Ask for "Fraser Booklet."

The booklet we are referring to has been carefully prepared; it is illustrated with many photographs taken especially for the purpose, and has been designed to furnish accurate information on one of the leading manufacturing enterprises of the Province.

The booklet is a copy of a 16-page booklet, just issued, on the lumber and wood pulp industries and Fraser Companies. The subject is one that should appeal to every person interested in the industrial development of New Brunswick. The manufacture of lumber and pulp brings many millions of dollars annually to New Brunswick and provides employment for thousands of the population. The industry is gaining in importance on account of changing conditions elsewhere.

OF INTEREST TO THE WOMEN

SUMMER MILLINERY.

The hats of the season are very especially tempting. There are modes for every type of face, and all the colors are available.

It is difficult to persuade the smart woman, however to give up her little hat. The cloche has proven itself such a comfort, so small, so easy to wear, so terribly chic.

So we have all sorts of variations of the theme of the cloche, and some of them are irresistible. The brims of the year are all turned smartly, somewhere, or at the side or in the back.

Great efforts are being made to give large drooping brim its due, but it is very difficult. In this one instance Milady is very faithful. The cloche has become a habit.

The big hats are fascinating all the same. There are the very lovely ones in pastel shades, with the flowers simply put around the calotte.

There is the ever lovely picture hat which enhances many a youthful face so charmingly. These are trimmed with long streamers, or with soft plumes.

It would seem that these large hats would be the very thing with the mousseline chiffon flowered frocks but there is a real resistance difficult to explain.

OTHER WOMAN'S WAY OF DOING CLEANING.

Oil spots on carpets are not unusual in these days of motor cars and garages. Remove such a spot at once. If the first treatment is not successful repeat. Take a couple of quarts of very hot water; dissolve in this a tablespoon of one of the bland soap powders, such as Ivory add two teaspoonfuls of household ammonia and two of spirits of turpentine. Take a small, clean stiff brush and scrub the spot thoroughly. This will loosen and dissolve the oil. When the cleaning is ended take fresh hot water and the brush and clean with this to remove the soiled moisture. Wipe up with a dry, clean cloth. Run out a ways from the spot so as to prevent a ring.

When a stair carpet is in use it may frequently be renewed and brightened in a very easy manner by taking a third of a pail of hot water to which two teaspoonfuls each of turpentine and ammonia have been added. Rinse a clean cloth out of this and wash the carpet, rubbing well. Do not neglect the portion which covers the "rise" of the steps as well as the "tread." The wooden step at either side may be wiped off with the same solution with good results. This is a less dusty process than sweeping the stairs with a broom or brush and may be alternated with vacuum cleaning with benefit.

STRAWBERRY FROSTING.

Take what powdered sugar you think you will need rub into it 1 tablespoon butter, then put in about 4 to 5 strawberries and jam them in the sugar and stir all up. Usually you may need a little more wetting you can use more berries. Add sugar if needed.

CHOCOLATE CAKE.

Yolk of one egg, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cocoa, or 2 squares of chocolate 1 1/2 cups flour, pinch of salt, 1 teaspoon soda sifted with flour.

Beat till smooth; 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1 cup sour milk, little vanilla, 3 tablespoons boiling water. Put together in order given. Use white of egg for frosting and make in moderate oven.

FRUIT CAKE.

3/4 cup molasses
1/2 cup sugar
Little less than 1/2 cup shortening.
1 teaspoon each of cloves cinnamon and allspice

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sour milk
1 1/2 teaspoons soda
2 cups flour

Put in as much fruit nuts, raisins and citron as you wish.

She—Can you drive with one hand?

He—No, but I can drive back and get our chauffeur.

EXISTENCE OF FAMILY DOCTOR IS THREATENED

(New York Sun.)

What is to become of the family physician? His continued existence is threatened on the one side by preventive medicine, sanitation and inoculation and on the other side by the specialist. This is the problem considered by Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, in the annual report of the foundation's activities.

Disease like typhoid and malaria, "which once afforded a good deal of "practice" for the general practitioner, are being cut down and even eliminated. On the other hand, when really serious trouble develops the patient wants to go to a specialist. The tendency in recent years has been for the specialist to monopolize not only the handsome fees but most of the prestige of the profession. When a man's case becomes so severe that he has to consult a heart specialist, a stomach specialist, a skin specialist or an ear, nose and throat specialist he enters a realm in which the family doctor is not known.

Three-quarters of all doctors today, according to the foundation's report, are still general practitioners. Undoubtedly the tendency will be for specialization to advance rather than to decline. As medical knowledge progresses the whole field becomes constantly more difficult for one man to master satisfactorily. A still stronger influence toward specialization will be the great fees commanded by leading specialists.

But the day is very far off when the family physician will have vanished from the scene. Even in the great cities the family doctor must remain, for there must be some one to diagnose the patient's ailment. As Dr. Vincent points out, the general practitioner can see the patient as a whole. He can decide when to refer him to a specialist and when to protect him against the very real danger which is threatened by a narrowly specialist point of view. Nor should the spiritual value of "talking it over with the doctor" be ignored.

It is possible to imagine the growth of a class of physicians who would specialize in diagnosis. They would examine the patient for a fixed fee, tell him his trouble and direct him to the proper specialist to take care of him. But there is needed more than this, something which only the family physician can supply. It will always be desirable to have some one who knows the patient and his peculiarities, and knows not only the patient's history but that of his family. His sympathy and understanding and advice will always be invaluable. It may be doubted whether the relations between the physician and his patient will ever become as impersonal as those between a department store and one of its customers.

BARNES GREETED AT CLUB WHERE HE WAS CADDY

Lelant, Cornwall, Eng., July 8—Jim Barnes, golf professional from the United States, who recently won the British open championship at Prestwick was the honor guest at a luncheon given today by members of the West Cornwall Golf Club, where years ago as a caddy and an apprentice in the professional's shop the champion first learned the game.

In commemoration of his recent victory in the British championship, Lord St. Levan on behalf of the members presented Barnes a silver salver.

Next Saturday, on the Verulam course at St. Albans, near London, Barnes will play a 36-hole match against Abe Mitchell who is regarded as the best match play golfer among British professionals.
