U.S. WOULD FORCE CANADA TO SUPPLY HER PULP WOOD

Senator Underwood Moves Resolution on the Newsprint Shortage—Embodies a Threat of Retaliation—Republic Has Exhausted Its Own Raw Material and Wants Canada's—New Brunswick is Interested.

Washington, April 28—Senator Underwood of Alabama told the House Committee on Foreign Affairs today that although he is a "low tariff man" he would favor retaliatory embargoes on the export of raw materials to Canada unless the Canadians agreed to remove the embargoes they now impose on the export of pulpwood.

Senator Underwood admitted that he was responsible for the present free importation of newsprint from Canada into this country, but said it has not accomplished the purpose for which it was intended. Said Senator Underwood:

"The newsprint industry is faced with the greatest crisis in its existence. The only way to relieve that crisis is to secure the free export of pulpwood from the Crown lands so as to keep our own paper mills working to capacity.

"I am in favor of holding out the olive branch to the Canadians, but if their purpose is to destroy one of the greatest industries in this country by refusing it the raw materials it needs then we must take retaliatory action.

"I have advocated the greatest reciprocity with Canada in the past as a means of strengthening the friendly relations between the two countries. But we might as well talk plainly. We cannot tolerate a situation that within a decade may put the newspapers of this country in the hands of the Canadian paper manufacturers."

Loss of Canadian Investment
Senator Underwood's strong plea, his insistence that only by obtaining pulpwood from the Canadian Crown lands can this country's newsprint industry survive and his constantly-repeated advocacy of retaliation if the Canadians did not remove the embargoes, greatly impressed the committee. The Senator was followed by Col.

W. E. Haskell, Vice-President of the International Paper Company, who read a comprehensive statement on the whole situation. Mr. Haskell described as virtually a dead loss investments of from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 made in Canadian Crown lands. He showed the amazing growth of the newsprint industry in Canada since the embargoes were put on. His evidence was frequently interrupted by members of the committee, who desired information for the reason for the present shortage.

The trend of the questions showed that the committee were convinced the purpose of the Canadian action was to force American paper mills across the border, and thus destroy an American industry.

Embargoes Are Two edged
Chairman Porter drew from Col. Haskell the information that the Canadian paper mills are dependent on American coal and sulphur. Mr. Porter did not say so, but he was evidently driving home the point that the embargoes are a two-edged weapon, and that Canada might find herself short of coal and sulphur if she continued what Col. Haskell called her "manger attitude."

"The purpose of the Underwood resolution is," said Col. Haskell "not the ruthless exploitation of the forest wealth of our neighbors. It aims at equality of opportunity for the paper industry of the United States. It comprehends the only practical means of providing sufficient production of newsprint in the United States to insure the lives of the smaller newspapers."

"It proposes by amicable negotiations and friendly approach to reach agreements with the Provinces of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick which will be of mutual advantage."

ATTRACTIONS AT THE MOVIES

The week end bill at the Opera House is the play "Faith of the Strong" with Mitchell Lewis as star. Mr. Lewis is new to the Fredericton fans, but there is no doubt he should make a good impression. Pearl White will also be to the fore in the serial "The Black Secret". At the Gaiety there is another installment of the serial "The Invisible Hand". The photoplay feature is "The Tree of Knowledge", a well directed picture that has Robert Warwick as its star. The chief female character is a modern vampire who leads the young English hero astray, marries his best friend for his money and later elopes with a wealthier man. One could wish that the other woman, as played by Wanda Hawley, the patient waiting one, had a little of the spirit and ginger of the adventuress, well acted by Kathlyn Williams.

SLEPT IN A HOLLOW LOG

St. Catharines, April 29—A man of about forty, who has for the past ten days been sleeping in a hollow log in a bush near the city, was found today by the police and locked up. He has a heavy black beard, and appeared half-starved. He is believed to be an escaped lunatic, and has been locked up until inquiries can be made. The log was so short his feet stuck out. He had no protection from the cold other than an overcoat. He said he thought his name was either Michael Delaney or Michael McCarthy. He thought he came from Brantford. His mind is a blank.

FRANK P. FOX ANNOUNCES HE IS COMING

Owners of His Horses Agreeable—Fredericton Will be First Place—Pottle String Also.

Secretary Hugh O'Neill of the Fredericton Trotting Park Association has received a letter from Frank P. Fox dean of the horsemen who make their headquarters at Combination Park, Medford Mass., to the effect that he had consulted all the owners of horses in his stable relative to the invitation extended to him to campaign on the Maritime & Maine Short Ship Circuit, and all had expressed willingness. This means that Mr. Fox will race in the Maritime Provinces this season. He expressed an intention of opening at Fredericton and then going into Maine but Secretary O'Neill pointed out that the Maritime Provinces offered just as good a field. The Fox stable containing six horses is expected to arrive in Fredericton in June. With other tracks putting on classes satisfactory to Mr. Fox he will follow the circuit from here. He wanted a 2.10 Pace included but the Free-for-All will suit his horse as well.

The coming of the Fox stable probably will mean that the owners of the horses and their families will spend the summer in the Maritime provinces. This is the first season since the barring of American horses from Maritime tracks that the Fox stable has visited the Maritime Provinces.

Another well known horseman who will race at Fredericton and other places in the Maritime Provinces is Irving Pottle of Portland, Me., who is expected to bring twelve horses.

A number of New Brunswick stables which are to train at the Fredericton track are to arrive here next week. They include St. John horses and those of Dr. McAlister of Sussex.

The River Steamers
The steamer Majestic will make her first trip from St. John to Cole's Island on Tuesday. The D. J. Purdy will go on the St. John-Fredericton route on Monday.

DRY RULING AGAIN PUT OFF

Washington, April 29—The Supreme Court failed again today to hand down a decision on the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment and the enforcement act. Recess will be taken next Monday by the court until May 17. The final week of arguments on pending cases started today. After the two weeks recess final adjournment for the summer will be taken early in June.
