AROUND THE CITY

Victoria day this year came at such a time that a long week-end could be spent. Many were able to leave Friday night and not return until Tuesday morning. Some week-ends were interrupted however. There was one on the Clearwater which was of that type. Two married couples took a camp there for several days' outing including the holiday. On Victoria day a party of young men from this city as the two couples were, also arrived at the Clearwater to fish. One of the residents of the locality learning of the second party casually informed the people in the camp that some boys from Fredericton had come and would probably visit the camp. A bomb could not have created more consternation. There was a hurried departure, so hurried in fact that provisions for the party were left behind and later were used by the fishermen. They included a ham, four dozen eggs and a roast of what the intruders say was venison although it is close season for deer. At present day prices the provender had considerable value. The fishermen of course could not help wondering just why the identity of the two married couples was kept secret in such a manner.

With the water in the river falling steadily and the weather becoming so warm that all who can swim or at least bathe want to get in the river as soon as possible, it behooves the city authorities to show a little foresight and have the temporary dressing rooms placed in position at the West End beach. Last summer the dressing rooms were carefully kept in storage although constructed at a considerable expense for the city the year previous.

Fredericton's population during the spring months has been added to by the settling of several Belgian families. One was here before, but the others are new. The unsettled state of Belgium on account of the war and its aftermath caused these people to decide to make their homes in a new land. The children as might be expected talk no English and will have to acquire the tongue here. Some of the youngsters already have obtained employment in spite of the handicap of language.

The Department of Health should be memorialized to take steps to prohibit the sticking of gum under the arms of chairs in theatres, restaurants and other places of public resort. When a person has obtained all the solace possible from a cud of gum why cannot he—it usually is she—dispose of it in some other manner? It cannot be from a sense of economy that the gum is stuck in such places for the cuds seem to stay there and are not used again by the original chewers. Possibly it is mere absence of mind which makes people leave the gum behind. It is much better to stick it on the brim of one's hat then it is never left behind or forgotten.

A touching spectacle was witnessed in the Gaiety Theatre one of the recent hot nights. A lady took the trouble to change her seat so that she could sit as near as possible to one of the electric fans. Yet she wore across her shoulders a fur, and not a light one at that, and did not remove it at any time suffering from the heat.

A RIP-ROARING
TORY SPECIAL
BY MEIGHEN

Ottawa May 26—A master of flouts, and jibes and sneers, yet one of the best debaters and most fluent speakers in the House, held its undivided attention for three hours yesterday afternoon and evening while he yanked the Unionist party with a dull thud back into the Tory corral again. After the speech of Hon. Arthur Meighen of last evening in which in true Western fashion he roped, threw and hog-tied all the former Liberals on the Unionist side who remain there after the vote on the Budget is taken, it is useless to speak any longer of a Unionist party. Possibly the Tory rose by any other name will smell, as sweet, but straight Tory the party must be considered from now on; and certainly the Minister of the Interior left no hole even for the would-be Liberal Unionist to crawl into.

Attacked Liberal Party

Not only did he attack the Liberal Party, past and present in Canada. He went further afield and proved to a demonstration that the trade of Great Britain had been going to the demitition how-wows since 1850, and nothing kept poor old John Bull from going over the hill to the world's poor-house but the returns from his foreign investments.

It was a rip-roaring Tory speech, and Mr. Meighen made no attempt to conceal it. It marks the end of Union Government and if there is not an exodus of the remaining Liberal Unionists as a result of it, the reason is that those who remain realize that they have no place to go to.

It was to Dr. Michael Clarke however that the Minister of the interior devoted most of his attention. Eventually he drove the member for Red Deer from the House after the Speaker had denied him the right to reply to the caustic but rhetorical questions which Mr. Meighen threw at him in a perfect volley, although the latter expressed his willingness to hear Dr. Clarke's answers. Dr. Clarke could not "stand the gaff" in silence, so he put on his hat and left the House. It was probably a choice between that and bursting from the effort to restrain his emotions.

$4 Saved
Two Fingers

The fingers were those of Mr. J. W. Besnard, of 539 Craig St. E., Montreal. He says,—"A falling beam badly smashed my hand. Two fingers were so severely crushed that the doctors said they would have to be amputated. Naturally I didn't want this, so decided to try Zam-Buk first. I applied Zam-Buk daily, and by the time I had used $4 worth, the injury was completely healed. My fingers were saved!"

Just another illustration of the healing power of Zam-Buk. Accidents will happen. It may be your turn next. Better get a box and keep it handy. Accidents are less frequent than skin diseases, and remember this—

Zam-Buk is just as good for eczema, ulcers, skin diseases, and piles, as for cuts, burns, bruises. All druggists and stores 50c. box, or 2 for $1.25. Refuse substitutes.

(The Ottawa Record.)

There are going to be fewer newspapers in Canada. Those that weather the storm are likely to become powerful organizations; but it remains to be seen whether the concentration of the newspaper publishing business in a few hands will make for the public good." In the foregoing words a contemporary dismisses the all-important subject of the distribution of news.

Does it "remain to be seen" whether the newspaper business in a few hands will make for the public good? We have had several instances to prove that the press, in the hands of a few, has been polluted to such an extent that the general public have lost all faith in the veracity of the news which is being served to them.

The newspaper publishing business has already been concentrated in a few hands, and has indeed become a powerful organization. Were its power used in the public interest it would be a blessing; but when such men as Hearst and we have them in Canada) can secure a monopoly of the news of the world; when they can control the news at its source, and distort it to suit their own ends, it is, to say the least, a curse.

While the newspaper is owned and controlled by a few individuals, the news gathered for the paper is the property of the people; and by the people the newspaper should be held as something more sacred than a machine devised for improper purposes.

It is true that many newspapers cannot thrive because of the expense entailed in the upkeep; but it is merely a coincidence that the failures are the independent, honest newspaper publishers, who desire that their papers should be used for the benefit of the community? It is a coincidence that paper-makers are permitted to ship all the pulp and paper out of Canada to the detriment of Canadian newspaper publishers?

There is a great deal of depth to the definite statement that "there are going to be fewer newspapers in Canada"; and when that will have been achieved we may expect nothing short of a wholesale prostitution of the newspapers which remain.

A Quick Relief
for Headache

A headache is frequently caused by badly digested food; the gases and acids resulting therefrom are absorbed by the blood which in turn irritates the nerves and causes painful symptoms called headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, etc. 15 to 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Syrup will correct faulty digestion and afford relief.

The Value of Music
in the Home

A Noted Canadian professor of music recently said: "The providing of interests which foster the growth of home and family ties is worthy of earnest consideration, and there is nothing like music to keep the young folks home at night, make them happier and draw the bands of real home influence round your children."

Picture the home without music—Supper is over and the young folks are looking for some sort of entertainment. The neighbors down the street have a piano—and all the children flock there. Why? Because the home possessing a piano is filled with joy, radiance and sunshine, because everyone loves music—it appeals to all.

Call in and let us help you select a piano from our large stock of Gerhardt-Heintzmann, Bell, Gourtay and Ennis Pianos.
