RESIGNS THE PRESIDENCY OF THE LIBERTY LEAGUE

Ontario ex-M. P. P. Gives Up His Post—Hurls Some Hot Shot at the Members—With Restocked Cellars, Zeal for the Cause of Liberty Departed—Letter of Resignation is Made Public—Out of Pocket $3,500.

(Toronto Globe.)

In resigning as President of "The Citizens' Liberty League," Lieut. Col. H. A. C. Machin, ex-M. P. P., pours out a volley of hot shot at many members of the league. "Self and self alone was at the bottom of their motives," he writes in his letter of resignation. After declaring that he had foolishly believed these men were behind him on a matter of principle, Col. Machin says: "Their participation in our work was at the time when their cellars were near depletion, and they got busy and interested, but the moment restrictions were removed and they had their cellars full, nothing mattered."

"The O. T. A. is a weapon rigorously used against the poor and the ordinary citizen, but it is broken with impunity by the rich and powerful, who go untouched," he says. "As the rich (with their cellars full) are not at present interested, I see no other way out than to let the league die—killed by the selfishness of the wealthy."

Text of Letter.

His letter follows:

"29th April, 1920.

"Dear Mr. Carruthers—It is only after serious reflection and thought, and with a great deal of personal regret, that I now place in your hands my resignation of the Presidency of our league. I shall remain a humble member of the league, and will do everything I can to help its aims and objects, which I heartily endorse and believe in.

"My reason for taking the step I have done may be briefly explained as follows:

Not a Dollar From the League.

"When the league was formed, and I was practically forced into accepting the Presidency, certain committees were formed to look after definite matters so that I should not be bothered with finances, etc., etc., but should be free to throw myself into the organization of the league, speaking etc., etc. I gave practically the whole of six months to the work of the league, paid all my own expenses, and have, neither directly nor indirectly received one dollar from the league or any other source for what I have done, which was done from the highest personal motives and without any thought of self or the consequences. As a result I find myself out of pocket—in addition to my time (and I gave up my holiday last year, and have not had a holiday since 1914)—some three thousand five hundred dollars in cash.

"I am not complaining, nor do I regret the sacrifice one iota, except in so far as I am wholly disappointed in the results obtained.

Nothing Matters With Cellars Full.

"I foolishly thought that the men who were behind the movement were taking their stand as a matter of principle, and, as real sound citizens, were tired of the hypocrisy and deceit so rampant amongst us which, in my opinion strike at the very vitals of our national life and characteristics, but to my regret I find them no different to the people who would enslave us. Their participation in our work was at a time when their cellars were near depletion and they got busy and interested, but the moment the restrictions were removed and they had their cellars full again nothing mattered. Self, and self alone, was at the bottom of their motives and activity, and that to me, makes them as equally obnoxious as the Ben Spences and others of that ilk.

The whole thing is wrong. My stand is that we either have liquor

(and with me it is only the principle that is involved, and not the article) so that every man in the State can get it honestly and decently; or he wants it, or we do not have it at all. The present system is class legislation of the worst kind, and sets the rich and the poor at loggerheads quicker than anything else I know of. The O. T. A. is a weapon which is rigorously used against the poor and ordinary citizen, but is broken with impunity by the rich and powerful, who go unpunished. It takes money out of the pockets of the poor, causes unrest, and therefore is detrimental to our national life.

"While I can raise my voice against it I will not stand for class legislation so that the rich and powerful have privileges which are denied the poor and the workers of Canada and Ontario will be roused against the present unjust law if I can help it.

"The poor and everyday citizen are behind the League in order to try and rid themselves of the unjust law; the rich and powerful were behind the League for their own selfish purposes, which, having been attained they no longer feel inclined to support financially. The League cannot go on without funds to take care of the ordinary legitimate office and other expenses, and the poor are unable to furnish them, and as the rich (with the cellar full) are not at present interested I see no other way out than to let the League die, killed by the selfishness of the wealthy but selfish citizens who in due time will regret their selfishness.

"From now on as a private individual I will raise my voice for proper liquor control through Government shops and with individual licenses or absolute prohibition, including the confiscation of all private stocks of liquor in Ontario on the grounds that the same is a menace to the safety and welfare of the peace of our people. If the poor are to do without then the wealthy must do without with them. Let all classes in Ontario know that all—rich and poor alike—are on the same footing. We will have liquor decently and aboveboard or not at all. If we are to be bone-dry, let us be in fact bone-dry, so that, apart from sacramental wines, there is not can it be prescribed by doctors or used in any way as a medicine.
