CASTORIA

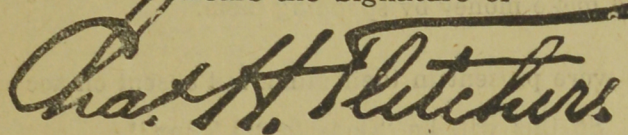

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Indian Elopes With White Girl—Luella Gear Squelches Grace LaRue

Mrs. Thos. Samples of fashionable Wyebrooke is reading up on Indian torture lore in order to properly handle John Pazzona, 33, full blooded Lenape Indian and Carlisle grad, who eloped the other day with 18-year-old Catherine Samples and married her down in Maryland. The Samples are always among those present at functions and had "figgered" on at least a duke for Catherine. The Injun's family is well fixed and he borrowed his brother's motorcycle with side car and helped the girl down from the second story window at midnight. The family's wrath is too deep for words. But wait—just wait!

Miss Luella Gear is in high gear and allows it to be published that she became Mrs. Byron Chandler the something or other last fall. She says she is sick and tired of having Grace LaRue basking in the popular favor as the chatelaine of the hypo-millionaire and points to the fact of divorce. "My marriage to Mr. Chandler is a personal matter and it is only fair to correct an erroneous impression that the LaRue woman is entitled to a name which is mine."

Mrs. Angeline Reese, wife of the Wall Street lawyer, ain't angelique according to friend hubby, who is fighting her suit for separation. He calls her family the finest horners-in he ever saw. Her mother lent a hand and called the lawyer, 15 years older than his wife, a caged lion. Her sister volunteered that he was an unfit person and that because he took his own wife to an undertakers' ball he was worse than a Hun kultureing Belgium. Reese swore he is a passable American, that he rocked the baby and sang it to sleep nightly, paid his debts, gave his wife a good home and was happy and so was she when her folks, the Rouses, of Yonkers, kept off. He said the interests of justice might be served if the Rouses were deported to Yonkers. His wife's lawyer sprung a new one when he called Reese a "virtuous tyrant—a good man, but—"

Mrs. Saderio Anselino had that husband of hers, a disciple of the D'Annunzio school of love, sent to the cooler for thirty days to reflect on the folly of biting one's wife's cheek excessively in demonstrating love. "He bit a piece out of my cheek, Judge," she said. "Zatso Saddy?" asked his honor. "Well, judge, I love her awfully. I wanted to prove it and was trying to kiss her," answered the cave man. "Well, son," concluded his honor, "we Americans believe in proving love without committing mayhem. I think thirty days at the Island, where the breezes are cooling, will do you good." And to jail he went.

THE WORM TURNS.

Notice to the loafers of Kingsley, who are loafing around on the salt barrels telling all kinds of stories and interfering with other people's business, you do not need to interfere in my business, as I have paid the house rent and settled my accounts to satisfaction.—A. Peterson, Kingsley, Iowa, News.

FUN TO ECONOMIZE.

"Why do you live in the country said one man to the other.

"So as to economize," was the answer.

"Grub cheaper?"

"No, not much cheaper, but you see in the country there are no theatres to spend money on. There are no jazz dinners, no opera and no opera suppers or distractions or amusements of any kind. Do you get the idea?"

"Sure, old man, sure. But here's a suggestion, couldn't you do a lot better if you died?"

TERRIFYING EXPERIENCE

(Special to the Mail.)

Vancouver, Feb. 10.—Huge boulders the size of business blocks toppled from the heights of Crown Mountain, near Vancouver, during the earthquake which shook the district a couple of weeks ago. Shingle cutters at work below the mountain had a terrifying experience as the great rocks crashed through the trees near them.

WILL SAVE ON EXCHANGE

(Special to the Mail.)

Saskatoon, Sask., Feb. 10.—Saskatoon will take advantage of the exchange situation and pay interest due in London. By so doing the city stands to save $18,138.33 as compared to par exchange. Approximately £20,000 is due on April 1st.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FLU

Dr. Copeland, Commissioner of Public Health for New York City, has issued the following appeal in connection with the outbreak of influenza:

To Nurses—The city is suffering from a lack of nurses. Please volunteer for service at $6 a day or 75c. a hour. Persons with practical experience in nursing will be paid $4 a day or 50c. an hour.

To physicians—Whenever it may be done safely, please urge your patients not to demand a trained nurse. Leave every trained nurse possible for work among the poor.

To clergymen—Advise your congregations about dangers from coughing or sneezing without covering the face with a handkerchief. Persons who find it impossible to refrain from coughing or sneezing should remain at home. Tell the congregation to avoid fear and to practice the ordinary rules of the simple life.

To the public—Observe the rules of simple living. If feverish or otherwise ill, go to bed and call a physician. The ill should not come in contact with the well.

It begins to look as if the ice famine won't be important hereabouts.

Doctors say if people kept their bowels in proper order there would be no such disease on record as appendicitis. It is due solely to neglect, and is therefore preventable.

If you have constipation, bad breath or headache you need medicine right away.

The moment you suspect you bowels are clogged you should take Dr. Hamilton's Pills, the smoothest regulator of them all. They move the bowels and cleanse the liver so smoothly you scarcely notice the effect. But you can get the action just the same. Taken at night you wake up next morning clear-headed, hungry, rested, energetic feeling like a different man.

Mark Twain of Canada

In the days when interesting people came to Canada to find it freshly interesting there was nobody could reveal the spirit of the land to them like George Ham of the C.P.R. It is said he put Major Pond of the United States out of business. Why go on a wearisome lecture tour under that impressario's guidance when George Ham could transport you to Winnipeg and on through the delights of the Rockies in all the comfort of a sumptuous coach? Great persons beseech him to call them by their first names. He has loaned marches to kings and potentates and autographed photographs of his features for admiring authoresses of best sellers. There did once seem to be a time when the truly great would not venture to come to Canada without first ascertaining whether George Ham could receive them. He is said to have got so "fed up" with dukes and royal bodies that he did not mind, for a change, escorting untitled personalities of international fame. Many men whose signatures command imperious power would no more think of forgetting to send him their Christmas cards than they would dream of neglecting a royal command. He is so very much personified with all kinds of people in Who's Who, when he arrives in London the court circular has to be enlarged to publish the invitations issued in his honor. Now he has achieved the signal honor of an unpaid-for mention in the exclusive Morning Post. It feels relieved to know that even if the League of Nations be jeopardized, the official entertainer of the C.P.R. is keeping his health and reveling in his high spirit. This bright though aristocratic London paper says George Ham is the Mark Twain of Canada. It claims his jests are beyond computation. He will yet go down to fame as having originated one joke. He has been as generous with his humor as he has been a profitable acquaintance for professional jokesmiths. As he never has patented any of his inimitable quips he often laughs at them when he hears them on the stage, until he realizes that they were of his own making. You may have heard of the Cincinnati millionaire he took to Muskoka. While there the plutocrat was attacked by brigands from Toronto. The chief brigand later complained to the police that in the encounter his watch and chain had been stolen. It should be added that George Ham was not out with his Cincinnati charge when the watch and chain were stolen. Thousands of personages who have enjoyed seeing Canada have testified to how much their enjoyment was due to his kindly wit and indefatigable attention. They have paid tribute to the courtesies he knows so well how to extend in behalf of his railway. But perhaps one of the best tributes ever paid this incomparable humorous elefante of the railway ties, was a copy of verses by Mr. Neil Munro, the Scottish author. He sang how George Ham had "freighted laughter ten thousand miles," when acting as uncle, aunt, brother, father and grandfather to a party of British scribes. They think in Britain that not to have known George Ham of the C.P.R. is to display ignorance of the Empire's geography.
