BULL BREAKS A BANK AND TWO MEN

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 12—Down Dixon way they are telling the story of how a bull bankrupted two men and broke the Dixon Union State Bank.

Red Apple Thorndyke VIII, the bull was offered for $100,000. Elmer J. Countryman, the cashier of the Dixon Union Bank, and Edwin Depeweller, a farmer, formed a partnership and bought Red Apple Thorndyke. They paid $50,000 on the purchase price of $100,000.

The female progeny of Red Apple, the bull dispensers told the syndicate would be record milk producers. One cow, daughter of Red, was tested. Her milk was about 200 above par, but it is alleged the owners of the cow's father poured a cup or two of cream into the pail before milking time. The farmer and the banker bought the bull, convinced they could not be wrong.

Returns on the bull investment, however, were not enough to pay interest charges on the investment, so the partnership went into bankruptcy

WHY CANADIAN CATTLE ARE BANNED IN ENGLAND

President of the Board of Agriculture Makes a Reply to a Deputation---Existing Prohibition was Imposed in 1896---Its Object was to Prevent the Spread of Disease in Great Britain.

London, Nov. 8—Reasons for not removing the embargo on the import of Canadian cattle were given by Lord Lee of Fareham President of the Board of Agriculture, replying to a joint deputation from the Scottish Chamber of Agriculture and the National Federation of Meat Traders.

Mr. J. E. Esslemont, a director of the Chamber, in stating the case for the depopulation, recalled the fact that the existing prohibition was imposed by legislation in 1896 with the express purpose of preventing the spread of disease in the herds of this country. At the present time, however, not only was the position with regard to disease entirely changed, but also the situation with regard to meat, he said. Though hitherto this subject had been debated from the contending points of view of the feeder and breeder, it had now become a consumer's question. As disease was non-existent in Canada, it was unfair to maintain any longer what was in effect preferential or protective treatment in favor of one branch of the agricultural industry under cover of an Act to keep out disease. By removing the embargo we would therefore, be importing an even healthier class of cattle than our own. The supply of beef would be increased, and an increased output in this, as in other commodities would mean a reduction of price to the benefit of the consumer. There was, further, no better way of maintaining the fertility of the land which had been brought under the plough during the war than in consuming the increased crop by feeding cattle.

Mr. H. Adams (Executive of the Federation) reminded the Minister that it had been understood that the embargo would in any case be removed at the termination of the war.

Lord Lee, in reply, reminded the deputation that there was very far from being agreement on this important question among the societies and interests concerned in Scotland, as well as in England and Wales. There had been, however, no political representatives of any sort or kind, the issue being decided purely on its merits as it affected the interests of the country, and particularly the agricultural interest. It would admittedly be wrong to take advantage of legislation passed to protect the flocks and herds in this country against disease for fiscal or other purposes at other times, but the statement that the position as regards disease had now entirely changed could not be accepted in view of the facts.

Free From Disease

While there was no specific charge against Canadian cattle, the record of which was one of the cleanest in the whole world, yet the incident of the various diseases was so obscure, their vagaries so infinite and surrounded with mystery in every shape and form that it was not possible to import stock from any quarter of the globe without at the same time incurring a certain definite risk of disease. Meanwhile, among those who held the opposite view to the deputation, there was the strongest possible feeling that the only real protection that we had at present was our insular position and the maintenance of the isolation it afforded. Mr. Esslemont had urged that owing to the increased acreage under crop it was essential that there should be more stores. The facts, however were that owing to existing labor conditions the arable acreage was rapidly shrinking in Scotland as well as in England, and the war time increase was not being maintained.

In these circumstances it was to be regretted that on its own merits this argument could not be accepted. After the most careful and impartial consideration he felt bound to agree that, in view of the risk involved, the best possible security was the same moat which had surrounded these islands and protected them from every kind of invader, including disease for so many centuries and he regretted to have to say that, in his judgment, the arguments that had been put forward by the gravity of the objections which would be urged by the other side.

WAS SUFFERING FROM

INDIGESTION

NO FEAR OF PAINS NOW.

Indigestion is one of the worst forms of stomach trouble, and many people suffer terribly after every meal they eat. The rising and souring of the food, pains in the stomach, heartburn, waterbrash, belching of wind, vomiting shortly after eating, etc., are some of the symptoms.

There is no need for any person to be troubled with indigestion, dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble if they would only take Burdock Blood Bitters, which contains a combination of nature's roots, herbs, barks and berries; a combination that cannot help but put the stomach right.

Mr. H. H. Collins, Norton, N. B., writes: "I was with the overseas forces for four years and two months, and in October 1916 I was unfortunately enough to be wounded and taken prisoner. I was a prisoner for 2½ years, and the food they gave us was not good, at times, and after a few months I found I was suffering from indigestion. When I came home in July 1919 I was nearly a wreck. I was told to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did so and found great relief and can now eat without fear of pains and sickness. I would recommend B. B. B. to all who suffer from indigestion."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over forty years, and during that time has made a reputation second to none for relieving all stomach troubles. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
