OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

PRIDE IN ECONOMY.

French Government is Manufacturing Suits to Combat the High Cost of Living.

They are men's suits that sell for the equivalent of $20, but as the franc compares now with the dollar, for an amount estimated at $11.

Even at $20 they are excellent suits and the interesting thing is that, although the only way you would know that one of these suits was made by the government at this low figure is that each is marked with a little strip of linen inside the coat on which is written "National Garment." Those who own these suits take pains to have the little sign shown. They are proud of them. They want everyone to know they are economizing—trying to beat the H. C. of L.

Once women did not seem to want to let you know if they had bought something very cheap, but now they are proud of it. The pendulum has swung the other way. They are proud of the fact that they no longer wear silk stockings. They draw attention to the fact that their gloves are of the "fabric" variety, and they boast of the fact that they are wearing a suit that was bought for a price that you would have thought too low for a suit this year.

Now please don't imagine that the merchants are all in favor of extravagance. Don't imagine that when one preaches economy one is working against the interests of the makers of women's clothes. Quite the contrary. The merchants have had difficulty in disposing of less expensive goods. The trouble is in finding sensible women who appreciate good quality at a low figure. It has been difficult to sell the less ambitious blouses.

That is as things have been. Now a real change may be noted. And it may be through a sensible reaction in favor of simple clothes and simple foods and simple living generally that we are going to get through this rather trying period of after war reconstruction.

USEFUL KNOWLEDGE.

If your last year's spring dress has not the buoyancy that you would like on the hips, get some silk to match it. Then insert side breadths made of three loops, three ruffles, or three drapes of the silk, and pretend you have a brand new dress.

Perhaps your satin evening gown has stretched until it is almost too long to dance in. That needn't worry you. Just turn the end up under the edge of the petticoat and fasten it on the other side. You can make it any length you want and it will look like one of the popular Turkish skirts.

SOUTHAMPTON

Southampton, Feb. 26—This community was terribly shocked last evening when it was learned that Mrs. Annetta Helena Wright, beloved wife of Mr. Woodford Wright had died the night before, at the Victoria Hospital, Fredericton, where she went to have a very serious operation performed. Leaving here in apparently the best of health, only a few days ago, it was utterly impossible for her friends and neighbors to credit the telephone report of her death.

It seems there were other troubles and complications which the doctors could not foresee, and, although the operation could not be performed the never entirely rallied; but soon began to sink until the end came.

The deceased who was fifty-three years of age and held in the highest esteem by all who knew her, died just thirty-three years after her wedding day. Besides her husband she leaves six sons, Millard of Northampton, Dr. Stanley Wright of Lakeville, Carleton County, Arlo of Havre, Montana, Arnold and Perley at home and Edgar of Dow Settlement, also three daughters Mrs. Cameron of Fredericton, Miss Marjorie Wright, teacher at McAdam Junction, and Miss Zilla Wright at home. She is also survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Miller, four brothers, Medley an engineer, of Ohio, Arwood of Northdale, York Co. Burns of Washington State, Alonzo a railway engineer in Massachusetts, and three sisters Mrs. Minnie Lougee of Massachusetts, Mrs. Arthur Sippell of Hartland Carleton County, and Mrs. Smith Dow of Fort Fairfield Me. The deepest sympathy goes out to all these bereaved ones; but especially to the husband and the little

CANADA TO BE IMPORTANT FUR MARKET

Canada is now exporting to other countries according to Dominion Government figures, $14,000,000 worth of furs and skins in the course of a year, and a number are brought back into the country, purchased by Canadian dealers at foreign sales and resold to Canadians. The value of furs and skins exported during the fiscal year 1918-1919 was $13,737,621. Of these $9,743,464 worth went to the United States, $3,763,955 to Great Britain, and $230,202 to other countries. Some extent of the values to which these exports have risen can be obtained from the fact that the value of the export of furs and skins in 1917 was but $5,837,383. During the month of March 1919, the value of these exports was $2,080,704 as compared with $1,420,168 in the corresponding month in 1918. It has been estimated that eighty per cent. of the silver foxes of the world come from Canada.

For nearly four centuries Canada has been one of the largest and most productive fields of the fur trade, and it is impossible to estimate the number or the value of the costly pelts taken from the traps of the Dominion in this period. Yet, until quite recently, the fur trade was hardly organized on a business basis and beyond the trapping and taking of the furs the various phases of the industry passed out of Canadian hands. Traders bought from the trappers and then the raw materials went to the large foreign markets.

There has gradually dawned a realization of the money lost in this way, however, and in future Canada will market her own furs and Montreal become one of the most important fur markets of the globe. For years London, St. Louis and New York have been the selling centres to which Canadian furs have travelled and St. Louis had the world's premier fur mart. The auction at Montreal will be conducted by a large company capitalized at $5,000,000 and will be largely co-operative in nature. It is the intention to hold three auctions a year, the first about next March.

The opening of a Canadian fur market is a natural development of artificial breeding and fur ranching. This industry is fairly general throughout Canada, and in Prince Edward Island the industry which has been in operation for more than thirty years, has assumed very important proportions. In 1914 there were in the island no less than 250 fox ranches with nearly 4,600 foxes.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FLU

Dr. Copeland, Commissioner of Public Health for New York City, has issued the following appeal in connection with the outbreak of influenza:

To Nurses—The city is suffering from a lack of nurses. Please volunteer for service at $6 a day or 75c. a hour. Persons with practical experience in nursing will be paid $4 a day or 50c. an hour.

To Physicians—Whenever it may be done safely, please urge your patients not to demand a trained nurse. Leave every trained nurse possible for work among the poor.

To clergymen—Advise your congregations about dangers from coughing or sneezing without covering the face with a handkerchief. Persons who find it impossible to refrain from coughing or sneezing should remain at home. Tell the congregation to avoid fear and to practice the ordinary rules of the simple life.

To the public—Observe the rules of simple living. If feverish or otherwise ill, go to bed and call a physician. The ill should not come in contact with the well.
