A TYPICAL TORY

From an editorial in The Manitoba Free Press of Saturday last it would appear that Mr. Meighen, by his Stirling speech, has put himself beyond hope of support from Manitoba's Liberal Unionists. The Free Press says in part:

"The typically Tory attitude towards change is that it must not be conceded in times of unrest, since to do so would be to open the gates to revolution; while in the absence of unrest it is held that there is no need for change. Thus by a neat mental formula, things as they are become sacro-sanct and hoary with age, and from the sacrilegious hand of the reformer. By what he said, and even more by what he did not say, Mr. Meighen appeared to reveal himself as largely sympathetic to this conception of government. If this does him injustice the injustice has been dealt him by himself. This is not a time for stand-pat policies any more than it is for the application of revolutionary theories. It would be difficult to say which policy, if applied, would be most detrimental to the Canadian nation. Rather is it a time for statesmen

"Who know the seasons, when to take

Occasion by the hand, and make The bounds of freedom wider yet." Change, considered change, not breaking violently with the past, but fronting morroward, is a national necessity; and it must come mainly through the Parliament and Government of Canada. Opportunity has offered the leadership in the Liberal movement to Mr. Meighen. He appears to have rejected it upon the honest and understandable ground that he is alien to liberal sentiments and deems them dangerous to the State. If this be the case Opportunity must move along the highway and rap at other doors."

Saskatchewan and Alberta are likely to reject the Meighen philosophy even more emphatically than Manitoba. British Columbia alone in the West gives signs of rallying to the Meighen type of Toryism.

The New York Journal of Commerce reports the sugar market to be in a chaotic condition. An immense quantity of raw sugar has arrived from Cuba and Porto Rico and it is difficult to get bids for it. One man offered 9½ cents but afterwards withdrew the bid. In refined sugar the demand continues poor and no further price changes are reported. Second hand offerings have been pretty well cleaned up at 16 cents, less 2 per cent.

San Francisco Chronicle: It's remarkable how many city-bred, educated, pretty girls, who have held down jobs in your San Francisco, have returned to the "ranch" because they like to take care of the baby even, if it is their mother's baby, and because they like to get up early in the morning, not to go to an office, but to bake a few cakes, a roast and a few loaves of bread.

L. E. Wambolt, Lunenburg, publishes the following adv.:—"I have two telephones, one at my place of business and another at my house. I pay for them, but have the annoyance of many parties who have not a telephone coming and using mine, and sometimes 'phone to outlying places and go away, which is charged to me. I give this notice that I will not allow it any longer."

The federal election in Colchester, N. S. where Hon. F. B. McCurdy is seeking reelection, promises to be a keen one. Capt. Dickson the United Farmers candidate is a returned soldier as well as a successful farmer. At the recent provincial election the constituency returned two farmer candidates and it is believed that Capt. Dickson stands a good chance of winning.

The Labor problem is no problem at all to Carl Paulson, who just arrived at New York from Copenhagen with his wife and fifteen children to operate a farm in Minnesota. He explained that if he couldn't get the work done with this force, he'd send home for reserves—two married daughters and three married sons, and nine grandchildren.

Gloucestershire Yeomanry had the finest physique of any soldiers in the world, not excepting the household troops of Emperors and Kings, said General Sir Ian Hamilton at the unveiling of a war memorial at Winchcombe, Gloucester.

Six boys, from 10 to 13 years old, were found guilty of robbing fruit trees at West Orange, N. J. The judge called their parents in: "Send these boys to bed every night at 6.30 o'clock for 30 days," he said "and give each of them a big dose of castor oil."

The corporation of Dublin is to consider a proposal to abolish street names of English origin such as "Queen's square," "Towusend street," and "Brunswick street," in favor of the names of leading Sinn Feiners.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Most any crowd of girls possesses enough originality to find an excuse for organizing a club.

Society people make as much fuss about getting married as theatrical people do about getting a divorce.

Lima Beane thinks the guilty man can't have much respect for the jury that acquits him.

Trotzky was not in favor of compulsory labor until he got his feet on the official upholstery in Petrograd.

When a person announces he would't be seen riding in a flivver it's a sure thing that he can't afford to buy one.

"A slow mind and a hair-trigger mouth," remarked the Man on the Car, "make a dangerous weapon."

Many girls now think eyeglasses so nifty looking that they can't resist the temptation to have weak eyes.

A boy doesn't pay much attention to porch swings until after he gets into his first pair of long pants and begins to realize his chums have sisters.

Automobile drivers have made pedestrians at street crossings quake in their boots but they haven't been able yet to frighten the trains at railroad crossings.

Some of us are so old that we remember back to the time when a campaign orator talked so well and so earnestly that his hearers got the impression that he meant what he said.

Rum Runners

In the recent rum running case tried at St. Stephen, Mrs. Mary Haley the Milltown vendor to whom the booze was consigned was fined $100 and costs. It will be remembered that the wet goods were signed from one vendor in St. John to Mrs. Haley in Milltown, with the probable intention of slipping them across the border into the United States. The St. John end of the affair has not yet been dealt with.

Child Taken to St. John

Leo Hayes, Devon Town Constable returned on Saturday evening from St. John where he had taken a four year old girl from Devon. The child was placed in the Home of the Good Shepherd. One man was tried before Magistrate William Jaffrey on a charge of speeding and was fined $2.00 and costs.

Women's Institute

Miss Hazel McCain, Supervisor of the New Brunswick Women's Institute is leaving for St. John tomorrow to complete preparation for the W. I. exhibit at the St. John Exhibition.

Hen Thieves Busy

Hen thieves have been getting in their work at Nashwaaksis during the last week. The poultry yards of Mr. Lloyd B. Johnson were broken into and several fine White Wyandotte Cockerels were stolen. The same night Mr. Joseph Ellick lost a couple of birds.

Car Parties.

The following car parties arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, are registered at the different hotels:—Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Coll and Miss Coll of Minto, E. S. Carter and W. J. McQuade of St. John and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Thattford and Miss Thattford of Montreal at the Queen, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murray and Pickard Barr, of Duxbury, Mass., at the Barker House, Mrs. S. B. Bustin, the Misses Marion and Goodwin Bustin and Miss Burns of St. John at Windsor Hall.

Health Defies Exposure

Jas. Coulton, a gamekeeper, of Southport, Eng., was confined to his bed with an attack of partial paralysis and softening of the brain. After he had lost hope of recovery, he was told of the Hawker Remedies, and induced to try them. After taking four bottles of

TIMBER DUES FOR QUEBEC LANDS

(Quebec Telegraph)

The following information was given out at the Parliament Buildings this morning in connection with the new dues for cutting of timber on the Quebec Crown Lands.

"The Honorable Minister of Lands and Forests, in a report dated August 19, 1920, states that it would be proper to rescind order in council, No. 765, dated June 12, 1918, which amended the order in council No. 295 dated April 26, 1910, and also the latter. He therefore recommended that from the 1st of September, this year, the following tariff of dues for the cutting of timber on Crown Lands under license be adopted and put into force:

1. On all square lumber or flats.
  - A. White pine, oak, carya and walnut, 15 cents per cubic foot.
  - B. Red pine, elm, ash, cedar, white wood or linden, wild cherry, maple and tamarac, 12 cents per cubic foot.
  - C. Fir and North American fir, grey pine or cypress, spruce, birch, aspen and poplar, 10 cents per cubic foot.
2. Sawed logs or bark and large timbers, and rough heavy timber:
  - A. White pine, oak, carya and walnut, $5.00 per 1000 feet.
  - B. Red pine, elm, ash, white wood or linden, wild cherry, maple and tamarac, $3.50 per 1000 feet.
  - C. Fir, North American fir, grey pine or cypress, spruce, birch, aspen, poplar or cedar, $2.70 per 1000 feet.
3. Poles of more than 18 feet and not exceeding 10 inches in diameter at the thin end.
  - A. 30 feet or less in length, 0.75 cents each.
  - B. 30 to 40 feet, $1.50 each.
  - C. 40 to 50 feet, $3.00 each.
  - D. 50 feet or more, $6.00 each.
4. Railway ties of not more than 90 feet, 0.15 cents each.
5. Other articles of value, 15 p. c. ad valorem.

LOCAL SUGAR SITUATION

So far this week there has been no change locally in the sugar situation. The wholesale price is 22 cents a pound and most of the retailers are handing out 4½ pounds for a dollar. It is believed that a further reduction in the price will occur soon.

It is learned that local wholesalers have more sugar on hand than is usual at this season of the year. This is partly due to the fact that preserving was not carried on as extensively this season as in former years. Another factor is that last winter when the price was steadily advancing many householders stocked up heavily with sugar and did not require to make further purchases when the preserving season was on. Now that prices once more show a downward trend there will be object in householders hoarding sugar at the expense of their less fortunately neighbors.

The enormous grain crop this year is likely to be the means of bringing about a considerable reduction in the price of flour and feeds, a reduction which will be very heartily welcomed.
