A PLEBISCITE TO BE TAKEN ON THE QUESTION OF A BOND ISSUE TO AID VICTORIA HOSPITAL

Decision on Casting Vote of Deputy Mayor Wilkinson—Motion for Bond Issues of $40,000 and $100,000—Details of the Plebiscite to be Arranged Later—Important Session of the City Council.

The City Council in special session Wednesday night decided to refer the question of making a bond-issue of $100,000 for extension of Victoria Hospital, to a plebiscite of the ratepayers. The date and the manner of taking the vote will be decided later. The decision was reached only on the casting vote of Deputy Mayor Wilkinson, the council dividing four to four. Coun. Camp was opposed to bond-issue or plebiscite but voted for the latter to avoid voting on the other. Previous to the vote there had been motions for bond-issues of $40,000 and $100,000, and it was only after lengthy discussion that a decision was reached. A delegation from the Hospital Board appeared and presented a request for assistance as it had done previously.

There was a very important change however in the fact that it was said that the Board would accept $40,000 for the erection of a power-house while not abandoning the original scheme for $100,000 from the city and $50,000 from York County for a new pavilion.

P. J. Hughes.

P. J. Hughes chairman of the Hospital Board said that the delegation was ready to give whatever information might be wanted in addition to that already given.

Deputy Mayor Wilkinson asked that the general plans be placed before the council for inspection and explanation. This was done.

R. B. Hanson.

R. B. Hanson said that it was felt that the power-house must be built at least, if the three-story pavilion could not be built. The Hospital Board had decided to build that power-house. If the City Council could not pay for it or pay part of it, the Board would go to the public. If the City Council could not give $100,000 he hoped it could give $40,000. It was believed construction could be carried on at the time of the Fraser Memorial.

Deputy Mayor Wilkinson asked if it was the intention to apply for a grant from York County Council.

Mr. Hanson replied that the original scheme had not been abandoned and the entire Hospital Board had been delegated to wait upon the York Municipal Council and ask for a grant of $50,000. He believed that the grant would be forthcoming eventually.

Mr. Hughes said that an arrangement could be made for more adequate representation of the City Council on the Hospital Board.

Plans of the proposed extension were placed on exhibition.

The City Council then considered the matter in private.

Scheme More Feasible.

Deputy Mayor Wilkinson said that he could see from the plans how the Hospital Board would save if it intended to proceed. The latest scheme presented was more feasible than that presented at first. The city of course would hesitate, with $200,000 in bonds already issued. His suggestion would be that the city guarantee the interest on the bonds.

The Hospital Board could thus handle the matter itself and people would buy the bonds not as a business proposition but as an aid to the Hospital.

Ald. Hall said the proposal to spend $40,000 on a power-plant looked better than the first to spend $100,000. Legislation could be secured next year giving power for issue of the larger amount on the understanding that only $40,000 be spent at once.

Ald. Cain favored a central heating plant. The citizens as a whole were not in favor of a bond-issue of $100,000 but probably would support an issue of $40,000 which could be disposed of in this locality if the interest were guaranteed.

Ald. Jennings said the last proposition was the better. However he did not favor an interest guarantee. An issue of serial bonds would be better.

Ald. Camp Opposes.

Ald. Camp said that the County of York should not be left out of the $40,000 proposition. There was a very heavy burden of bonded indebtedness upon the city already. If it were feasible to guarantee interest he would favor that, but nothing more. The laboring man was barely existing and his burden should not be increased.

Poor Man Buys Auto.

Ald. Neill said he had taken a few notes of Ald. Camp's remarks. The laboring man never was better off instead of barely existing. The laboring man was buying automobiles. He knew of one man making $30 per week who had bought a car last year for $1,800 and traded it this year for a $2,900 car. He also had paid off the mortgage on his home. He strongly favored the bond-issue of $100,000, on the average working man the increase in taxation would be 45 cents—one night at the movies. There would be no crushing burdens. The hospital was a crying need. Possible action on the larger scheme might be postponed for a year or two, but the $40,000 must go through at once. The request for $50,000 from the County of York would be made.

Ald. Camp Comes Back.

Ald. Camp said that he would like the receipt of the man making $30 a week who was able to buy two cars in two years and pay for a house. He was a wonder. If he were doing that and running into debt and there were many like him, the city had better enlarge the Alms house rather than the hospital. A statement of the kind should not affect the issue of $100,000 in bonds for the hospital.

Ald. Hall pointed out that the proposed annex would contain free wards and the poorer classes really would be the chief beneficiaries.

Another For Ald. Neill.

Ald. Baxter said that he did not know why Ald. Neill talked against the working man. He could assure that Alderman that if it had not been for the votes of working men he (Neill) would not be an alderman. As far as the county was concerned, it should go in fifty-fifty with the city. He did not favor a bond-issue of $100,000 this year but after seeing the plans he believed that the heating plant should be erected.

Motion For $40,000.

Ald. Jennings said he would move that the City of Fredericton assure the Hospital Board that application would be made to the legislature for authority to issue $40,000 in bonds for a power-house and laundry.

Ald. Young seconded the motion. He did not think $40,000 was out of the way.

Deputy Mayor Wilkinson said he still was of the opinion that the matter of a bond-issue should be referred to a plebiscite.

Ald. Camp said he still was opposed to a bond-issue, also to a plebiscite for the cost of the latter would be wasted, for this matter would remain where it was.

Motion For $100,000.

Ald. Neill said he wished to correct an impression which Ald. Baxter seemed to have, that he (Neill) was against the laboring man. The fact that the Labor Council campaigned against him was neither here nor there. In this hospital matter he was advocating the interests of the poor man who could not pay for a private ward. He had taken his stand and would stay by it. He favored the original scheme. In amendment he moved that the Council apply to the Legislative Assembly for authority to issue bonds to the extent of $100,000 in aid of Victoria Hospital.

Ald. Hall said he understood that the motion did not pledge the city to action, and on that understanding he would second it. A plebiscite on the expenditure of the remaining $60,000 would be held at the time of the next civic election.

Deputy Mayor Wilkinson strongly advocated a plebiscite.

Ald. Young said the cry again would be raised that the working men whose taxes were not paid, was not able to vote.

Deputy Mayor Wilkinson said that a man who showed so little interest as not to pay taxes should have no choice in the matter.

Ald. Cain seconded by Ald. Baxter moved in amendment to the amendment that the question of a bond-issue in aid for Victoria Hospital be referred to a plebiscite.

Ald. Camp said he was against the three motions but in the plebiscite he would choose the least evil.

The second amendment produced the following vote:—

Yea—Cain, Camp, Baxter, Barker, Nay—Jennings, Hall, Neill, Young. Deputy Mayor Wilkinson gave the casting vote for a plebiscite.
