THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

The Speech from the Throne delivered at the opening of the Legislature this afternoon is a meaty document which deals in a businesslike way with matters in which the people are vitally interested and forecasts an ambitious program of useful legislation. Such a presentment is in every way worthy of a government the members of which for three years have given the province honest and faithful service, lifted it out of the slough of despond and given it a splendid start on the road to real development and prosperity. The old hackneyed phrase "remarkable for what it does not contain," cannot by any stretch of the imagination be made applicable to the speech of His Honor, and the average man who reads it is bound to be impressed by the array of facts presented on the growth of our two greatest industries, and he is certain to derive from the same source additional cause for pride in being a citizen of a province which has made such a highly satisfactory showing.

It is but natural that the speech should pay tribute to the work of the farmers of the province in the matter of greater production. Despite the scarcity of suitable farm labor, there has been a remarkable increase in all field crops and dairy-products as well as steady development in the live stock industry. The men who till the soil will welcome the announcement that the Agricultural Department so ably presided over by Hon. Mr. Tweeddale, has arranged to supply ground limestone at cost for fertilizer purposes. He has made a satisfactory arrangement with the railways to transport the same, and expects to have a supply available during the coming season.

We are told by His Honor's speech that the lumber cut of 1919-20 reached normal proportions and that the territorial revenue was the largest in the history of the province. The government and the newly created Forestry Advisory Board, through which the public domain is administered, are thoroughly alive to the importance of conservation and will see to it that our greatest asset is duly safeguarded for the future.

The speech refers in felicitous terms to the visit to the province during recess of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Devonshire. The completion of the Valley Railway to St. John is referred to and the announcement is made that the government, by refunding securities held in Great Britain was able to make a substantial deduction in the liability incurred on account of this road. Another paragraph refers to the long-standing claim of the province against the Federal government, and His Honor's address gives assurance that the province will protest against any division of natural resources until the claims of the original partners of Confederation are given most earnest consideration. Dealing with the subject of permanent roads legislation is forecasted to enable the province to take advantage of an agreement lately entered into with the Ottawa authorities for Federal assistance.

Water power development is the subject of a paragraph which sets forth that the report of a commission which has been looking into the matter will be laid before the House and a bill for power development will be brought down. A report from the commission which has been investigating the important subject of teachers' salaries is to be submitted to the House and favorable consideration is promised to any recommendations which may be made.

Other matters referred to in His Honor's speech include the extension of the franchise to women, the Workmen's Compensation Act and the Intoxicating Liquor Act. In connection with the latter the intimation is given that a plebiscite will be taken during the present year in order that the people may have an opportunity of retaining or rejecting the Act.

With such an excellent program outlined, the session promises to be a very important one and the proceedings will be followed by the public with more than ordinary interest. The province is most fortunate in these days of unrest and unsettled economic conditions to have in control of its affairs a set of men who have the courage to correct as far as it lies in their power the mistakes of the past and grapple in an earnest and businesslike way with the huge problems of the present day.

BONDS RETIRED

It must have been pleasing to His Honor the Lieutenant Governor to be able to make the announcement today in the Speech from the Throne that the bonds of the International Railway guaranteed by the province to the extent of $896,000, had been paid off and retired during the recess. His Honor was a member of the administration which some years ago guaranteed the bonds of the International a line of railway extending from Campbellton to St. Leonards. He then expressed the greatest confidence in the future of the enterprise and assured the opponents of the then government that the province was taking no risk in guaranteeing the bonds of the company, and would never be called upon to pay one dollar of the liability. The cancellation of the bonds shows that his feeling of optimism was amply justified. Much water will have flowed down the St. John River before some future chief executive will be able to stand up and announce the cancellation of the bonds of some of the railways guaranteed by the government which held office from 1908 until 1917.

 THROUGH OUR SIEVE **

The larger a man's brains the less vain he is of them.

How much worry the things that never happen cause us!

Some men are so neat in their dress they even roll up their shirt sleeves artistically.

There'll be trouble all right when the snow melts—yet it can't melt too soon to suit us.

Nothing makes a man who's "vrm" madder than to find he's married a woman who's "obstinate."

Sympathize with but never lend any money to the man with a wife who asks, "Haven't you anything more expensive?"

It's easy to convince a woman that her photograph that flatters her is a better likeness than that which she sees reflected in the mirror.

There are about as many varieties of washing machines on the market as there are phonographs. Why not effect a general combination and supply washing machines that play soothing and uplifting music while scrubbing the duds.

SUICIDE BY HANGING AT THE JUNCTION

FRED GORMAN OF DEVON, WAR VET., DERANGED

Unfortunate Young Man Had Made Previous Attempt on His Life—Inquest Friday Morning.

Frederick Gorman of Devon committed suicide by hanging at Fredericton Junction last night. The young man was a returned soldier whose mental condition was seriously affected by the rigors of service in France.

Arrived Yesterday

Yesterday Gorman arrived in Fredericton Junction and registered at the Canadian House which is exactly opposite the C. P. R. station. He took a room at the eastern end of the hotel. About seven o'clock this morning passersby were horrified to see the lifeless body of a man dangling from the window. The unfortunate young man had tied a rope to an article within the room and placing a noose about his neck had leaped from the window.

John Murphy, coroner for that section of Sunbury County, lives several miles from Fredericton Junction. Being under the impression that the body should not be touched until the arrival of the coroner the people of the place allowed it to remain there for several hours. Coroner Murphy empanelled a jury and viewed the body. An inquest will be held Friday morning.

Previous Attempt

This is not the first attempt to end his life which was made by the deceased. Last December he jumped from a wharf into the harbor at St. John. He was rescued and later returned to his home in Devon. At a later date he was sent to the Provincial Hospital for treatment by the military authorities; he being a patient under the D. S. C. R. at the military hospital here. Some time after that he returned to his home.

Sympathy for Relatives

There is marked sympathy for the bereaved relatives. The deceased was a son of William A. Gorman of Devon who survives. There also are two brothers Herbert and Walter and one sister Miss Charlotte Gorman who is teaching school.

The deceased went overseas with the 55th Battalion. He was wounded in one of his arms while on service in France.

Some days ago he left his home saying he was going to Moncton.

"61" FLOOR VARNISH

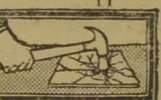

TEST IT WITH A HAMMER

Hammer a Sheet of Rubber—And What Happens?

NOTHING—your hammer leaves no impression—why? Because rubber is elastic. And it is the elasticity of "61" Floor Varnish that makes its life so long. This elasticity, which resists the hammer test, also resists the countless heel-blows every floor receives.

Hammer a Sheet of Glass—And What Happens?

WRECKAGE—the glass is shattered into a thousand pieces—why? Because glass is brittle. And this same thing in a lesser degree, is exactly what happens to countless floors finished with ordinary varnishes which crack, craze, check, chip off and mar white.

"61"

Floor Varnish

is neither brittle nor sticky—IT IS TOUGH.

"61" Floor Varnish is tough—so tough that the wood may dent but the varnish will not crack.

"61" Floor Varnish is thoroughly waterproof, and is the most durable and lasting floor varnish that is on the market.

"61" Floor Varnish can also be used for all kinds of woodwork, either for inside or outside, and will stand all kinds of weather.
