GARDEN VEGETABLES MAY SOON FURNISH RAIMENT FOR WOMEN

New York, Feb. 25.—The most lowly of garden vegetables may soon be called upon to furnish raiment for the modish dame and dandy who is ever on the quest for "something new." It is no myth to say that soon the gazer at a delicious confection of womanly apparel may really be viewing the transformation of an overgrown cabbage.

The slogan of "clothes from vegetables" began when H. A. Mayer, a New York lawyer, returned from wool impoverished Germany with some samples of "vegetable wool." The cloth closely resembles serges and came in a wide range of colors. He explained that even Germany's pre-war seizures of tens of thousands of bales of wool consigned to London, had failed to atone for the war massacre of its thousands of fine wool-bearing sheep which massacre was made necessary by famine.

It is as lustrous as silk and stiff German manufacturers have turned to their spruce and hemlock forest for a wood-pulp to be made into a "vegetable wool."

Although local textile exports scoff at the name of "wool" given the fabric, maintaining that vegetable cells of cellulose can never make a wool fiber, yet they admit that the material has all the qualities of an animal-fibered wool at about one-half the price.

American manufacturers of textiles admit that the shortage of wool in this country is almost a problem now, and that "vegetable wool" may become necessary for us.

"Nor will we stop with forests," one manufacturer said, "there is no reason why pithy vegetables such as an old turnip or parsnip could not furnish cloth fibres."

Altogether, prophecy seems to have it that the fashion world will soon be a fine example of "elephants and sealing wax, cabbage and kings."

The season of 1920 has given us the bilcloth dress and hat, the gelatine hat, the harness trimmings, and fur and feather canes. Merchants make no secret of the fact that many of their most stunning bizarre blouses are of paper material. A celebrated

Fifth avenue window has foisted such a one upon the public gaze only this week. It is a Russian blouse or tunic in lines and very hectic in color, the waist proper being a flaming purple stencilled in dull gold and with sleeve and waist cords of mixed gold and purple.

It is a slustrous as silk and stiff like a taffeta rather than of a pliable nature. Shellaced paper explains all.

DIPLOMATS GET ON BOARD WATER WAGON

Washington, Feb. 26.—According to statements made today in diplomatic circles, the diplomatic representatives of foreign nations in Washington have decided to conform to the letter of the national prohibition amendment by not exercising their privilege to import wines and liquors under cover of the immunity from inspection accorded diplomatic agents.

The reason given for this decision is that it is intended as a courtesy to the laws of the United States. It was said that the heads of embassies and legations were issuing orders to members of their staffs prohibiting them from importing intoxicating beverages under cover of the diplomatic privilege.

There is a suspicion, however, that the reported action of the diplomatic establishments was due in part at least to an embarrassing situation that had been produced by the demands of the thirsty upon the oasis of the foreign embassies and legations. Diplomatic officers are finding it rather expensive these days to furnish liquid nourishment to their friends. This was practically admitted by a diplomat to be a compelling reason for the decision to go on the water wagon.

When a girl displays some interest in a certain young man her friends proceed to fret whether she is engaged. After marriage they worry about her happiness.

DOUBLE BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

"Danderine" creates mass of thick, gleamy waves

In a few moments you can transform your plain, dull, flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get at any drug or toilet counter a small bottle of "Danderine" for a few cents. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust, dirt and excessive oil is removed.

Let Danderine put more life, color, vigor, and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

SMALL HEN HOUSES ARE THE BEST

The size of the hen house should be governed by the size of the flock. From forty to fifty seems to be about as many birds as are safe to keep together. With flocks of this size from four to five square feet of floor space should be allowed to each bird. This space will suffice in most cases where careful attention is given to cleanliness and ventilation. If the fowls are kept in smaller flocks more floor space, to a bird will be needed.

In sections where the climate is so mild that it is unnecessary to keep fowls confined, except for a few days at a time, less space to a bird should be sufficient. The smaller breeds, being more active and restless, require about as much room as the larger breeds.

For the greatest amount of floor space for the least cost a building should be square. Other things being equal the nearer square a house is the less lumber it will take. However, it is sometimes out of the question to build a large house square. A building should not be so wide that the sun cannot reach the back of the house; otherwise it will be damp. Fourteen feet is a convenient width. Build the house as low as possible without danger or attendants bumping their heads against the ceiling, for the low house is more easily warmed than a high one.

PULP MEN FROM SWEDEN IN CANADA

Montreal, Feb. 26.—Two of the most prominent of the pulp and paper magnates arrived in the city today to investigate into the conditions which obtain in the Canadian paper-making industry. They are Baron John Mannerheim and Christian Storchmann.

They represent the Kramfors Sulphite Mills, also nine other Swedish pulp mills combined under the trading name of Billeruds Aktiebolaget.

Prior to the war these companies shipped huge quantities of paper to the United States and other world markets. In Montreal the Swedish visitors will be the guests of the executive council of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

WILL STOP PREPAYMENT ON SHIPMENTS

Montreal, Feb. 26.—A new development resulting from the exchange rate situation between Canada and the U. S. is the issuance of an order by the Canadian railways, effective March 1st whereby railway agents are ordered to refuse prepayment of shipping charges on shipments to the United States, except in the case of certain kinds of goods on which prepayment is required by tariff rules.

The order is designed to "avoid discrimination between shippers," which means that certain classes of shippers have been able to profit by the existing arrangement, while others have suffered. Under the new system shipping charges will be collected at the point of destination.

Into each life some rain must fall; but it is continued cloudy weather that produces most grumbling.
