YOUR MANNERS.

It is Correct

For the husband of a hostess giving a dance to assist her in entertaining the guests.

For host—if he does not dance—to engage in conversation with the ladies who are not dancing.

For the host—if he dances—to dance with the less popular young ladies.

For the host to introduce young men who dance to the "wall flowers."

a dance to assist her in receiving if he wishes.

It is Not Correct.

For young men at a dance to lounge in the doorways and halls.

For young men to gather in the coat room in groups to chat and smoke, at a dance.

For young men at a dance to linger away from the ball room.

For a gentleman who has escorted a lady to a dance to fail to ask her for all the dances she will give him.

For a gentleman who was escorted a lady to a dance to fail to see that partners are presented.

BIAS BANDS SIMPLIFIED.

One important thing the writer recently learned is the art of making bias bands for trimming, an art which is as simple as it is effective, and which does away with the laborious process of pinching or basting down the edges by hand, at the same time producing much better results.

Take a piece of paper (about the consistency of letter paper) two and a half inches wide. Fold over at the dotted lines, making a sort of flat hollow tube, of which the overlapping sections should be basted together.
Now cut the bias materials for the bands an inch and a quarter wide and you are ready to begin operations. After passing one end of the material through the paper tube pin it at your right hand to a pressing board, holding the paper lightly with the left hand. Now, with a warm flatiron in your right hand, press the material from left to right, holding the point of the iron at the edge of the paper, which you should push along as you proceed, and press gently and quickly upon the material as it issues folded from the paper. In this way both edges are turned and pressed at the same time, and a much better band in every way is the result. Of course, after using these directions once, one will easily see that wider or narrower bands may be made in the same way.
The writer has had a set of tin tubes made at a tinsmith's. These are easily made and should not prove to be expensive. However, just as good results can be procured by using the paper.

BANK MANAGER LOST HIS FURS

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 8—Andrew Mooney, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, was fined $8,530 in the Police Court yesterday for having in his possession 661 beaver pelts and 262 muskrat skins, without the necessary government coupons attached. The pelts were also ordered confiscated. The furs had been taken as security for a loan, and were seized by Provincial officials. The Minister of Public Works has authority to remit fines in excess of $200 and appeal will be made.

SUGAR THE FEATURE OF THE GROCERY MARKET THIS WEEK

The Trend of Prices is Still Downward---Lower Prices on Hogs, Pork and Beef---Eggs Holding Firm---The Potato Market is Showing Some Strength---Tea is Going Off in Price.

The sugar situation continues to be the feature of the grocery markets. Reduced quotations during the week; Prices have again been reduced by all refineries. The markets generally continue with an easier undertone and while not many changes in prices have been manifested during the week, there is a tendency that prices will show a gradual receding.

Montreal—The whole grocery market this week shows a decided downward tendency. Lower prices on hogs, pork and beef feature the produce market. The supply of hogs shows a marked improvement and while beef cattle are not coming as it was hoped the supply of Western cattle arriving is sufficient to bring down the prices on some of the cheaper lines.

It is expected that there will be a reduction in the price of bacon and hams shortly. Eggs are holding firm in price as is also lard and shortening. There are no new developments in butter since the reduction in price one week ago. Sugar is reduced by all the refiners to $14.50 per hundred for granulated. Onions are flooding the local market with every low prices.
The potato market shows added strength with a likelihood that before the winter is over the supply will not be plentiful. Oranges will be dearer this winter since the quotations on navel oranges at the coast are much higher. This also applies to bananas. The new supply of Turkish figs are to hand with perhaps a shade easier prices. Prices on nuts remain easy.

WRAPPING PAPER TO MATCH DRESS

New York, Nov. 7—Tony is Italian and he runs a retail dry goods shop on Third avenue, and he likes bright colors, and when the salesmen for the new wrapping paper company called upon him Tony joyously picked a bright pink, a vigorous and unescapable pink, for his entire new stock of wrapping paper.

Nobody ever spoke to him about it until yesterday. And he believed it must be pleasing everybody just as it pleased him, and he continued to wrap his sales proudly in it. Now he knows better, and he has a small supply of white paper on hand as well.

A girl came into Tony's dry goods shop and ordered three rain towels.
She didn't seem to belong on Third avenue; her dress was too expensively simple, an affair of bright yellow linen.

"Oh!" she cried in horror when Tony presented the parcel neatly wrapped and tied. "Haven't you any other paper than that?"

"Wat's da matte for dat?" asked Tony.

"That pink! That pink!" she almost moaned. "It won't go with this yellow dress."

Vegetables are steady and with the exception of potatoes prices are unchanged. Potatoes have shown a firmer tendency with quotations higher.
Reports of the rot in potatoes still come in from some districts but this is not general as most districts have a good crop of first class potatoes.
California Valencia oranges are nearing the end of the season with quotations again advanced during the week.

The chief features this week are the considerably higher prices made in hammers for next season and the declines in lead pipe and lead products, says "Hardware and Metal."

A considerable number of price changes have been made and among the advances are lantern globes and lamp chimneys, bench screws, awning pulleys, grindstone fixtures and some lines of butts and builders' hardware.

Producers of lead and copper show an easier tone and lead traps and bends and copper rivets are priced lower. Decliners have also been made in some lines of black sheets, in harness snaps, cotton waste and cotton rope. Old materials are also lower.

In spite of lower primary markets in raw materials, prices are holding firmly in most lines or iron and steel and there is still an apparent shortage of many articles.

Wholesalers report present business as good, and state that bookings for next spring are generally satisfactory, but in some lines there is a noticeable slowness in placing orders for future delivery.
