Vera Stedman and Marvel Rae, two of the girls who used to be featured as bathing girls and stage beauties in Mack Sennett comedies, have been advanced to stardom and hereafter will be seen in two-reel comedies produced by Jack White, the noted comedy director.

Madlaine Traverse, who has just completed "The Iron Heart," returns in this photoplay to the role of soc iety woman and again wears some startling gowns. Miss Eileen Percy, leading woman for William Russell in "Leave it to Me," which has just been completed has posed for Philip Boileau, Charles Dana Gibson and Howard Chandler Christy at various times.

"The Fly Cop," is the title of Larry Semon's new comedy to follow "The Grocery Clerk." Lucille Carlisle again appears as Larry Semon's leading woman, taking the part of a caparet queen in a palatial underground Chinese cabaret.
