OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

LOOK BEFORE YOU BUY.

Quality Not Always Superior Because the Price is High.

Some women buy on the supposition that invariably the more you pay for a fabric the better is the fabric in quality. Now this is not always the case. Sometimes you pay high because the fabric is enjoying a special popularity good to hear a girl admit it." at the time; sometimes because it is scarce and hard to secure. While there frequently is economy in buying the higher priced material, this is certainly not invariably the case.

Take, for instance ginghams. There is a strong demand for them this year I guess this new fashion will soon be and many of the finer sort cost as much as $1.50 a yard. Others can be bought for 35 or 40 cents a yard.

Now, if you examine the fabric of these cheaper ginghams you will see that it is somewhat coarser than that of the better sort. The weave is not so smooth. The fact that they are less expensive does not mean that the dye will be any less fast. For child-as satisfactory as the more expensive, save possibly for very "best" frocks, and it is in most cases just a durable.

In buying woolen fabrics of course there is always the danger that in selecting the inexpensive piece you are getting something that is not all wool, should strike a nebula the temperawith the result that the material wears ahead with the backyard garden. unsatisfactorily. But with cotton there is obviously no such danger. No one comes the grandfather of five billion ever heard of a so called cotton fabric flies. that was not all cofton, unless perpaper substitutes.

This you can tell by putting a sample through a rough washing and drying it in the sun. Meantime save a small piece unwashed to compare it.

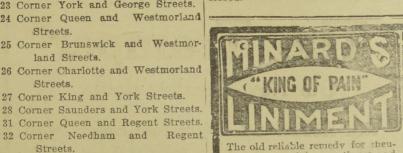

Now is the time to set the onion. Clean Gloves.—Pour a little benzine into a basin and wash the gloves in it, rubbing and squeezing them until clean. If much soiled, they must be washed again through clean benzine into a basin and wash the gloves in it, rubbing and squeezing them until clean.
