

BATTLE OF STORAGE BATTERY WAS WELL WORTH WINNING

Ever since the day, more than twenty five years ago, when W. W. Gibbs of Philadelphia, recognizing the boundless possibilities of the storage battery organized a stock company and acquired all the patent rights of value there has been steady progress in methods of manufacture and quality of product. Even at that early date there were several manufacturers in the field each claiming for his product superiority over all others and a monopoly of all good features of design. Each maker was trying to show some result before his financial backer tired of advancing funds. It was Mr. Gibbs who first realized that the chaotic condition could not last and that it threatened to strangle in its infancy an industry that gave great promise.

Strange as it may seem to us now, in the early days the uses for batteries were somewhat limited. It was the search for an outlet for their product on the part of the storage battery manufacturers that gave an impetus to the development of the electric vehicle. With vehicle development fairly under way the battery manufacturers found themselves hard put to it to keep pace with the progressive demand for better batteries. From that day on steady progress has marked the path of both vehicle and battery. Now each stands well nigh perfect in its respective field.

The storage battery of today bears out scant resemblance to its forebear of twenty-five years ago. To be sure the same materials in a great measure enter into its makeup, but the design has been modified and simplified until in place of the heavy cumbersome cell, we have a neat compact, efficient cell of very much greater capacity.

The title "electric storage battery" is somewhat of a misnomer. It is in reality a converter and storer of energy. The electrical energy given to the battery during the process of charging is transformed into chemical energy and stored away. When the battery is discharged this energy is again transformed, this time back into electrical energy, and is available in that form.

The principle upon which the storage or secondary battery operates was discovered by Plante in 1860. He found that if two plates, one of pure lead and the other of lead peroxide were immersed in dilute sulphuric acid, electric current would flow through an external circuit. After a time the surface of the plates became charged and the current through the cell in the opposite direction the plates were restored to their original condition and the cell would again give forth current. This comparatively simple process is then the foundation of the storage battery industry.

Many attempts have been made to discover some combination of elements other than lead and sulphuric acid which would prove practicable as storage battery components. Of the numerous combinations found commercially successful has been one which employs nickel hydrate and iron oxide for the electrolyte. Such a battery is known as a nickel iron battery.

FELL OVER CLIFF AT QUEENSTOWN

Niagara Falls Ont., March 4—Martin McNamara, forty-five years of age was killed last night on the Hydro construction work on the river bank near Queenston, where the new power house will be built. He was on the edge of the bank when his feet slipped on the frozen ground, and there was nothing to hold on to. He fell nearly 200 feet.

When the body was recovered it was found that he was still alive. He was placed on a trolley car and brought to Niagara Falls but expired before reaching here, without regaining consciousness.

MARCH WEATHER DANGEROUS TO BABY

Our Canadian March weather—one day bright, but sloppy, the next blustery and cold—is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mothers to keep the little ones indoors. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against these colds and to keep the baby well till the better, brighter days come along, a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels and thus they relieve colds and simple fevers and keep the baby fit. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM CURED BY B. B. B.

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease, caused by the uric acid in the blood. It manifests itself by pain and lameness attacking the muscles and joints of the body, which often swell and become hot and inflamed.

Anyone who has suffered month after month, and perhaps year after year, with rheumatism, and who has tried remedy after remedy in the hope of relief, and with success, should not give up hope.

Burdock Blood Bitters, by invigorating the digestive organs and eliminating the uric acid from the system will give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. D. Barry, Purlbrook, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know of the great benefit my husband derived from using your Burdock Blood Bitters. He had been suffering for the past two years with inflammatory rheumatism. He tried many medicines but got no better. A friend advised him to take B. B. B. He did so. After taking five bottles he felt like a new man, and was able to go to work the same as ever."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over 40 years. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FLEET FOR THE DARDANELLES

Paris, March 4—A despatch from Toulon today said that following the arrival of a British fleet in the Dardanelles a French torpedo squadron had been ordered to Constantinople.

The sending of additional warships to Turkish waters follows clashes between French troops and Turkish rebels in the region of Marash, Turkish Asia Minor. Many Armenians have been massacred by the Turks recently in this district.

EVEN A QUEEN.

No woe is there in all the world
Without a woman in it.
A fact that I can prove to you
In just about a minute.
I held a seven, eight and nine,
And ten and then—I feared it!
I drew a single card, and lo—
She was a queen—who queered it!

Dramatic Ocean Greeting

THOUGH a mere land lubber the call of the sea was too strong for W. H. Boswell, of the Passenger Dept., C. P. R., Charing Cross, London, England, and when he joined up he decided to follow the footsteps of his viking ancestors. Followed a period of training at one of Britain's great naval bases, after which he was posted to a patrol boat and found his sea legs. That patrol boat has proved a means for many of the passengers and crews sent adrift on the ocean's wide expanse

W. H. BOSWELL.

by the horrible Hun, and when the "Calgarian" was sunk she picked up one of her boats with survivors. One of the first to come aboard was Commander Kendall, the navigating officer, and a hearty greeting took place between the gallant C. P. O. S. captain and the erstwhile C. P. R. "round the world rate expert," which resulted in the latter loaning the former a clean collar, on the understanding that it would be returned to him, so that when in the days to come his children ask, "Father what did you do in the Great War," he will point with pride to the glass encased collar and say, "Son, that was my collar, worn by Capt. Kendall, of Dr. Crippen and 'Empress of Ireland' fame, whom I helped save from a watery grave when the 'Calgarian' went down, in March, 1918."
