MARYSVILLE GIVING Y. M. C. A. A STERN CHASE IN YORK CO. LEAGUE

Nine Inning Game Saturday Resulted in Score of Marysville 14, Imperials 10—Fred McLean Pitched Seven Innings for the Losing Team—Did Well, But Poorly Supported—Heavy Batting by Both Teams—Crabbing About Umpiring.

Marysville is making it a stern chase for Y. M. C. A. in the York County Baseball League. Saturday afternoon a postponed game with Imperials resulted in another win for the Cotton Town team. The score was 14 to 10 and as games go was not particularly good. The result puts Marysville in still better position at the top of the standing and confirms the Imperials' claim to the cellar position.

Two Pitchers Each.

Each team used two pitchers Saturday. "Pat" Clark started for Imperials but retired after the second inning in favor of Fred McLean. There had been four hits off Clark. McLean was hit for ten safe ones but pitched good ball striking out fourteen men in seven innings. The support given him was very poor. Marysville had McPherson in the box until the ninth inning when Anderson relieved him. He was hit for eleven safe ones.

Won in Second.

Marysville won the game in the second inning when they scored five runs. In the first two innings Clark struck out one Marysville batter but allowed

BERRIES CHEAP; SUGAR SCARCE

Toronto, June 26—Large shipments of strawberries were on hand at the wholesale fruit market yesterday morning and prices were at the lowest for the season to date. The range was at 13c to 16c, with buying fairly brisk. Supplies were entirely cleaned up by noon, and the market was bare until the arrivals of the late afternoon shipments. There was a firmer market for the late arrivals and prevailing prices were 15c to 17c for good quality. Tuesday's break in prices did not come early enough to warn shippers, but later arrivals were meagre, and there were ready buyers at the 2c advance in the afternoon.

PROPOSE BAN ON BANANAS

Kingston, Jamaica, June 25—To prevent the shipment of immature bananas to the United States and Great Britain the Government has initiated legislation making such shipment an offence, punishable by a heavy fine.

The banana war has tempted the growers to sell immature fruit, which practice the Government is endeavoring to discourage.

five bases on balls. The balance of the game was close with the pitching making things interesting.

Grounds Not Suitable

The location of the diamond at the College Field which the Imperials use as home grounds, makes a short left field and Saturday the ball was continually batted over the fence onto the C. N. R. right-of-way. This made the game slow.

Kicking Over Decisions.

W. Kenney of the City team was one of the umpires and his decisions on the pitchers' delivery were often disputed. This also tended to slow the game. Arrangements with regard to umpires should be better when the next county league is organized.

The score is:—

Notes of the League.

There have been quite a number of changes among players in the league. Fred McLean is with the Imperials although starting the season with the Oldtimers. Burke who has played with the Oldtimers also is now with Marysville.

There still are three postponed games to dispose of.

Fredericton City and Imperials are scheduled to meet at College Field this evening and Marysville is due to play at Devon. The latter team has been improving and may give Marysville an unpleasant surprise as it did the last time the two teams met.

Dominion Day games scheduled are Marysville at Fredericton City in the morning, Y. M. C. A. at Devon and Fredericton City at Imperials in the afternoon. There may be a change, however.

Hot Springs at Banff and Bath.

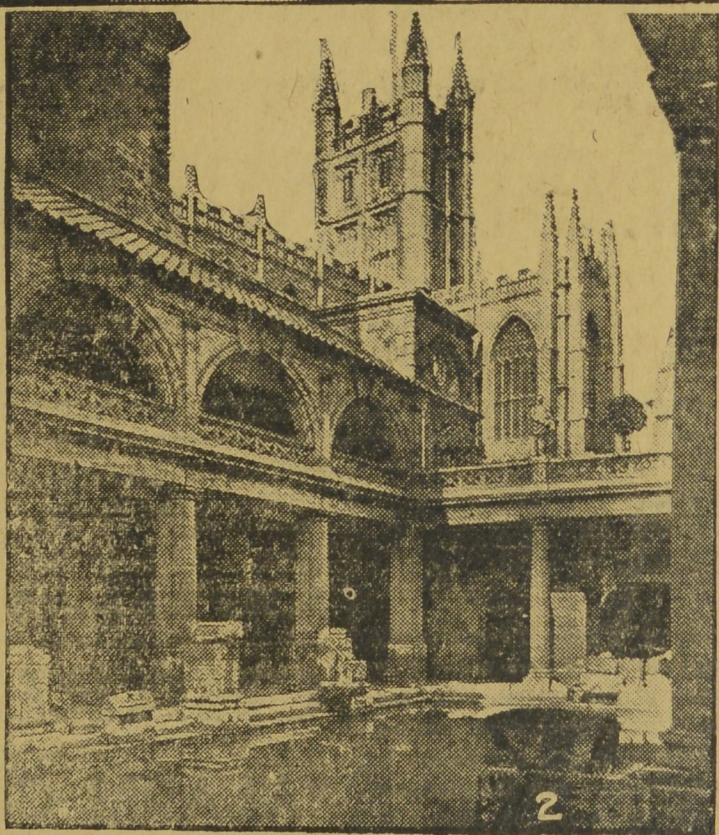

Recently the Canadian Pacific Railway film of the tour of the Prince of Wales in Canada was shown three times a day for three days at Bath, England. The mayor of the town and thousands of the residents of the town and district were exceedingly interested in those pictures, which not only showed the doings of his Royal Highness in the Dominion but also gave vivid details of many of the beautiful scenes of our country.

Those who have visited the hot sulphur springs at Banff in the Canadian Pacific Rockies or the Halcyon springs on the Arrow Lakes and derived healthful benefit from them will be glad to learn something about the springs at Bath which are the only hot springs in the United Kingdom.

About the middle of 1755 the old Priory or medieval Abbey, which stood at the south-western corner of the existing Abbey at Bath, was pulled down to give place to a suite of baths for the Duke of Kingston. In removing the foundations, a number of stone coffins were found, and on sinking further, the hot mineral water gushed forth and interrupted the work. The site being drained, Roman masonry was disclosed, and subsequently a number of baths and sudatories. That there lay buried still further remains of what must have been an extensive Roman bathing system indications were unmistakable. The rectangular bath, now commonly known as the Lucas bath, was uncovered, and at either end of it a semi-circular deep bath, entered by seven steps. The auditories lay on the eastern side, together with a number of square baths and other apartments which apparently bathers used preparatory to entering the hot chambers. Some of these rooms were paved with flag stones, others were beautifully treated with various colored tesserae.

Excavations were not then pursued; other buildings were quickly erected over the site, and during the next hundred years no attention was given to the place.

It was the year 1873 that marked the most important epoch in the re-discovery of the baths. Engineering works were at that time undertaken to remedy a leakage from the principal spring, and it was discovered that from this leakage the Kingston Baths, then in private hands, derived the whole of their supply. Interruptions ensued but the Corporation enforced their rights in respect to the water escaping from the King's spring, and the draining of the site and other necessary works proceeded. It was then perceived that the foundations of a number of the modern houses rested upon what was little better than a morass, and Major Davis, to whose unwearied zeal and skilful excavation the city is so much indebted, found, after further exploration and careful tunnelling, that he had at last alighted upon the hidden treasures. Difficult and costly as was the subsequent work of uncovering these remains, the late Major Davis set himself with indomitable perseverance to push it forward. The facts that the baths were some 20 feet below the street level and that continuance of the excavations necessarily involved the demolition of much valuable property were serious considerations which all had their effect in retarding progress.

Later on public interest increased and the houses were removed, the immense deposits of other ages carted away and the large area of Roman structures revealed. About 1878 when the great rectangular bath was opened up portions of the culvert of the outfall drain were discovered. In 1883 the hypocaust on the western side of the circular bath was discovered. In 1885 the circular bath itself; in 1886 the latrines and circular hypocaust; in 1887 the bath beneath the basement of the modern baths, and in 1895 another rectangular bath was excavated.

That the builders of these baths were attracted into the valley by the hot springs about the middle of the first century, certainly not very long after the Romans first occupied Britain, we have fairly conclusive evidence. A coin of Claudius was found in such a position as to suggest to some authorities the theory that it might have been specially placed to commemorate the foundation of the baths. At any rate from the stones and altars dug up from time to time (one stone bears reference to a definite date A.D. 77-8), and the characteristics of a few of the sculptured remains, some vigorous occupation of Bath can be ascribed, with tolerable accuracy, to the last 30 or 40 years of the first century.
