

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

WOMEN IN THE NEWS.

How Lady Astor Started the 'Ouse—Princess Pat's Baby Gets Home. Made Name.

Lady Astor, the American woman, now a Commoner, gave the Britons a new slant on the Yankee female celerity of thought and directness of tongue the other day when with three shrill words she jabbed the fine verba balloon of Sir Arthur Steel Maitland, in the 'Ouse. Sir Arthur's climax was a bird. After blistering the Premier, his works and his government, he bellowed: "Does anyone think that the Premier lies awake and passes sleepless nights in order to study out measures to make the pound sterling worth 20 shilling?" and he banged his desk and glared. Silence fairly sizzled. Lady Astor killed his dream. Up she piped "Yes, I do!" Then came the roar and a perfectly good speech went flat and stale.

Princess Pat, whose husband is a Ramsey of bluer blood than anything south of the Tweed, as a genteel run-in with Queen Mary and other cousins, aunts and his folks over naming that wonderful baby boy of hers, who isn't bottle-fed, either. The Princess has what is known as fixity of purpose and when the boy came all the folks wanted to see him and be his godfather and gold-cup buyer. Its daddy's name is Alexander, a cognomen occasionally applied to a Scotch kid. Its mother waited until the tumult and the shouting died and then calmly announced that she was quite able to name her own boy and told them he would be christened on Feb. 28 as Alexander Arthur Alphonso Maule Ramsey, after his father and grandfather. British papers applaud the lady's independence of thought.

Mrs. E. R. Thomes, the one who paddles her own canoe and is one of the real leaders of society in New York and Palm Beach, has given the climbers a jolt by publishing "Tales of Palm Beach and Florida," and while no names are given outright, the popular pastime of wondering who she means has displaced some other indoor amusements or trying to win the limerick prize offered by the Palm Nut. Mrs. Thomes insists that the clever stories are fiction, wholly, but the consensus of opinion is that truth is mighty and is prevailing.

Miss Amy O'Connor of New York and London, known on the stage as "The Irish Rose," who sued Allen Gray, the aged millionaire, for half a million for breach of promise, was given $10,000 by the jury last night. She is 26 and has a suit for $100,000 pending against the elderly sweetum's brother for alienation.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FLU

Dr. Copeland, Commissioner of Public Health for New York City, has issued the following appeal in connection with the outbreak of influenza:

To Nurses—The city is suffering from lack of nurses. Please volunteer for service at $6 a day or 75c. a hour. Persons with practical experience in nursing will be paid $4 a day or 50c. an hour.

To physicians—Whenever it may be done safely, please urge your patients not to demand a trained nurse. Leave every trained nurse possible for work among the poor.

To clergymen—Advise your congregations about dangers from coughing or sneezing without covering the face with a handkerchief. Persons who find it impossible to refrain from coughing or sneezing should remain at home. Tell the congregation to avoid fear and to practice the ordinary rules of the simple life.

To the public—Observe the rules of simple living. If feverish or otherwise ill, go to bed and call a physician. The ill should not come in contact with the well.

AN EXPECTATION.

That the worm will turn
Is not surprising
Rather it is to be expected.
Considering his nature
And inherent tendencies.
But why in blazes
When he does turn—
If we may mix a metaphor—
Doesn't he stick out his hand?

SICK HEADACHES

For Last 10 Years.

Headaches affect all ages and both sexes alike, but in all cases the treatment should be directed to remove the cause, for with the cause removed the headaches vanish for all time.

What is necessary for a permanent cure is something that will go right to the seat of the trouble. For this purpose it is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of all description than Burdock Blood Bitters, acting as it does on every organ of the body to strengthen, purify and regulate the whole system.

Mrs. Flora Hall, Dominion, N. S., writes:—"I have been troubled with sick headaches for the last ten years. I had lost faith in all remedies until recently a friend of mine advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. This I did, and found relief in a very short time. I would now recommend B. B. B. to anyone who is suffering as I did. I only took 3 bottles, and am never troubled with sick headaches any more."

B. B. B. has been on the market for over 40 years. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BATTLE OVER DAYLIGHT SAVING

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 21.—City folk and organized labor battled against the farmers today over the repeal of the daylight saving law at a hearing before the Assembly Committee on Agriculture, and in the end it was predicted that the farmers would win.

They refused to be mollified by the promises of the secretary of the Daylight Saving Committee, that arrangements would be made with the railroads to run milk trains on their present schedule.

ENOCH ARDEN GETS DIVORCE

New York, Feb. 21.—Although gassed, wounded and left for dead on the battlefield, John C. Ries, of Brooklyn, who served in the 77th Division, suffered even another misfortune when he returned from France a few short months ago to find that his wife, Mrs. Catherine Thorn Ries, misled by the false report in the official casualty list that her husband had been killed, had married another man. She was living with Harry Holmquist in Brooklyn, whom she had married nearly a year ago. So Ries asked the courts to assist him.

Supreme Court Justice Kelly gave Ries a decree of absolute divorce. The former soldier said he was satisfied his wife believed he was dead.

Baby Bear is Afraid of People

The smooth, hard, dustless road wound about through the sylvan depths of giant ferns and mighty timbers in a district round Spirit Lake, Vancouver Island. Far away a smoke smudge on the blue above the heaving ocean showed where a Canadian Pacific passenger liner was ploughing the heaving Pacific bound for the Orient. On the right Spirit Lake gleamed in the bright sun. There was a gentle rustling in the darkness of the undergrowth, the ferns swayed gently. Then there came a sound of scratching and clawing, and finally the head of a three-months' cub rose alongside a great Douglas fir bole. As he cleared the ferns he paused and glanced eagerly about. He sought sight of his mother, who was so wrapped up in some luscious salmon berries that she had forgotten him. Higher and higher he climbed, widening his scope of view. Then came a terrible sound that paralyzed him where he clung to the ragged bark. It was the raucous challenge of a motor horn. Hugging the tree tightly he hoped to be overlooked. On the smooth road a few yards away there rolled into sight a terrible engine carrying ladies and gentlemen. He held his breath and hoped more strongly. But sharp eyes were peering every way from under the auto canopy and a scream of pleased excitement showed that feminine eyes had spied him. He hunched himself closer and bent his head on his shoulder to watch the awful creatures in the big iron animal that always had such a bad breath. A man crashed through the ferns and pointed a black box at him. The cub darted high in the branches of the towering fir.

Baby Bear Watches an Automobile and Its Occupants From His Perch On a Fir Tree.

The bad-breathing iron animal then grunted several times and crawled swiftly away, and down from him all over in solicitude while he the dizzy heights the baby bear hastened his painful backward climb. Arriving at the base he found an anxious mother who had remembered her forgotten material.
