NEWLYWEDS ASPHYXIATED

New York, Dec. 28—When Rocco Bruillo of Naples was serving in the 327th Infantry two years ago he got a four days furlough and went to Naples, his old home town. For seven years before the war he had been working as a laborer in Newark. In Naples he met a girl named Carmella. She promised to marry him when the war was ended.

He went home when the war was ended and worked harder than ever until he saved enough in two years to rent an apartment for her at 230 Academy street, Newark, and enough to furnish it for her and enough to send the money for her steamship ticket. Carmella reached Ellis Island Thursday afternoon, and they were married there immediately, immigration officials performing the ceremony. They went home to the new flat, where Bruillo's friends and relatives welcomed them, and there was feasting far into the night.

Yesterday Rocco and his bride were found in their bed-room with the door to the bedroom was partly open.

HATPIN WAS A GOOD WEAPON

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 29—A battle early this morning between a negro thug and a woman armed with a hatpin, resulted in a completed victory for the woman and the utter rout of the hold-up man who departed screaming with pain and with at least two inches of the pin in his abdomen.

The woman, Mrs. Minnie Morse, is a scrub woman at the Municipal Building, and at 4 o'clock was on her way to work when the negro accosted her, grabbing her by the throat. She snatched a pin from her hat, and jabbed the man three times, breaking the pin on the last jab.

That charity which covereth a multitude of sins never was busier than right now.
