SOVIET MONEY BACKING THE SINN FEIN

(Boston Globe, Monday.)

"Propaganda calculated to create and nourish ill-feeling in this country against Great Britain and perhaps lead eventually to war between those two Nations, is financed from Petrograd and Moscow," Rev. William Harman van Allen charged last evening in his regular Friday night talk to his parishioners at the Church of the Advent.

He also charged that Sinn Fein activities in Ireland have been supported in part by the money of Lenin and Trotsky.

After asserting that such propaganda is circulated "even by Christian ministers," he added: "Any man or woman who would bring about war between the United States and Great Britain is a criminal so great as to be unmatched in the annals of crime." He then accused the Sinn Fein and its sympathizers in this country with trying to obtain through such a war what they failed to secure through Prussianism during the World War."

Calling attention to the great preponderance of the yellow, brown and black races over the representatives of white civilization in the world, Dr. van Allen declared that it behooves all peoples having Christian civilization to stand solidly together for mutual protection against any attempt of the Mahometan races to get supremacy.

"As long as this country remains outside the League of Nations," said he, "the supremacy of the Christian

The speaker urged his listeners to join one of two organizations in order to keep alive the spirit of cordial friendship between Americans and the British and to prevent war between them. They were the English-Speaking Union, of which William H. Taft is president, and the American-British Federation.

Special to Daily Mail. Copyright 1920 by Cross Atlantic News Service. (Lydia Kingsmill Commander)

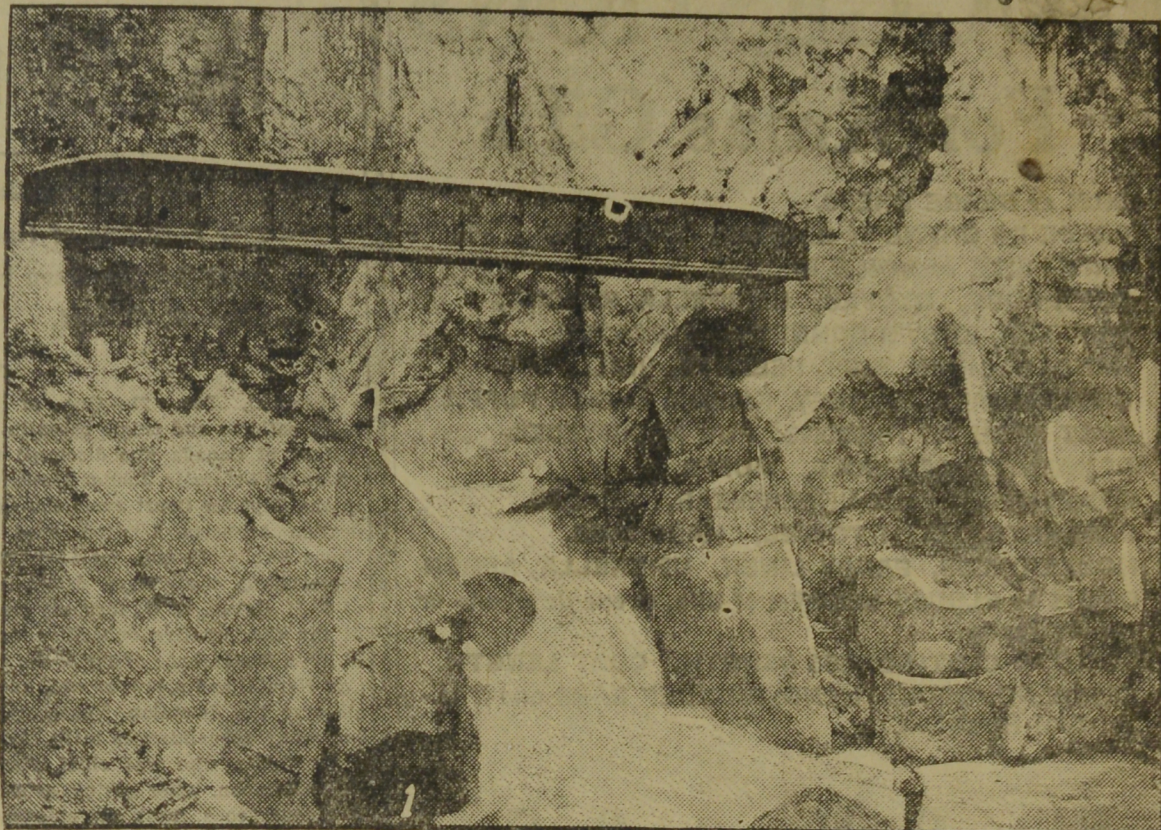

London Dec. 11—Prices are falling and great hopes are entertained of seeing Old H. C. L. pass off the stage of fashion early in the coming year. Tea shops and restaurants are already reducing by a few cents certain of their dishes. Steak and kidney pie, an English standby, has dropped from 22 cents to 18. Sausage and mashed potatoes are 20 cents instead of 22. Tapioca pudding has gone from 8 cents to 6. Wholesale prices of meats have fallen. There has also been a drop in prices of canned fruits, rice, corn starch, beans, peas and syrup.

Nothing prices are moderating week by week. Coats and skirts which last year cost $60 to $70 are now $35 to $45. A short time ago a good pair of low shoes could not be got under $15, and a common pair cost $7.50. A really fine shoe cost anywhere up to $40. Evening slippers were from $15 to $25 and high shoes, laced or buttoned, ranged from $20 to $50. Men's footwear was in proportion. Even shoes for a child of two cost from $3 to $5. Today six shops on the Strand are offering boots and shoes at standard prices varying from $7.50 to $43.7. One shop is filled with men's boots of many good makes formerly $18 to $40 and now offered at the uniform price of $7.50. There are two $5 shops and one $4.37 shop.

In Leeds, Yorkshire there is a keen cutting of prices in men's and women's suits and shoes. Some first-class tailors are offering to make suits for $33 which is $10 less than three months ago. Well made shoes are offered for $5 to $7 a pair. In Sheffield foodstuffs and clothing remain high, but shoes have fallen 25 per cent. Birmingham Liverpool, and Leicester show bargains in shoes, hosiery, and underwear. In Glasgow shoes at $4.75, $5.00 and $5.25 are being advertised in a bargain sale, and a well known firm is offering heavy winter overcoats at $12.50 and men's ready made suits at $15.

Through the Kettle Valley

Southern British Columbia, with its placid lakes that mirror fruitful shores, the orchards of the Okanagan Valley, the Grand Forks Valley and a country, rich in mineral and forest wealth, are made accessible by the Kettle Valley railway which links a vast extent of British Columbia with the Pacific Coast through a route of rare scenic beauty. At the southern end are linked the Kootenay and Arrow lakes, the route offering all the charm of mountain, lake, river, cataract, ravine and soft and rounded landscape of cultivated slopes.

Leaving the junction at Hope, you travel through nature's wonderland of snow-capped mountains with evidence of man's science in the Quintal Tunnels, a series of five tunnels in a direct line with the Coquihalla river, spanned by steel bridges, zigzagging between each of the tunnels. The rushing streams and innumerable waterfalls everywhere speak of the marvellous water power awaiting to be harnessed for man's needs. Winding up to the Coquihalla Summit, 3,300 feet above sea level, the line passes through the towns of Othello, Lear, Jessica, Portia, Iago, Romeo, Juliet, following the Shakespearean tradition.

Princeton, the next spot of interest was a renowned mining town of twenty years ago. It is located at the junction of two mountain streams, Similkameen, meaning "Swift Flowing Water," and Tulameen (Red Water). The Indian nomenclature, in all its euphony, has been retained and native legends abound. The late Pauline Johnson, Indian poetess in her "Indian Legends" tells of "Red Water," Tulameen, said to be haunted by the spirit of an Indian maiden who gave her life for her lover.

Coalmont Collieries are passed where a tunnel three-quarters of a mile into one seam, gives an almost inexhaustible supply of high grade coal. There are at least ten million tons of coal "blocked out" and ready for mining and shipment.

The town of Jura is another interesting point, as the home of the famous old "Bill Miner," notorious train robber who, as Bill Edwards, was known as a kindly citizen who studied his Bible. He was sent to British Columbia penitentiary in 1903, for twenty years, for holding up a train, and escaped in 1905. He was again heard of as a prisoner in Atlanta, Georgia, where he died in the State penitentiary.

Skirting the orchard covered benches, the valley is unfolded where nestles the town of Princeton at the foot of Okanagan Lake. Viewed from the hills, golden in the sunshine, it seemed the desired resort, shine, it is a resort desirable in summer and has proved as attractive in winter.

Beyond Princeton, the Kelowna Valley comes into view, with orchard covered slopes, giving a picture of settled prosperity. Ascending to the Kettle Summit, an altitude of 4,200 feet is reached, giving a vista of ravines, silvery streams and valleys packed with purple bloom. The Kettle river drains an area of 4,260 square miles and is 170 miles long. There is a considerable area of good ranch lands, suitable for agriculture, while portions are heavily timbered and lumbering is an important industry. The total drive of one year on the Kettle and its tributaries, exceeded twenty million feet.

SPITBALL FOR OLD PITCHERS AND NOT NEW

The American League magnates were back in their old fighting form at the meeting of the League here to elect the 1921 board of directors, and Colonel Rupert of the Yankees, one of the opponents of Ban Johnson refused to accept a place on the directorate to which he was elected. The Rupert-Frazee-Comiskey contingent claimed the rest of the clubs were freezing them out by electing Phil Ball, of the Browns, Clark Griffiths of the Senators, Jim Dunne of the Indians and Rupert to the board, which left them with only one friend, to wit Ruppert, on the directorate.

The upshot of it was that Frank Shibe of the Athletics was elected to Ruppert's place, making the board an all-freeze-out body, in the eyes of the "outs."

Ban Johnson asked the league to pay his personal league all expenses in the fighting of the Carl May's case, and Ruppert protested on behalf of himself and Frazee, contending that, if the league stood this cost he and Frazee, the plaintiffs in these suits, would be paying one-fourth of the defendant's costs. Decision on this was postponed until the February meeting. The league season begin on April 13.

It was decided to permit such spitball pitchers as have been heaving the humid ball in the league, notably Covalleskie of the Indians, and Jack Quinn, of the Yanks, to continue to use it as long as they last in the big time, but to forbid it to newcomers.

Walter Kaufman and Norvin Lindheim were sentenced to prison terms of one year and one day each in federal court here today on conviction for conspiring to withhold from the United States government knowledge of the German ownership of the newspaper during part of the war.

Dr. Rumely and his co-defendants, who are both New York attorneys, were found guilty by a jury on Saturday of having failed to report to the alien property custodian a debt of $1,451,700 to the imperial German government.
