THE SUGAR QUESTION

It seems that the sugar question was one of the issues raised by the United Farmers in the East Elgin by-election and no doubt it was the means of stampeding quite a number of votes away from the government candidate, Hon. T. A. Crerar, the leader of the United Farmers party took a hand in the campaign and in one of his addresses dealt with the sugar question as follows:

"The Government is taking great credit for suspending the moribund Board of Commerce, which was created to control prices. In this connection I would like to point out that the original Board of Commerce had disappeared—but not in a haze of glory—the new board was composed of civil servants, men in the employ of the government and consequently afraid to take any action without Government authorization.

"I have no sympathy with the sugar refiners. They made huge fortunes during the war as a result of the continuous advances in the price of sugar and as a result of a 2c per pound protection which they enjoyed. In the end they made a bad guess and then asked the Government to save them.

"I want to remind the people of East Elgin that on the night, on which Premier Meighen left to speak in this riding, he was in conference with the sugar refiners until he left to catch his train. The next day the Board of Commerce issued their order forcing Canadians to pay 21c per pound for sugar and to buy it only from Canadian refiners. At once the storm of protest which arose from the people over the Board's action, forced the Government to rescind their order. They decided that it was better to jump on a band wagon than on a hearse."

"The new hearing granted the sugar refiners had all the appearances of being staged with theatrical effect. The refiners came to the Board and said, 'You have no authority to do what you did,' and Mr. Meighen with a dramatic wave of his hand, called the whole thing off.

"It is a sinister thing that any group of men should be able to come to a Government to save them and that they should be listened to. It shows to what extent the Big Interests have gotten control of our Cabinet and Government. To prove that the sugar refiners do not require very much sympathy I have only to point out that in this year alone one refinery paid out in dividends over a million dollars, or almost half the total wage bill of all the sugar refineries in the Dominion."

It was not the Meighen Government but an indignant public that brought about the rescinding of the ill-advised order of the Board of Commerce. As a result the people are now paying twelve cents a pound for sugar, which otherwise would have been costing them twenty one cents a pound.

WANT SIMPLER NAMES

The Journal of the Franklin Institute lays stress upon the importance of giving drugs simpler names, easy to pronounce and spell. Medical

HEADACHES

Headaches are one of the most aggravating troubles one can have, and it is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time. Headaches seem to be habitual with many people; some are seldom, if ever, free from them, suffering continually from the dull throbbing, the intense pains; sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then again over the whole head.

There is only one way to get relief from these persistent headaches, and that is by going direct to the seat of the trouble, for unless the cause is removed, the headaches will still continue to exist.

The fact that Burdock Blood Bitters keep the stomach, liver and bowels toned up is proof enough to show that it will eliminate the cause of the headaches.

Mrs. Harold Lanain, Owen Sound, Ont. writes: "My system was run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head, which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health, so I took another and am glad to say that it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to my friends, who were in a similar condition, and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

science too often does just the opposite thing. Names of many syllables which no ordinary person could correctly write or spell, are tagged upon chemicals of every-day use. That custom at the present time lays a heavy money tax upon the people who must buy medicines.

A large number of so-called patent medicines are nothing but standard articles sold under a catchy, easy name. A list of these, printed recently in a leading American medical journal showed that the price of such patented drugs often range from forty to one hundred per cent. above the unpatented product, which in every case was not only as good, but substantially the same thing. The public merely pays a bigger price to get a medicine the name of which it can remember easily and pronounce.

Indianapolis News: The crime statistics prepared and made public by Raymond D. Fosdick for the Bureau of Social Hygiene show that as compared with the British Isles, life and property are held cheaply in this country. When year after year a typical American city like Chicago has more murders than England and Wales put together; when the figures show that although St. Louis and Liverpool are about the same size, there are eight times as many murders in St. Louis as in Liverpool, it is time for American cities to look to their laws and their police force.

The Turks are now holding horse races on the plain known as the Campus, about ten miles from Constantinople where, in Roman times, the legions of the Eastern Empire were marshalled. The racing of horses there was discontinued after the armistice, but now has been revived with the introduction of Arabian horses. One attended by the Sultan and Princess of the Imperial Family, the races are now patronized by all nationalities including the armies of occupation, as well as a sprinkling of Turkish women.

Farmers Sun: Up in East Elgin the electors have grown tired saying over and over again the long wearisome title which the conglomeration in power at Ottawa has appropriated unto itself, "The National Liberal and Conservative Party." The name has been thrown into the discard, and a more appropriating one substituted for it. They are calling it "The Mule Party"—because "it has neither pride of ancestry nor hope of posterity."

The tariff tax, says an exchange, is a tax on family life. The bread winner of a family has to pay a tax on the food and clothing of his wife, children and himself. As the bachelor has only himself to look after it is easy to understand why our old friend Commodore Stewart holds up both hands for the Government's policy of adequate protection.

"Queer thing about metals," says the Quebec Telegraph, "most men spend their lives striving for silver and gold, but their brains are leaden and they don't have much luck. They go to the doctor and he probably prescribes iron, and in the final analysis it is sometimes discovered that they develop more brass than any other kind of mineral."

With oats down in price and the prospects excellent for a bumper ice crop, it is going to be harder than ever for local dealers to find an excuse next season for boosting the price of ice.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Sell a lazy man an auto and at once he begins to be in a hurry.

A good husband manager doesn't always make a good home manager.

A bare chest peeping forth from a fur coat is a study in contrasts.

Some sons wear their father's ties and some fathers wear their son's ties. Such is life.

Some short skirts elicit admiration, others pity, and still others amusement.

One woman's "perfect dream" of a gown may be a nightmare to her neighbor.

Autos and turkeys cost about the same per lb., but a man has to keep up an auto while a turkey keeps up a man for a few days.

Worthy of mention as we go along are the many blessed women who are still mothering children as one of life's activities.

It makes little difference if a girl does embroider a certain initial on her linen and then marries a fellow whose name begins with a letter at the other end of the alphabet. All embroidered initials look alike.

Nowadays a man gets it both coming and going. If he stays home by the fireside in the evening he is shelled out to the coal man. If he steps out on the street he is frisked by a highwayman.
