MOTHERS! NEVER NEGLECT WHOOPING COUGH

Many mothers make the mistake of thinking that whooping cough is not of serious importance, but unfortunately this mistake often leads to the neglect of this dangerous child's disease.

Never neglect whooping cough, for it may be followed by some serious lung trouble.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers every "whoop" which brings the so-much-wanted relief of this trouble. It will clear the clogged up air passage of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way bring on the sought-for relief.

Mrs. Francis Burlingham, New Gate, B.C., writes: "This spring three of my children took the whooping cough, and they had it so bad I thought they would choke. I was getting pretty worried when my sister wrote me, telling me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I sent for some right away, and believe me, I will never forget how it house."

There are many imitations of Dr. Wood's on the market. Get the genuine when you ask for it. It will pay in worked. I will always have it in my end. Put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pipe trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Ont.

MARBLES AND LOVE ARE SIGNS OF SPRING

(New York Sun).

The man with a grouch jammed his thumb against the elevator button of the apartment house lift and growled. "Darn that Senegambian nut," he muttered. "Why doesn't he answer this bell?" The elevator door suddenly opened. The uniformed dorky grinned broadly at his passenger, but the man with a grouch only snarled. The man with the grouch had just kicked to his wife about the quality of the eggs and coffee at breakfast. He was in no humor for grins or grinning.

The man with the grouch decided that he would walk it off on the way to his office. Walking to the office meant that he would be late, so he went to the telephone. Ten minutes spent in a booth did not diminish his testy temper. His brow was dark and his veins looked dangerously choleric.

Crossing into Central Park, the man with the grouch turned his ankle in a deep chuck hole created by the energy of the big storm and the subsequent lack of energy displayed by the street Cleaning Department. "Much more of this sort of governmental inefficiency and I'll go Bolshevik," he informed himself savagely as he limped to the park side of the street.

A short distance through the park and the expression of the man with the grouch suddenly began to change. A business man, he became much interested in a thrilling game or chance that was being carried on by two tense gamblers who played their game on the sidewalk.

"We're playin' for keeps now," one of the gamblers insisted. "No takin' back. Watch me knock that little mardle right outa that ring with this good old law of mine."

"No moochin' now," his opponent insisted. "It don't go if ya mooch."

One-half of the grouch which the moody gentlemen had carried from his apartment a half hour previously immediately disappeared. "I wonder" he said wistfully, "if it can really be here. Those kids are certainly good indications."

The man with only half a grouch continued on his way through the park. With only half a grouch to burden him his step was more elastic and his eyes a little brighter and more curious than they had been before.

He had gone half way past a vine covered arbor that bordered the sidewalk when he suddenly stopped short. "Eureka," he exclaimed. "I really believe it is here."

The sound of two voices came from within the arbor. One was that of a boy of high school age the other the light soprano of an equally youthful girl. Both apparently were on their way to school. "De you love me?" the young man asked tenderly. "You know I do," came the immediate reply from the girl. "Nobody but me counts?" the young man asked. "You know there is no one else," the girl replied. "I'm not so sure about you though," she added rather petulantly. "Why, you're the only girl in the world for me," the young man replied. Then there was silence.

The man who had had the grouch started once more for his office. His smile was broad, his eyes cheery and his step vibrant with the energy of enthusiasm and the joy of life. Arrived at the office he kicked the door of his partner's office open and blew in on that startled gentleman like a Kansas zephyr.

"I know a place where I can get some," he said gleefully. "Let's go down and toss one off in honor of spring. There's no doubt about it. She's here."

WILL UPSET MANY PLANS

London, April, 26—The actual circumstance precipitating a 7 per cent Bank of England rate was the fact that the Government borrowed £55,000,000 from the Bank during the first ten days of April, in spite of the fact that the Banks own position was weakened through exports of gold to America in connection with the Anglo-French loan. The deeper cause however, is that the social economic and financial situation requires the application of dearer money.

Cause of Early Old Age

The celebrated Dr. Michenoff, an authority on early old age, says that it is "caused by poisons generated in the intestine." When your stomach digests food properly it is absorbed without forming poisonous matter. Poisons bring on early old age and premature death. 15 to 30 drops of "Seigel's Syrup" after meals makes your digestion sound.
