For the bride to invite the sister of the bridegroom to act as bridesmaid.

For the bridesmaid or matron of honor to be selected from the bride's sister or closest friend.

It is Not Correct.

For a man to pull out a pocket comb and use it in public.

To speak of any one in their presence as "this person."

To carry a wet umbrella into anyone's home and stand it against the wall.

To urge anyone to grant a request when once they have refused.

JUVENILE MODES.

Over-elaboration is everywhere recognized as the mark of poor taste, especially for children's apparel. Good material, carefully selected, with the complexion and general style of the child to be outfitted especially in mind a simple style design and the very best workmanship possible combine to make the clothes that the refined woman selects for her child. Such clothes help to lay the foundation of good taste in the child, to the end that future generations of women may be dressed wisely and well.

FORECAST OF SPRING MODES

Some spring suits are now being tried out. In addition to the distinctly sports models designed for Southern resort wear, those featuring short, loose cut jackets are varied by innumerable slashings, etc. One recently noted had the back section draped at either side, the front hanging quite straight. Skirts unquestionably are wider and many are somewhat dressy—that is, composed of panels either flying or held together with braid bindings or edgings so that a sort of harem silhouette is the result.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP.

Cook together until reduced one-half, one quart of canned tomatoes, one-half teaspoon of peppercorns, a small piece of bay leaf (half the size of a dime), three whole cloves and one tablespoon of sugar. Rub through a sieve. Heat pulp to the boiling point and add one-fourth teaspoon of soda, stir, and, as the froth rises, skim. Scald one quart of milk with one slice of onion, remove onion and thicken milk with one-fourth cup of flour diluted with cold water, until thin enough to pour and entirely free from lumps. Cook twenty minutes in a double boiler, stirring constantly as mixture thickens, afterward occasionally. Then add the tomato mixture; let cook three minutes. Pour at once over one-fourth cup of butter, one teaspoon of salt and one-eighth teaspoon of pepper and three or four drops of tabasco sauce. Notice that the tomato mixture is added to the thickened milk and then poured over the butter and seasoning; this is done to prevent the soup from curdling and the method should be carefully followed.

BIG DEMAND FOR XMAS TREES THIS SEASON

New England's Crop is Largest in History, Maine's Share Being 600,000—Shipments Have Already Begun—Growers Get but a Few Cents Apiece, While $1 and $2 and Even More Will be Ultimate Prices.

Boston, Dec. 9.—A Christmas tree crop of more than a million and a half of evergreen trees, spruce, fir and hemlock has been cut in the forests and pastures of New England for the approaching holiday observance. The crop is the largest ever. If dealers estimates are correct more homes and more communities will blossom with this flower of the Christmas spirit than ever before.

The movement to market of the Christmas trees some still spangled with the snow of northern countryside is under way and figures on the cut are fairly complete. From the forests of Maine 600,000 trees have been taken in Vermont it is estimated about 300,000 were felled and the reports of the State Forester of New Hampshire show a shipment of approximately 500,000. The southern section of New England cuts much less, the crop from the Berkshires in Massachusetts being probably about 74,000 and in Rhode Island and Connecticut combined about 25,000.

Prices Paid to the Grower

On the stump these trees have been sold by the farmer or woodland owner from a few cents each, large lots selling at $25 to $30 a thousand. Smaller numbers usually taken from pastures where the trees attain a more shapely growth, bring as high as fifty cents each in some instances. Prices to the grower have been generally higher this year than last. They represent only a small part of the cost to the Christmas user, however, who will pay between $1 and $2 each for the average tree. A statement on the Christmas tree industry prepared by the New Hampshire Forestry Department asserts that "it is not fair to the farmer to give him only a few cents for trees which may bring several dollars when sold at retail in the city."

The department regards the Christmas tree industry as legitimate and says it is not objectionable if the land owner receives a fair value for his trees and the cutting is scattered and confined to the right size of trees. The custom of setting up evergreens at Yuletide is gaining rather than losing strength if the reports of the number of trees cut are a criterion, and the New Hampshire Forester predicts that "at no distant date the growing of trees near large centres of consumption will become the practice."

It is a long haul to some of the markets for trees cut in the forests of the north country. Trees are on the way a fortnight or more, and in a time of car scarcity the railroads have had to defect from the coal and pulpwood traffic hundreds of cars to meet the demands of Christmas sentiment.

From New England the cut of more than a million and a half of trees goes to Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland and other points as far west as the Mississippi. From the little town of East Fairfield, Vt., alone, 30,000 trees are being shipped to points in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

WATCHMAN WAS ARRESTED

Liverpool, N. S., Dec. 9.—A solution of the mysterious fire that destroyed the plant of the Nova Scotia Shipbuilding and Transportation Co. here on Nov. 2nd is thought to have been arrived at in the arrest by Chief Detective Kennedy, Halifax, of Robie Lohnes, watchman and Wynfred Clattenburg. The plant had been closed up for some time before the fire but it was established that the machinery and tools that had been left in the building had disappeared. The accused are alleged to have sold this material and already a considerable quantity has been recovered.

SPEED SKATERS GETTING READY

Saranac Lake, Dec. 10.—Edmund Lamy, former world's professional skating champion, has announced his intention of reentering the racing field, and intends to challenge both Bobby McLean and Oscar Mathiesen, the present champion. Lamy has been training the greater part of the summer months, doing road work every day. He feels confident he can defeat Mathiesen, and will issue a challenge to him within a week or so. The former champion who lost his title to McLean in 1918, defeated Mathiesen decisively in 1910 at Montreal when he made his last appearance as an amateur skater. In the half-mile race he finished 60 yards ahead of Mathiesen but was disqualified for not skating at top speed, as a time limit had been placed on the race.

Everett McGowan of St. Paul, who won the amateur championship last season at Lake Placid has entered the professional ranks. A few days ago Lamy received a challenge from McGowan, which he intends to accept within a short time.

Norval Baple who preceded Lamy and McLean as professional skating champion announced this week at New York that he is going to reenter the field, and that he intends to meet all the cracks, including Mathiesen.

JAY WALKERS WERE FINED

Boston, Dec. 9.—Three residents of Greater Boston who "jay walked" across downtown thoroughfares today were fined $3 each by Judge Murray in the Municipal Court.

Frank A. Goodwin, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles, today suggested the advisability of a city ordinance against "jay walking," the term applied by the Boston police to crossing streets at other than designated places.

The Registrar said that in fairness he pedestrian who takes chances should be just as much subject to fine as the motorists who have to be constantly on their guard between crossings.

PRICE AND QUALITY

Everybody wants lower prices. Nobody wants them more than WASHINGTON—but not at the expense of quality.

WASHINGTON'S prices are low, considering the quality, and will automatically go lower as costs decrease.

But whatever the price may be, the quality will always justify it.

For the WASHINGTON policy is to provide the best of food, service and sanitation at a reasonable price.
