Mrs. Bessie Knecht, janitrix—get that—of a big First ave., N. Y., block, has sued three tenants for $25,000, alleging assault, all because when she was passing out sanitary notices the three tenants, two men and a woman, mistook them for notices advancing rent, and beat her up so badly that the ambulance had to tote her away.

DEVELOPING THE WATER AND COAL POWER OF N. B.

Important Legislation to be Introduced in the Local House
Next Session—Government Will Grapple With the Problem of Cheaper Power—Good Results will be Likely to Follow
—Output of Coal Miners of the Province Has Doubled in the Past Three Years.

(Moncton Transcript.)
The next session of the provincial legislature promises to be one of importance. The government is new, but it has already put through some very advanced legislation; it is led by a business man and it is conducting affairs on business principles. Premier Foster has signified his intention of bringing in a measure dealing with the problem of water power development, a matter of first importance to the province if its industries are to enjoy continuous development. This question of power affects New Brunswick's position in many ways. On the one hand we have Nova Scotia with great coal mines and on the other the province of Quebec which has developed its unrivalled water powers on a great scale. Industrial development in New Brunswick has been considerable and is full of promise; we have every reason to be proud of the progress of Moncton and other communities in recent years; but on the whole industrial development in this province does not compare favourably with industrial developments in either Nova Scotia or Quebec. And one big reason of our relative backwardness has been the lack of cheap power.

The decision of the Foster government to take measures to provide for the development of water powers should have important results. It is only to be regretted that steps in this direction were not taken years ago. If we had had a business man for premier, a business man with foresight and knowledge of what has been going on in the other provinces, years ago, we would doubtless have had a considerable number of water power plants all over the province and possibly we would have had the Grand Falls harnessed to the needs of industry.

Another matter which is engaging the attention of the present government and which touches the power question is that of the development of the coal areas of the province. In 1918 largely through the encouragement of the present government the output of the mines in the Grand Lake district was doubled, a total of 300,000 tons. During the past year there has been considerable activity there, though strikes have interfered with output. It is a sorry reflection on the enterprise of past governments of this province that we have no definite information as to the extent of the coal resources of New Brunswick. We have estimates, but they are simply guesswork. Hon. Mr. Smith, minister of lands and mines announced some time ago that the government proposed to make an appropriation for the purpose of exploring the provincial coal fields and having the diamond drill cover the whole area. The government also propose to look into the license system in reference to the coal fields. There are licensees today who have sufficient land under lease to keep them busy for 350 years at the present rate of production. This is not conducive to development, and Hon. Mr. Smith has intimated that after the survey of the coal question the government will take measures to rescind leases of coal areas lying undeveloped and held for speculative purposes. In 300 years new methods of developing power may be devised, and coal may be of little use. At any rate the days of the Family Compact are over; there is no need to give control of our natural resources to people who simply sit down and wait till something happens to enable them to reap a profit without enterprise or risk.

MAYFAIR SERVANTS TURN OUT AT A BALL

London, Jan. 12.—The conventional routine of Mayfair was turned upside down the other night. Butlers ceased butting, cooks stopped cooking and waiting maids did no waiting. It was not a strike, but a fancy dress ball, the proceeds of which went to aid the domestic servants' bed in a local hospital. For one night only aristocratic London voluntarily bolshevized itself. Dukes, earls, barons and baronets submitted to the inevitable. They saw their entire domestic staffs from boy in butons to the stately footman drive away in their master's expensive limousines clad in jazz garbs of every hue to take part in the dance. In some instances even the chauffeur was set free, the master of the house taking his place at the wheel.
