WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1919
 SOME SOUND ADVICE.

On the occasion of the celebration of the golden jubilee of the great lumber firm of which he is the head, Senator W. C. Edwards, of Ottawa, delivered an address to his workmen which contains much sane advice and sound economic wisdom that is of wide application. Senator Edwards is one of Canada's most progressive business men, a Liberal to the core and a convinced free trader. He told his employees:

"The war is over so far as the destruction of human kind is concerned, and the world will recover. But certainly not on the basis on which it is now operating. Now, what is the remedy? None but the following—to labor, produce, economize and trade. In due course, and before we are much older, the world will starve for both food and clothing if present conditions continue. The former wealth of the world was made by producing and trading, and the remedy for the present, most unfortunate condition cannot be accomplished by any other means."

"Two further factors for the enrichment of the world would be disarmament and general prohibition, and if in addition world free trade were proclaimed and put into effect, mankind would prosper as never before, and the peace of the world be guaranteed."

"The unfortunate popular idea that there are amassed enormous fortunes in an article called money, that can and ought to be distributed among mankind, is a most unhappy fallacy and delusion. The property and labor of the world constitute its wealth, and with abnormal cessation of labor, property soon loses its value. Actual money cuts a very small figure in the world's affairs. Labor is the great factor in the production of the world's necessities, and confidence and credit are the mainspring and primary foundation of all industrial and business operations. The present aspect of the world's affairs is all in the direction of a most serious limitation of production, and the positive destruction of confidence and credit; and with the wheels of production and commerce thus clogged there can be but one outcome, namely, starvation."

He added this personal appeal: "May I make one very earnest request of you, namely, that you, the loyal workers of W. C. Edwards and Co., Ltd., will never join in any movement for the lessening of production and the destruction of the peace and harmony of the world; that you will continue as you have done in the past, performing your duty towards the country to which you belong and towards your families."

In the good old days when provisions were cheap there used to be quite a race among householders for the privilege of boarding Normal School and University students. The price then charged ranged from $2.50 to $3.50 per week, and if the board was not satisfactory the student could easily make a shift. Conditions are now altogether different. Board for students costs $5 to $7 per week, and they have considerable difficulty in finding suitable accommodation. Most of the students for the present term at the P. N. S. arrived on Monday, and some of them have not yet succeeded in finding boarding houses. The problem is a serious one and if a solution is not soon found the question of erecting a dormitory in connection with the P. N. S. may soon demand the attention of the government.

At a caucus of opposition members at Ottawa yesterday, Hon. W. S. Fielding, who made such a good run for the Liberal leadership at the late convention, was chosen first lieutenant to the opposition leader. When the House met, Hon. Mr. Fielding took his seat in the front row of the opposition benches alongside of Mr. D. D. MacKenzie. The veteran parliamentarian was in splendid fighting trim and during the afternoon got after Sir Robert Borden on matters relating to the peace treaty. He put several questions to the Premier, which the latter had difficulty in answering. Hon. Mr. Fielding's remarks brought forth loud cheers from the Liberal benches.

The municipal elections in York yesterday, as usual, resulted in some surprises. There were contests in seven parishes and several old councillors were defeated, including Coun. Pat Graham of Southampton, Coun. J. W. Brewer, of Dumfries, Coun. Inch, of Bright and Coun. Fox of Kingsclear. Coun. Lawson of McAdam returns to the board after being out one term. Coun. Graham has been a member of the board for several years and was somewhat of a "stormy petrel." He was a very capable councillor, however, and the board will not be quite the same without him. Most of the Councillors who went down to defeat took a strong stand in opposition to the establishment of a municipal home.

The United Farmers of the constituency of Carleton-Victoria, at a large convention at Woodstock yesterday, nominated Mr. Thomas Caldwell, of Florenceville as their candidate at the approaching Federal by-election. The farmers of the united counties are well organized and will put up a strong fight. It is said that Mr. B. F. Smith, M. P., will be the Conservative or Unionist candidate.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Why does the tallest man in the crowd always get in front?

Some men earn a living by selling taffy; others by giving it away.

Rain falls alike on the just and unjust, and both find fault with it.

The man who thinks he can make a success of anything he undertakes is apt to be an unsuccessful thinker.

Too often when a man's good deeds speak for themselves he spoils the effect by going around with his mouth open.

No woman can love another woman whom she has seen casting a sympathetic glance at her husband.

More than one girl has declared she wouldn't marry the best man living, and sure enough the man she married was far from it.

Every woman thinks that other women's troubles could be cured by wall mottoes if they would faithfully read them.

There is such a thing as being too optimistic. If Noah, for instance, had listened to his optimistic friends where would you be today?

"It takes two to make a home," says a Nashville preacher, and someone sets the parson right by informing him that it "takes two to start a home."

Presque Isle, Sept. 2.—Aroostook speed took two of the three races on the card for the start of day of the Northern Maine fair, which had fine weather and more people than on the first day of last year. The sensation of the day was the win of the veteran turfman, Scott Locke, all the way from Concord, N. H., with his fast little trotting mare Myleaf, who cleaned up the home talent in the 2.23 trot in three straight. Bravos won his race after dropping the first heat, and Peter Setzer had the speed of the 2.30 pace.

Reducing Number of Clerks
 It is announced that September 1 marked a considerable reduction in the clerical staffs throughout Military District No. 7. During July a very careful examination of the working forces in the district took place to ascertain the number absolutely necessary to the carrying on of the work, and only those necessary have been retained on duty. Owing to this investigation about twenty-five per cent. of the working staff have been struck off strength, and in the near future it is expected a further reduction will be made. Major G. R. Turner has resigned his position in the C. R. C. E., and his duties have been taken over by Captain E. A. Bennett.

W. S. FIELDING ON THE JOB

that could be heard all over the building.

When the house met Mr. McKenzie was occupying the seat left vacant by the death of the old chieftain, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and Mr. Fielding sat on his left.

W. L. Mackenzie-King, Dr. S. F. Tolmie and Sir Henry Drayton were in the public galleries. Mr. Fielding lost no time in showing that he is going to fight for Liberal principles and the Liberal party with all his might and he was wildly cheered by the opposition when he cross-examined the prime minister regarding the effect of Canada's failure or refusal to ratify the treaty of peace. Laurier's first lieutenant has lost none of his old time fire and he was far too nimble this afternoon for the ponderous prime minister.

There were no changes on the cross benches today. J. A. Maharg, the leader of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers, arrived this afternoon and took a seat behind the government. Mr. Crear is not here yet. He will probably sit on the cross benches. The other notable absentees include Mr. Pardee, former chief Liberal whip, who will this session have a prominent part in the councils of the Liberal party.

James Robb, the present Liberal whip returned today from his honeymoon.

The Liberals are in great fighting fettle and intend making things lively for the government whose morale has been lowered by recent events. The cabinet is embarrassed by the attitude of the hard-boiled Tories who led by Hon. Robert Rogers, are already intriguing behind the scenes and making all sorts of trouble.

Debate on the address opened in the house of commons this afternoon but quickly gave way to discussion of the treaty of peace. Dr. H. P. Whidden, mover and Mr. McIntosh, of Nanaimo the seconder, of the address made their speeches. Mr. McKenzie, acting leader of the opposition followed with a few remarks, then moved the adjournment of the debate. Immediately Sir Robert Borden, by unanimous consent presented his motion for ratification of the peace treaty.
