PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE IN CARLETON-VICTORIA LAUDS POLICIES OF KING GOVERNMENT

Hartland, Oct. 18—"No government, regardless of its political shade, will be popular in Canada for the next 20 or, perhaps, 40 years; for, by virtue of our accumulated national debt and the huge interest charge attached thereto, together with the cost of running the country, governments will be forced to collect from the people an annual revenue aggregating $400,000,000, a sum much in excess of what the people can afford to pay willingly." So declared T. W. Caldwell, independent Liberal-Progressive candidate for Carleton-Victoria, when addressing a packed meeting held in the assembly hall here Saturday night.

"This being the case," the speaker continued, "would it not be well on Oct. 29 to return the Liberal administration, which has demonstrated in a practical way, by substantially reducing the net debt, its recognition of the necessity of lessening the burden of taxation of the Canadian people?"

Against High Protection.

Mayor Boyer occupied the chair, and on the platform beside the candidate were Hon. W. P. Jones, Fred Smith, ex-M. L. A., ex-Mayor McFarland and Frank Hagerman.

Mr. Caldwell received an ovation. He dealt at length with the tariff issue and reiterated the opinion expressed by him throughout the campaign that a policy of high protection was most unfavorable to the Maritime Provinces.

Mr. Caldwell referring to Hansard, recalled for his audience a speech made by the Hon. Mr. Meighen at the last session of Parliament in which the leader of the Opposition had deplored the fact that the duty had been taken off fertilizers.

Price of Fertilizer.

"In this connection," the speaker proceeded, "I wish to remind the farmers of this constituency that the removal of duty on the article in question, a concession which I was largely instrumental in securing, permitted them last year and during this season to secure for the first time fertilizers at as low a price as that paid by their Maine neighbors."

Another feature of Liberal legislation which, according to the speaker, the Hon. Mr. Meighen had opposed, was the reduction of duty made on farm machinery. Asked by a member of the House if in the event of his return to power he would place the duty on agricultural implements at the level obtaining during the Conservative regime, Mr. Meighen, the speaker asserted, had stated most emphatically that he would.

Contrary Opinion.

In Mr. Meighen's opinion, the speaker stated, the reduction made on farm implements would prove ruinous to agricultural implement manufacturers. Yet, Mr. Caldwell continued, the lowering of the duty on farm implements and the placing of the raw materials entering into their manufacture on the free list, according to a statement made by Vincent Massey, of the Massey-Harris Company, had proven most favorable to their company. Their exports had increased, the speaker said, because they were enabled to manufacture cheaper and sell in competition with the world, reaching markets hitherto closed to them. The speaker emphasized that on cost of production more than on any other single item depended the ability of the farmers to secure a favorable market for their products.

Assails Flemming.

"Why, then," the speaker asked, "don't you embrace the policy which the King administration offers you enabling you to grow your products cheaper, and discard the high protection program eulogized by my opponent which would make more costly the items entering into production?"

Mr. Caldwell assailed the utterances of the Hon. J. K. Flemming in criticism of the Australian treaty entered into by the Liberal Government.

It was true, the speaker stated, that Australia had an advantage in the intercolonial tariff listed, but the distance which separated the two countries did not permit of much trading and the competition arising, therefore was negligible. "We do compete with Australia in the English market," the speaker declared, "and because of our closer proximity, we enjoy an advantage."

Preference and Potatoes.

When talking of treaties made by the King administration, the speaker deemed it strange that no reference was made by his opponent to the British West Indies agreement. "In this treaty," Mr. Caldwell continued, "we enjoy a 50 per cent preference on potatoes, thereby opening up under most favorable conditions a new and extensive market for the farmers of this constituency."

Hon. W. P. Jones, speaking in support of Mr. Caldwell, dealt at length with the tariff issue and the problem of immigration.

IRON CROSSES EASY TO GET

Berlin, Oct. 19—Hindenburg's return and the recent order permitting the wearing of old army uniforms has stimulated the trade in badges, insignia and decorations, which for several years had languished in Germany. A uniform without decorations is almost a contradiction in terms. Moreover, in the old days it was necessary to produce documentary evidence of one's right to wear certain decorations. Today, these orders being no longer official, any one may invest in the black eagle, the iron cross, or any other sign of distinction.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT GAIETY THEATRE

"The Coast of Folly" is the photoplay at the Gaiety for Monday and Tuesday.

Gloria Swanson in a dual role, that of a haggard society adventuress and her young daughter, does the best acting of her career as the older woman.

A new Gloria Swanson makes her debut as a frivolous adventuress, be-frizzled and bepowdered, tight laced, her bones creaking with the years, her wrinkled hands heavy with pearls—a woman who has sacrificed her birthright for a mess of scandal.

Miss Swanson, as the vain, silly woman who has put herself beyond the social pale, struggling to save her neglected daughter from her own fate, gives a performance that wipes from one's memory the unwarranted contortions of "Madame Sans Gêne." But in "The Coast of Folly" Miss Swanson is also the sweet young girl whose daring and youth find her suddenly on the way to the divorce courts.

Her supporting cast, too, is distinguished, and Allan Dwan has displayed his usual skill.

TOM SAWYER WORST BOOK FOR MATURE AGE

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 19—A 13-year-old Omaha boy, after reading the "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," declared he liked the book, "but yet I think it is one of the worst books for boys in their mature age."

He was one of 36,750 school children who helped to answer the old question of parent and teacher: "What Shall the Children Read?"

About 800 teachers in 35 cities collected the ballots cast by the youngsters and made their recommendations, which resulted in the "Winnetka graded book list" of 700 books. Mabel Vogel explained before the Illinois Library Association today.

A 14-year-old of Quincy, Mass., after reading "Evangeline," declared "it doesn't seem possible that a girl wouldn't walk one mile to see him."

RUBBER DOLL USED AS BOOZE CONTAINER

Los Angeles, Oct. 19—"Baby" gurgles proved costly to Senora and Senor Escobedo de Cisneros at Los Angeles. The proud parents were taking turns about carrying their child, when a customs inspector came along.

The baby was heavy—too heavy, the inspector thought, so he volunteered to carry it for the Cisneros.

As he reached for it the child gurgled—a liquid gurgle.

He sniffed the baby's breath. "Whiskey!" said the inspector.

And so it was. The Cisneros never had a baby at all—only their liquor, which they carried with them in a rubber doll.

They are in jail now.

ROBBER MAY SHARE REWARD IN GEM CASE

New York, Oct. 19—A reward of $50,000, paid for the return of jewelry valued at $683,000, stolen from Mrs. James P. Donahue, will be split among the thief, the "fence" and the "go-between" involved, according to Broadway rumors.

The thief followed Mrs. Donahue from Europe to this city, and after she took up her residence at the Plaza watched her carefully, and at a propitious time made off with the jewelry, the Broadway version of the theft has it.

After it had been stolen, the jewelry was placed in the hands of a "fence" He was unwilling to buy it at any price, however, because of the ease with which it might have been identified. It was then suggested by the "fence" that the gems be returned, for a reward, and no questions asked.

GOOD MONEY IN THE TEA BUSINESS

Toronto, Oct. 18—Judgment was reserved on the appeal to the Court of Revision by Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner, in London, against assessment of his income at $392,907.

Evidence was given by an official of the Salada Tea Company that Mr. Larkin owned all but five shares of the company, and drew $369,907 in dividends, these being paid in London. Mr. Larkin also receives a salary of $25,000 as president of the company, but no appeal was made against assessment in regard to this amount.

Woodstock Press: Mrs. W. T. Whitehead, Mrs. Shute and son Donald, Mrs. Wesley VanWart and Mrs. C. V. Wetmore of Fredericton were in town on Tuesday.

Miss Alice Holland has returned to her home in Newton Mass., after visiting her cousin Miss Lena Cook.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE

"I'll show you the Town" is the photoplay at the Capitol for the first half of the week.

Reginald Denny plays a college professor, who is considered so "safe" where women are concerned that he is asked to entertain the wife of a busy husband, to "show the town" to a visiting niece, and to cajole a wealthy widow into endowing a down-and-out college. The resulting farce is based on the complications which arise among the various women.

The highlight of the picture is a restaurant scene, where he has taken both the wife and the widow—separately—with the visiting niece also present to demand his attention. He has himself paged every five minutes and goes from one woman to another in the cleverest comedy scene this critic has seen in some time.

Cissy Fitzgerald, said to be the first woman ever to play in pictures, plays the coy widow and walks away with her scenes. There are four beauties in the cast, with Marion Nixon looking particularly charming as the heroine. The star makes the most of the many opportunities for humor.

The production is lavishly staged and expertly handled. "I'll Show You the Town" is sure-fire stuff.

75,000 TOURISTS SEE QUEBEC

Quebec, Oct. 16—It is estimated that 75,000 tourists visited the city of Quebec during the season just passed of which number about 40,000 were from the United States, and that they spent a sum in the vicinity of $2,250,000 in the city.

The salesman was doing his best to dispose of a motorcycle and sidecar outfit but the prospective customer hesitated. So the salesman enlarged upon the "pay-as-you-ride" plan of instalments.

"I'll take the outfit," said the other: "but, remember I'm a very slow rider."—Tit-Bits.
