LIBERALS AND THE TARIFF

Some newspaper supporters of Union Government seem to have become excited over the fiscal position of Liberalism. The Ottawa Journal argues that the Liberals have no fiscal policy and are divided on the question of the tariff. Other Tory organs, big and little, express similar opinions. In reply to Tory misrepresentation, it is only necessary to quote the following from the Liberal platform adopted at the great national convention at Ottawa in August last:

"That the best interests of Canada demand that substantial reductions of the burdens of custom, taxation be made with a view to the accomplishing of two purposes of the highest importance. First, diminishing the very high cost of living, which presses so severely on the masses of the people; second, reducing the cost of the instruments of production in the industries based on the natural resources of the Dominion, the vigorous development of which is essential to the progress and prosperity of our country.

"That, to these ends, wheat, wheat flour, and all products of wheat, the principal articles of food, farm implements and machinery, farm tractors, mining, flour and sawmill machinery, illuminating, lubricating, and fuel oils, nets, net twines, and fishermen's equipments, cements and fertilizers, should be free from customs duties, as well as the raw material entering into the same.

"That a revision downward of the tariff should be made whereby substantial reductions should be effected in the duties on wearing apparel and footwear, and on other articles of general consumption (other than luxuries), as well as on the raw material entering into the manufacture of the same.

"That the British preference be increased to 50 per cent. of the general tariff.

"And the Liberal party hereby pledges itself to implement by legislation the provisions of this resolution when returned to power."

As the Ottawa citizen well puts it, this is not free trade but a policy of tariff revision plus a free list.

Hon Mr. Dugal in an able speech in the Legislature last week managed to get in some keen thrusts at the opposition. In referring to the deficit of last year he commanded the Provincial Secretary Treasurer for having made a frank acknowledgement of the same. "It was not necessary," said Hon. Mr. Dugal for him to keep the books open for two months after the close of the fiscal year to find some means of covering it up, as was the practice in the past, particularly in 1914." The old government in 1914 after keeping the books of the province open for two months had to discount a note in order to cover up a deficit.

It is understood that the civic tax rate this year will be in the vicinity of $2.65 per $100. This is a pretty stiff rate and will be the cause of a lot of grumbling but after all what's the use. The cost of living and the cost of dying have both more than doubled in price in the last few years and how can the tax rate be expected to remain stationary? The world will go along and leave behind any city or town that does not make some effort to keep abreast of the times.

The citizens who visited the Fredericton market on Saturday were given a pretty good object lesson on the increased cost of living. Five years ago a person could have purchased in the market for $3 one barrel of potatoes three pounds of butter, two dozen eggs and two bottles of maple honey. On Saturday the same quantity of these commodities would have cost exactly $13.85, an increase of over 450 per cent.

Toronto Globe: The Supreme Court at Ottawa holds that newsprint is not a necessity of life in the sense that it is necessary to the physical life of the individual, which is the equivalent of saying that the stomach performs a more important service than the brain. The average man will continue to regard the newspaper as a necessity, despite the court's findings

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

What has become of the old-fashioned "for rent" sign?

Farming is lots of fun—unless you have to do it for a living.

When a woman has a homely figure other women do this much for her—they admit she doesn't pad any.

Annoyance from the rooster's early morning crow is balanced by the return of the hen's noonday cackle.

Nothing tones up a man's vanity like a helpless, extravagant wife; and nothing softens his backbone like an efficient, unselfish one.

A woman-hater is a man who has spent his whole life in "eating his cake," and is suffering from chronic sentimental indigestion.

Yes, Alfred rolling the rugs back to dance, during courtship, is far different from taking them to beat, after marriage.

The amazing thing about the old suits one digs out of the attic these days is the fine quality and soft feel of the material.

Cost of living wouldn't seem much now either, if people were content with rag carpets and one suit of Sunday clothes once in five years.

Home is the place where you have all the little comforts and conveniences—and never can find them; lots of closet room—but somebody else takes all the hooks; and the privilege of doing as you please—and nobody will let you!

NEW THINGS TO MAKE.

One of the charming bits of needlework—and not a very little bit either—that a woman with a knack for sewing may make is this: a quilted bedspread. It will be especially attractive for the summer cottage bedroom, and curtains and bureau covers may be made to match it. Now it isn't an old-fashioned quilt, lovely as this would be. It is a spread made of linen or some heavy cotton material with a design cut out of colored fabric and quilted on the spread. It is made in the same way that, a few years ago we made cushions and crib covers for children. The new spreads show more sophisticated designs than we used then—flowers and fruit, instead of bunnies and babies. But otherwise the work is much the same.

A little daughter of John C. Smith of Regent Street had a narrow escape from drowning in the so called Back Drain Friday last. The little girl was trying to see how deep she could wade with rubber boots. The drain which is really a brook deepens rapidly and the child in an instant found herself in water deeper than her mouth. A man happened to be passing by at the time and pulled the child out saving her life.
