REWARD OF $50,000 OFFERED FOR ARREST AND CONVICTION OF WALL STREET BOMB PLOTTERS

WORLD WIDE SEARCH TO BE INSTITUTED

Burns Detective Agency is Interested in the Case—Offer of Reward will be Widely Advertised—Some Speculation as to the Identity of Those Who are Putting Up the Money.

New York, Nov. 25.—The Wall Street bomb mystery with its toll of death and destruction was forced into prominence again yesterday when persons who chose to remain unidentified caused a private detective agency to offer a reward of $50,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the plotters. Circulars and advertisements offering the reward will be published in every part of the world. At the same time the William J. Burns Detective Agency, through which the reward is offered, undertook a world-wide search. The offer was surrounded with mystery which the Burns agency refused to clear.

With the offer of the reward it was evident that whoever is putting up the big sum is launching an expensive campaign to give it wide prominence. The advertising columns of newspapers are said to be used in connection with handbills and pamphlets, it was stated by Sherman Burns, one of the agency representatives.

The bomb was exploded at noon on September 16. Thirty-nine persons lost their lives and three times that number suffered injury. Property loss was estimated to reach into the millions.

The circulars, copies of which were placed in the mails yesterday, read:

"$50,000 Reward for evidence given to this agency exclusively prior to February 1st, 1921, which will lead to the arrest and conviction of the persons responsible for the explosion at Wall Street, near Broad Street, New York City, September 16, 1920.

"A portion of the above reward will be paid for information furnished the undersigned exclusively on any of the following points:

"1. The identity of the driver of the wagon hauling the explosive.
"2. The identity of the ownership of the horse and wagon.

"3. The identity of the person or persons who manufactured the bomb.

"4. Facts that will materially aid in disclosing the identity of any individual implicated in this crime."

Signed by The William J. Burns International Detective Agency, Inc., 770 Woolworth Building, New York.

Speculation as to who is offering the reward failed to solve the mystery. It was believed that it might be the relatives of one of the men or women who lost their lives in the blast. Equal emphasis was placed on the suggestion that one of the banking firms in the district, such as J. P. Morgan & Co., might have employed the detective agency.

HOW TO READ CHARACTER

Special to Daily Mail. Copyright 1920 by Cross Atlantic News Service.

London, Nov. 25.—"It is important to read character by watching peoples feet," said General Sir Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts, in an address last night at the Women's Efficiency Club. "Watch people's tracks and see how they place their feet," he said. By that method I chose my wife, and she proved to be the best I ever had. Forty three percent of the women tread inside on one foot and outside on the other, which, according to African desert tracker means that they are impulsive and emotional."

BROODING ON TRIAL UNHINGED MAN'S MIND

Singular Happening at Baker Brook, Madawaska County—Perpetrator Confined in Provincial Hosp.

News has been received here of a singular happening at Baker Brook, Madawaska County. It seems to be a sequel of the Edmundston murder case which has aroused so much excitement all over the province.

A resident of Baker Brook named Baker who has for some time not been in possession of his faculties became worse as the St. Pierre trial proceeded and fearing for the safety of his daughter, who was staying at Edmundston sent for her to come home. Dr. Hebert, a cousin, who also has figured as a witness at St. Pierre's trial took her home in his car but did not go in the house. He remained in his car at the roadside talking to his aunt. Miss Baker went on in the house. About ten minutes later Dr. Hebert heard screams and running into the house saw the man choking his daughter and reaching for a large knife. Dr. Hebert seized him and after a short struggle managed to lock him in a room.

Baker was later sent to the Provincial Lunatic Asylum at Fairville.

ENERGY MAKES ENGLISH GIRL SCOUTS TIRED

New York, N. Y., November 25.—Two English Girl Guides on their way to Montreal and an official visit to Canadian Girl Guides dropped in a Girl Scout headquarters yesterday and created a sensation. They were so handsome in the blue serge and silver braid, silk shirts and doggy English gauntlets, the American Girl Scouts, used to serviceable khaki, forgot their manners for a moment just to stare. Then a hand shake (left handed, scout style) ensued and there were introductions all around.

The girls proved to be Miss Gladys Waring divisional commander in Kent and "Lieut." Vera Williams, of Denbighshire, North Wales. They had no official business in America, they confessed, but they just had to stop off to see the Americans and their Girl Scouts before they leave for Montreal in a day or two.

"How do you like us?"
"We like you, but you make us so tired!"

There was a disjoined silence, and then a hasty reparation.

"Oh, say what have I said? I mean you Americans, with your energy, your lights, your thousands of motors—you exhaust us peaceful Welsh and Kentish. One sees where the energy comes from, your air is so fresh and pure, but, dear me, motoring in your streets is like going to the races at home. And everybody here is always going some place! Doesn't anybody stay at home in New York?"

Miss Waring and Miss Williams are going to travel across Canada to the west coast and cross the United States. They will visit Girl Guides all the way along in Canada and perhaps snatch a few more days to see American Girl Scouts when they return to the States. Their families have made them promise to be home by Christmas, and they confess that they want to do their Christmas shopping on Fifth Avenue, before they sail.

BRITISH SCIENTISTS ARE MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR AN IMPORTANT EXPEDITION

Their Object is to Facilitate Transatlantic Aerial and Steamship Traffic as Well as Wireless Communications—Submerged Islands May be Explored—It is Planned to Have Expedition Start in 1922—The United States and Canada are Expected to Help.

(By William G. Butler, staff correspondent of the Daily Mail; by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Exhaustive oceanic and atmospheric investigations for facilitating transatlantic aerial and steamship traffic and transatlantic wireless telephonic and telegraphic communications, and possibly exploration of submerged and other islands in the Pacific ocean, are among the aims of the expedition now being planned by a British association for advancement in science.

The first British Challenger sailed from Portsmouth on the famous three and a half year expedition in December, 1872, and it is now hoped to send a second Challenger on the fiftieth anniversary expedition in 1922. Prof. Kardman, president of the British association, is head of the committee recently appointed to arrange the coming exploration of the oceans in co-operation with the Admiralty and the Overseas Dominions governments.

ATMOSPHERIC CONDITIONS.

At the British Association recently it was stated that when the first expedition was dispatched little or nothing was accomplished regarding oceanic atmospheric conditions as the transatlantic aerial and wireless was undreamt of, but a study of these conditions is one of the principal aims of the proposed expedition. In this connection the closest Canadian and American co-operation is sought. Preparations are already being made for the invention of new and delicate instruments to study not only the atmospheric but the underwater conditions, particularly elevations and currents and regarding the motion of tides, of which it is claimed little is known. Official time tables of British and Canadian and American governments often vary grotesquely. Investigations will be instituted into the habits of deep sea animals with the possibility of discovering hitherto unknown monsters.

AROOSTOOK GETS CALGARY EARL AT OLD GLORY

New York, Nov. 24.—There was no outstanding feature in connection with this morning's sales at the twenty-sixth annual Old Glory Horse Sale at Madison Square Garden. Prices were fair, but nothing was bid over $925.

It was announced that the Canadian bred pacer Calgary Earl, was sold privately to interests at Presque Isle, Me. Neither the price paid nor the new owner's name were divulged.

J. Corbell of Montreal has been a prominent buyer at the sale. Yesterday he purchased four animals.

New York, Nov. 25.—That old favorite of the middleman, "Shortage of labor on the farms," was blamed yesterday for the mounting price of fresh eggs. The retail price has gone recently from $1.10 to $1.39 a dozen.

This is the moulting and loafing season for hens, another reason for the increase. Dealers assert that the cold storage reserve is 2,000,000 cases less this year than last and a severe winter will mean mounting prices of storage eggs. Cold storage eggs now cost from 62 to 79 cents a dozen.

OVERCOATS WERE STOLEN

Chicago, Nov. 25.—To borrow a phrase from the frenzied ad. writer, there was a slaughtering of overcoats on Chicago's North Side today. Four direct actionist price cutters were responsible. Touring the North Side in a black automobile they accosted and divested all overcoat wearers they met.

The "Overcoat Shower" was participated in by twenty-two, who also made involuntary contributions of money and jewelry.

LADY JURORS CONVICTED A DENTIST

New York, Nov. 25.—The first jury of women ever empanelled to try a criminal case in the East made short work of its task yesterday in the Orange District Court before Judge Daniel Dugan, at Orange, N. J. After twenty-two minutes' deliberation the women, headed by Mrs. Everett Colby as foreman, returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Jack Segall, charged with having practised dentistry without a license in the office of his brother, Dr. S. Z. Segall, of 443 Springfield Avenue, Newark. Segall was paroled in the custody of his lawyer, Herman Distler of Newark, until today, when he will pay a fine of $100.

The court room was crowded with spectators when the trial of the case began about 10 o'clock and the usual battalion of moving picture photographers was on hand. The picture makers photographed the jury, the Judge the lawyers and the court attendants. Judge Dugan and the members of the jury good naturedly permitted the photographers to swarm about the court room.

Several witnesses testified they had gone to the dental offices of Jack Segall's brother and that their teeth had been pulled by Segall in the absence of his brother. Among the witnesses was Mrs. Susannah Rahnor of Newark, who testified that Segall pulled several of her teeth. She identified Segall as the man who had used the forceps on her. Segall, in defense denied having seen any of the witnesses before and he denied that he had ever pulled any teeth for any one. On the specific days in question, he contended, he was not in his brother's office, but was driving a produce wagon in Newark.

FIVE DAYS FOR KISSING COP

New York, Nov. 25.—The penalty for a man kissing a cop is five days in the workhouse.

Bursting with indignation Patrolman Terence Harvey of the West Thirtieth street station led Herbert Martin, 27, of 210 West 125th street into Jefferson Market court. He told Magistrate Schwab that Martin had kissed him in a Sixth Avenue movie theatre. Martin explained that he was so thrilled by a celluloid melodrama that he did not know what he was doing.

SUGAR RECOVERS PRICE REDUCTION LAST REPORTED

Rise of One Cent a Pound Today Caught Many Napping—Flour Down Twenty Cents.

The price of sugar which dropped one cent per pound a few days ago, advanced again this morning. The reason for the reduction in price followed by an equal increase does not appear. Local dealers are mystified. It is known that there had been a "refiners' war" on for some months but whether or not this event is connected with that is not known. Householders and others who use sugar and who did not buy at the former quotation lose a cent per pound. The local price now is $11.31 per hundredweight.

Flour Drops Again.
The price of flour which has displayed a steady downward trend for some months, experienced a further reduction of twenty cents per barrel Wednesday afternoon. This makes the price $13.65 per barrel.

GERMAN COURT REBUKES ANTI-SEMITISM

By Viggo Toepfer.
(Special to Daily Mail, by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

Berlin, Nov. 25.—Anti-Semitism received no support from the Court in a curious case tried at Krankfor-on-Main, where a woman doctor was defended by a woman lawyer against a third woman who held anti-Jewish opinions. Dr. Neumark, a specialist in children's ailments, when called to a certain house noticed a placard on the landing: "Don't buy anything from Jews or Jewish Stores." The indignant lady doctor removed and destroyed the placard, whereupon the owner of the house, a lady, summoned her, and the Police Court fined her 5 marks.

Dr. Neumark appealed to a higher Court, where a woman lawyer, Dr. Schultz, defended her. The prosecutrix admitted her anti-Jewish opinions and said she had no intention to attack the Jewish religion, but the removal of the notice constituted an infringement of her property rights and an insult to her creed. After a brilliant speech by Dr. Schultz, who pointed out that Jews had shed their blood for their country as well as Christians, and that such a notice was against public morals, the Court non-suited the prosecutrix, the costs to be borne by the Government. The Court found that a case for "damage to property" might have been made out, but the prosecutrix had failed to ask for redress under this heading.

MILLIONS PREPARING TO LEAVE GERMANY.

Italy Said to be Preparing to Send Five Million People to Uncle Sam's Domain—Many Will Quit Newly Established European Countries—May Unload Undesirables on the American Continent.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Whole races of Europe are preparing to remove to the United States. Never since the early days of barbarian Europe has there been such wholesale migrations of population as that now in contemplation, with the United States as the destination.

This is the startling word brought to Washington by F. A. Wallis, Commissioner of Immigration at Ellis Island, who spoke here last night at an informal dinner given at the National Press Club by Representative Albert Johnson of Washington, chairman of the House Committee on Immigration, and Representative Knutson of Minnesota of the committee.

Italy is preparing to send five million persons to this country. Eight million immigrants are ready to move out of Germany into the United States and hordes are also preparing to move and already are moving from the newly established countries in Central Europe—from Poland, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia—while the populations of Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Great Britain, Spain, Portugal and others are actuated by the restless surge which has spread the Aryan race over western civilization.

The tide already has begun and every steamship reaching New York is overlaid with steerage passengers seeking the land dominated by the Goddess of Liberty in New York harbor. Steerage bookings are engaged for a year in advance, and in some cases for longer periods. The immigration of previous years which filled up the United States is regarded as nothing compared to the tide now heading toward the United States.

LONDONS BANS HELLO! ON THE TELEPHONE

London, Nov. 25.—Gentleness and urbanity to all telephone operators and politeness in answering telephone calls are the demands now made on all subscribers by the London Telephone Company. There is a ban against "Hello!" in answering a call. Instead, callers must give their name or the number of their telephone. You must not abbreviate when you give the name of the exchange, and "Vic" and "Pad" are in the discard just as much as is "hello."

The newest telephone directory contains two pages of "information" on the use of the telephone. It enjoins all telephone users to "pronounce i long as in nine" as if it could be pronounced otherwise, and makes it plain that "the telephonist answering calls you make does not deal with those you receive."

CUT THE HAIR OF HUN GIRLS

Prague, Nov. 25.—During the anti-German riots in Czechoslovakia recently, the Germans wrecked the Czech schools at Teplitz and Eger and cut the hair of German girls associating with Czech soldiers. The Czechs retaliated by seizing two German theatres.
