

Nearly Every Girl Can Make Herself Prett and Attractive

EVERY GIRL SHOULD THINK ABOUT.

Probably you know just such a girl.

Perhaps she is sixteen—good to look at, and pretty—quite interesting because she reflects the graces and charm that gives promise of happiness to herself and others. But she is not strong. The color in her cheeks, once so rosy, has faded away—her eyes are listless—the buoyancy of spirit and vigor she once possessed are sadly lacking. Parents, friends, this girl needs Ferrozone—needs it that her blood may be renewed—needs it to restore the nerve force that growth, study and the development of her fresh youth have exhausted. This girl will become queen with Ferrozone—which will restore her color—bring back her oldtime energy—give brightness to her eyes and vivacity to her spirits. In Ferrozone every girl finds strength—then she can do things. In Ferrozone there is endurance—that drives away morning tiredness and languor. For the girl or woman that wants to be happy, healthy, winning—who values rosy cheeks, laughing eyes and abundant good spirits, nothing can compare with Ferrozone. 50c. per box, or six for $2.50. Get it today from any dealer in medicine, or by mail from The Catarrozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

When Fate sits in the game you don't know it—and that's why you often try to work a bluff on a pair of sixes.

If some fellows could have their way the other man would never know the joy of winning.

What has become of that old-fashioned phrase, intrinsic value? Seems to have got lost in the general upheaval and unrest.

NEW PARLIAMENT BUILDING THE FINEST IN AMERICA

A Fine Monument for Canadian Art and Enterprise—Will be Occupied at the Approaching Session of Parliament—The Work Being Rushed A long to Completion—Commons Chamber Has Accommodation for 320 Members—No Cross Benches in the New House.

Ottawa, Ont. Feb. 21—When Parliament assembles on Thursday next for its annual conclave, members will scarcely know themselves in the new and elaborate environment of the reconstructed Parliament Buildings. It is true that it is far from completed—this grand monument of Gothic architecture, the outward appearance will be deficient till the great tower is built, but the Commons chambers and adjacent rooms are about done and ready for occupancy. Staffs of workmen are busy day and night, laying rubber flooring, erecting ornate wood galleries and generally clearing away. If there is some inconvenience—and there won't be much—it is preferable to the old quarters in the Victoria Museum, far from the centre of the city, cramped, ill-ventilated and generally depressing. In the new buildings light, air and sunshine pervade every quarter. They are not only an example of architectural genius but should be a stimulus to the highest legislative ideals among those who are privileged to occupy them.

The ultimate cost may be nine or ten millions instead of the original estimate of six. Labor and material have increased enormously since the contract was let and the country must pay the piper. It is being done on the cost plus system, but the "plus" allowed contractors stops at six millions, unless there is a new deal. Not for another year will the Senate side be finished and with the tower not started, only an inadequate conception may be gained of how the finished pile will look.

Tragic Fire of 1916 Recalled

Members of the parliament before this one who enter the new structure at once, recall the wintry night—February 3rd, 1916—when the old buildings were burned. The House of Commons was in session at the time, and Mr. Loggie member for Northumberland, was holding forth on his favorite subject of the fisheries, when the members and a few spectators in the gallery were startled by Charles Stewart, the veteran door-keeper, bursting into the sacred precincts past the sergeant at arms and shouting that the building was on fire. The fire started in the reading rooms and spread with such rapidity that many of the members and spectators had great difficulty in escaping with their lives.

NIGHT COUGHS PREVENT SLEEP

WEAR OUT THE SYSTEM

The dry, hacking cough, day and night is very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated, and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy without an equal for curing coughs and colds, soothing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening and healing the breathing organs and fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mrs. Fred Fairburn, Copper Cliff, Ont., writes:—"I caught a heavy cold got a sore throat and had a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I had tried quite a few remedies, but they did not seem to do me much good until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles my cough was all gone."

It seemed to loosen the cough right away so that I could spit up the phlegm that gathered in my throat, and also took that hot, raw, burning fever out of my bronchial tubes. I feel that Dr. Wood's has no equal. Price 25 cts. and 50 cts. at all dealers. Put up only by the T. Millburn Co., Ltd. Toronto, Ont.

Members were burned more or less severely, while one of the members, B. B. Law, of Yarmouth, two ladies who were guests of the Speaker, J. B. Laplante, assistant clerk and two of the old attendants in the buildings were burned to death.

With the war at its height as it then was, and the air filled with rumors of the activities of German ships it was natural that there should have been the suspicions on incendiarism. An investigation failed to reveal the probability of enemy action and the real cause of the fire has never been discovered.

The day following, Parliament moved to the Victoria Museum, which has a large auditorium, though very deficient in acoustic properties. Steps were at once taken to reconstruct the Parliament Buildings.

A building committee composed of members of both political parties was formed. The architectural work was placed in the hands of Mr. John A. Pearson, of Toronto, who describes himself as a "Scotch-Yorkshire-Canadian," and who has spent all his professional life in Canada. His associate is J. O. March of Montreal.

The first intention was to use the walls of the burned buildings which were partially standing; but it was found that this was not practicable, so an entirely new building with new plans was decided upon. The old building consisted of three floors above the grounds, and one incomplete floor in the roof. The Commons chamber was located in the centre of the building, surrounded by a wing which had been added to the original structure at the west end, the Senate chamber forming a re-entering angle at the east end of the building. In the new building, the Senate and Commons chambers are at the east and west, respectively, each having direct light and ventilation from the outside. The building consists of four floors above grounds, where old had only three, and two complete floors in the roof, making six floors with an increase of floor area of one hundred percent.

Gothic Architecture

The old building was generally considered as the best example of fourteenth century Gothic on the North American continent and with slight necessary changes the new building that it is higher and the new tower conforms to the same style except that it is higher and the new tower will also be much taller in order to harmonize. The form of the new plan

Mark Twain of Canada

In the days when interesting people came to Canada to find it freshly interesting there was no body could reveal the spirit of the land to them like George Ham of the C.P.R. It is said he put Major Pond of the United States out of business. Why go on a wearisome lecture tour under that impressario's guidance when George Ham could transport you to Winnipeg and on through the delights of the Rockies in all the comfort of a sumptuous coach? Great personages beseech him to call them by their first names. He has loaned matches to kings and potentates and autographed photographs of his features for admiring authoresses of best sellers. There did once seem to be a time when the truly great would venture to come to Canada without first ascertaining whether George Ham could receive them. He is said to have got so "fed up" with dukes and royal bodies that he did not mind, for a change, escorting untitled personalities of international fame. Many men whose signatures command imperious power would no more think of forgetting to send him their Christmas cards than they would dream of neglecting a royal command. He is so very much person grata with all kinds of people in Who's Who, when he arrives in London the court circular has to be enlarged to publish the invitations issued in his honor. Now he has achieved the signal honor of an unpaid-for mention in the exclusive Morning Post. It feels relieved to know that even if the League of Nations be jeopardized, the official entertainer of the C. P. R. is keeping his health and reveling in his high spirit. This bright though aristocratic London paper says George Ham is the Mark Twain of Canada. It claims his jests are beyond computation. He will yet go down to fame as having originated one joke. He has been as generous with his humor as he has been a profitable acquaintance for professional jokesmiths. As he never has patented any of his inimitable quips he often laughs at them when he hears them on the stage, until he realizes that they were of his own making. You may have heard of the Cincinnati millionaire he took to Muskoka. While there the plutocrat was attacked by brigands from Toronto. The chief brigand later complained to the police that in the encounter his watch and chain had been stolen. It should be added that George Ham was not out with his Cincinnati charge when the watch and chain were stolen. Thousands of personages who have enjoyed seeing Canada have testified to how much their enjoyment was due to his kindly wit and indefatigable attention. They have paid tribute to the courtesies he knows so well how to extend in behalf of his railway. But perhaps one of the best tributes ever paid this incomparable humorous cicerone of the railway ties, was a copy of verses by Mr. Neil Munro, the Scottish author. He sang how George Ham had "freighted laughter ten thousand miles," when acting as uncle, aunt, brother, father and grandfather to a party of British scribes. They think in Britain that not to have known George Ham of the C. P. R. is to display ignorance of the Empire's geography.

MR. GEORGE HAM.
