the voyage during the temporary stay of the vessel in Barbadoes, he wrote and posted a letter to the young lady with whom he had been keeping company for some fourteen years Miss Gladys Keddy. The letter was received by her early in December, having been posted in Barbadoes on the 28th of November. It is proved that the deceased and Miss Keddy were to have been married soon after his return from the fatal voyage.

"Miss Keddy states that she read his last letter, one of many received by her from him during his absences from home a number of times. On closing the envelope on the occasion of a re-reading of the letter on the night of the 21st of January after attending a memorial service in the local church at which special reference was made to his loss, she observed, she says, several letters written on the inside of the envelope. The next day she showed them to a younger sister, who attached no significance to them. On the following day, a neighbor, Mrs. Norman Eisenhauer, called in the evening, and the letter and envelope were shown to her by Miss Keddy.

"After looking at the letters on the inside of the envelope, they both say and making two guesses at their meaning, Mrs. Eisenhauer tried again and suggested that the letters 'Rem Stp' meant 'Remove Stamp' Mrs. Eisenhauer, they both say then steamed the stamps over the tea kettle in the kitchen and removed them, throwing them on the kitchen floor. When the stamps were removed they say and they are corroborated by Mrs. Fred Boehner who had just then entered the house, the words were seen, printed with a pen on the space previously covered by the two half-penny Barbados postage stamps, which gave to her $2,500 and his shares in the schooner.

Miss Keddy's father, Matthew Keddy, says he was in the kitchen when Mrs. Eisenhauer removed the stamps, and that she read the words disclosed by the removal in the kitchen before taking the envelope into the adjoining room. He suggested a little later that the stamps be picked up and preserved with the envelope and preserved with the envelope, and the next day he brought the envelope and stamps to Lunenburg, where they were deposited with the registrar of probate.

Mother Entered Appeal

"Colin Wentzell's mother, a widow" soon afterwards applied for and obtained letters of administration, as next of kin of deceased. Later Miss Keddy presented a petition.

"I have no hesitation in finding that the pen-printed words with the script date on the envelope were written there by the deceased, and that he intended them to operate as his last will and testament in case he never returned from the voyage.

"The law is clear that the will of a sailor during a voyage need not be attested, or even signed, if there is proof to satisfy the court that the written or oral declaration was intended to be a testamentary disposition of his personal property. The temporary stay in Barbadoes was a part of the voyage and service as seaman of the deceased.

"Probate will be granted of the writing in question as the last will and testament of Colin Wentzell deceased disposing of his personal property.

The whole estate amounted to $3,382 and the mother gets the balance after Miss Keddy's bequest is paid.

SOME POINTERS FOR THOSE WHO
RAISE PULTRY

The following are pointers taken from the report of the egg laying contest at Mountain Grove Missouri:

Poultry do their part oftener than the poultryman.

Hens know the attendant as well as the attendant knows the hens.

Early moulters often prove to be lazy loafers.

Nature stimulates in the spring.

Man should help in the fall.

Ninety eggs pay cost. The 150-egg hen is worth six 100-egg hens.

Males in pen reduce the total egg yield for the year.

Too much sunshine is just as bad as not enough.

The trapness makes accurate pedigree records possible.

A sweet soil is just as necessary for poultry as for corn.

Medium weight hens of any variety are usually most profitable.

Early maturing pullets usually make good egg producers.

Reduction of yellow in shanks indicates egg production.

Color has little or no influence on egg production.

Incubation depends on the egg, incubator, building and operator.

The baby chicks is supplied with 36 hours food when hatched.

Water is worth just as much as feed in egg production.

The price of feed does not tell its value in making eggs.

A large red comb indicates health and egg production.

Birds neither eat nor drink at night. Feed in daylight.

Feed, water and shade will keep hens in a yard.

Never sell poultry or eggs you would not use at home.

The broody hen works 24 hours per day. So do the others.

High producing hens are often wedge shape with point in front.

A hen's temperature is 106½; man's 98.5. Don't house them alike.

Hens go broody oftener in dark secluded nests filled with eggs.

The biggest part of the poultry business is in the egg.

Never give hens medicine unless they need it.

Guessing the disease and guessing the remedy bring uncertain results.

The loss from lice and mites is more than their weight in gold.

Half blue ointment and half lard or tallow makes a good louse killer.

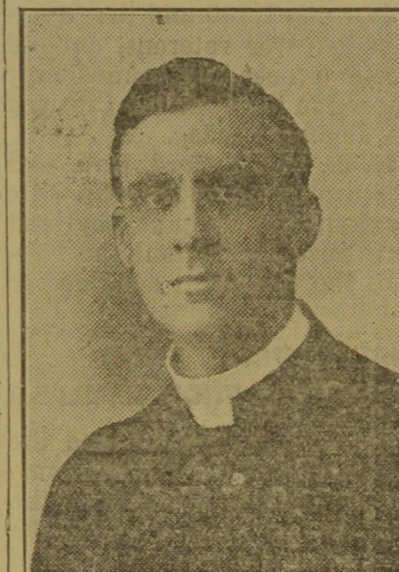

Peach trees in the south are putting forth their buds just as if there were no bolshevist blizzards lying in wait.

THE BISHOP OF
FREDERICTON ON WAR SAVINGS

Bishop Richardson Says Movement Will Commend Itself to All Right Thinking People.

In a recent statement endorsing the War Savings movement Bishop Richardson says:

"The decision of the Government to establish in the Dominion the War Savings Stamps system is one that will be most heartily commended by every thoughtful person, and ought to meet with a very large measure of support. Its primary purpose, I suppose, is to make it possible for the rank and file of Canadian people to take an effective part in the national task of meeting the tremendous financial burdens that have come upon us with the war. By the conditions under which the ordinary war loans have been floated, a large part of the population was almost necessarily excluded from taking a share in this patriotic duty. The War Savings Stamps system renders it easy for every wage-earner to make at least some direct contribution to that important end.

But apart altogether from the immediate value of the system in this regard, the enterprise is to be commended in that it can hardly fail to promote and foster amongst Canadians generally those habits of thrift and saving, for which in the past they have not been very conspicuous. The really wealthy nation is not the nation which has at its command the largest material resources, but the nation whose people as a whole have acquired the habit of always spending a little less

HAD WEAK AND FAINTING SPELLS

Those feelings of faintness, those weak, "all gone," sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They mean a nextremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered nervous system.

When the system is in this condition there is no time for delay. One fainting spell may be recovered from—will the next? One dizzy spell may pass off but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes deep rooted and perhaps hopeless.

They will act directly on the disordered heart and weakened nervous system and restore them to full strength and vigor.

Miss Mary McCoy, Algoma Mills, Ont., writes:—"I was awfully troubled with fainting and weak spells, and I could never get any doctor's medicines to help me. One day a friend of mine was at the house when I took one of those spells, and she got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. That was six years ago, and from that day to this I have never had any of those spells. I would not be without your pills for any money, and can highly recommend them to any one."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Trade mark. Price 25c and 50c. Man-

DISTINCTION
AND DIFFERENCE

(New York Sun)

There were two of them, Leaning with delicate elbows on the marble table; they sipped their sodas pensively. Both had hair that was ruffled about the ears like fuzzy straw, and then drawn back from the forehead, surprisingly smooth and silky. The Woman enjoyed them because they were so young. Their conversation was, of course, eternally old, an dyel, because of their shining eyes, eternally new and lovely. One confided that "He" came every night and brought her flowers and candy. The other gurgled that Jack had given her "a perfectly beautiful bar-pin". Such magnificence caused a momentary pause, like a stage silence at a dramatic moment. That, conceded the first, was all right, for the other was engaged; she herself was only keeping company. The Woman wanted to know the difference and she asked her question. "Well," smiled the first girl in answer giving the matter due consideration, "being engaged is a promise. But keeping company is only a hope."

Is there anything humorous in love? Yes, but only to outsiders.

than they earn, and of wisely investing the sums so conserved. It is not too much to hope that the War Savings Stamps movement will to no small extent help in that sense to make Canada a wealthy nation."
