ST. ANN'S GUILD SUPPER AND SALE WELL ATTENDED

New Parish Hall Scene of Pleasant Entertainment Last Night—Sale Well Patronized.

The members of the St. Ann's Guild of the Parish Church, assisted by the Countess of Ashburnham, held a supper and sale in the new Parish Hall Westmorland Street last evening. The twelve tables, which seated ten each looked very pretty with their miniature Christmas trees and red candles in silver candlesticks. In front of the centre table was a table adorned by a beautiful lace tablecloth, presided over by Lady Ashburnham. The decorations were pink chrysanthemums and candles.

Mrs. A. F. Bate, Mrs. T. V. Williams, Mrs. John Horncastle and Miss Mary Robertson poured. The ladies in charge of the tables and the waitresses were all members of the Guild and deserve much praise for the excellent supper and the manner in which it was served.

The booths, which were prettily decorated were upstairs. Those in charge of the different booths were: Aprons, Mrs. Dougherty, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. C. H. Forbes; Handkerchiefs, Mrs. Harry McNutt, Mrs. Wilfred Wade, Mrs. Guy Fox; Fancy Work, Mrs. Mont Belyea, Mrs. Ernest Bell, Miss Isabel Staples; Fish Pond, Mrs. Shorten; Flowers, Miss Elizabeth Barker; Candy, Misses Williams, Ethel Staples, Vera Boddington, Marie Kitchen; Variety Table, Mrs. David Staples; Book table, Miss Alice Perley.

DISCOVERS NEW METHOD OF SOUND REPRODUCTION

Inventor of the Radio Tube Given Basic Patent.

NO DISTORTION IN SOUND WAVES

Attachment to Edges of Electro-Telephonic Unit.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press.)
New York, Nov. 27—A basic patent covering what he terms a revolutionary principle in sound reproduction has been received by Dr. Lee DeForest, inventor of the radio tube. According to Dr. DeForest, his discovery is that a curved membrane can be made to reproduce sound waves without distortion by the application to its edges of an electro-magnetic telephonic unit. Reproduction at present is conducted on the principle of beating a drum. Dr. DeForest's idea is that of introducing the vibration by action on the edges of the diaphragm.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR QUEEN MOTHER IN THE ABBEY TODAY.

(Special to The Daily Mail by United Press.)
London, Nov. 27—Queen Mother Alexandra fresh from her Danish home in 1863, arrived in England during a snowstorm.

Today, England paid her farewell in another snowstorm, which however, ceased before the service in Westminster Abbey started. Throughout the afternoon the general public will be permitted to pass through the Abbey to pay their respects to the Queen Mother. In the evening the body will be taken to Windsor Castle and on Saturday morning, after a committal service, attended only by the royal family and the members of Alexandra's household, will be placed in the royal tomb house under the chapel. Upon completion of the sarcophagus for Edward VII. and Alexandra in the chapel, the body will be placed there.

THANKFUL FOR PEACE DESIRE

(Special to the Daily Mail by British United Press.)
Berlin, Nov. 27—Speaking at Thanksgiving festivities here American Ambassador Schurman said: "If I were asked for what I am most thankful, I would answer for the growth of the sentiment of peace and prevention of war which is brooding over the old world which one war has half ruined and which another might utterly destroy."

Von Tirpitz Agrees Submarines Should Be Abolished in War

Gives Opinion in Interview to the United Press—Sanctity of Property on Seven Seas a Condition—Abolition of Blockade Should Take Place at the Same Time.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

BERLIN, November 27—The venerable Admiral Von Tirpitz, who advocated submarine war against Germany's enemies and developed the U-boat to its highest war efficiency, told the United Press today in an exclusive interview that he favored abolition of the submarine as a war weapon.

Asked for his opinion of this question in the light of England's renewed effort to have the "wasps of the sea" banished by international agreement the Admiral declared this would be "desirable" although he attached a condition to his advocacy. The sanctity of private property on the "seven seas" he said conforms to an ancient principal of law.

Therefore, the abolition of submarines is extremely desirable, providing that subsequent abolition of the blockade follows as a logical consequence.

KING CABINET TO ENCOURAGE IMMIGRATION

Ottawa, Nov. 26—A large expenditure of effort and money to multiply many times the number of settlers coming in to swell the man-power of Canada is contemplated in plans formulated by the Federal Government, provided it retains power by the aid of the Progressives.

W. J. Egan, Deputy Minister of Immigration and Colonization, will leave here almost immediately for Great Britain, and W. R. Little, former immigration commissioner for the Dominion in Great Britain, is to undertake a special immigration mission in the United States, under the direction of Hon. Charles Stewart, acting minister of that department.

Repatriation Planned.

The enlarged project will provide for a directed repatriation into Canada of Canadians who have gone to populate the New England States, most of these being from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Although there are a large number of men from the Maritime Provinces industrially employed in New England centres, most of them are farmers by vocation. Many domestics employed in Boston and other New England centres are also drawn from Nova Scotia, and many of the hospitals of New England are "manned" by nurses who hail from the Maritime Provinces.

To what extent the Federal Government is disposed to go in this new scheme has not yet been disclosed, but some announcement is expected in the Speech from the Throne when Parliament opens. A new agreement with the British Government has been effected and will form a part of the plans now in contemplation.

LIVING COSTS RISE IN PARIS LATIN QUARTER

Paris, Nov. 27—Students who come to Paris this fall to attend the lectures given by the various faculties will have difficulty in finding accommodations. Charges for rooms in the Latin quarter are reported to be 25 per cent higher. Hotels which formerly catered to students have changed their policy. It pays better to let rooms by the day than by the month and their rooms are nearly all filled. A student may consider himself lucky if he finds even an unheated room for 250 francs (about $12.50) a month. If he wants central heating he will have to pay from 350 to 400 francs (17.50 to $20). Food prices in small cafes and restaurants have increased by 25 to 30 per cent. University officials fear that the number of French students attending lectures at the Sorbonne medical school will decrease considerably. Some members of the faculties suggest a special tax on foreign students the proceeds to be distributed to needy French students.

NO ENGLISH SPOKEN BY THE IRISH IN 2025

Dublin, Nov. 27—Gaelic players have been presenting at the Abbey theater in Dublin a number of plays in the Irish language. They have drawn large audiences. The latest of these is a witty representation of what it is supposed will happen in Ireland in the year 2025 when the country is wholly Irish-speaking and even the orangemen know no English. In the play English is then studied as a foreign language and is recommended to pupils as the language of Shakespeare, Milton and Shaw. A Belfast university professor complains that his English class has only three students. Finally a meeting in favor of learning English is broken up as seditious by green-badged police. The play has a satirical edge and was keenly enjoyed.

WASHINGTON IS EXPERIENCING BIG CRIME WAVE

Daylight Holdups Have Become a Common Occurrence.

STORES AND HOMES ROBBED

Police Said to be Too Busy With Traffic Regulations.

Washington, Nov. 27—Coincident with the efforts of the Washington police to enforce an ever changing multitude of traffic regulations, a crime wave has swept over the Capital.

Daylight holdups, heretofore rare in Washington have become an almost daily occurrence. Residences as well as stores have been robbed and in one case a bandit spent an hour in a urivate residence trussing up the occupant, his wife and the maid; and then escaped with valuables in the owner's automobile.

Complaints have been made that while these crimes have been committed large numbers of the police force have been busy tagging automobiles for over-parking or chasing other machines for minor infractions of the regulations.

TOLD NOT TO RAISE CROP OF TOBACCO

U. S. Growers Warned to Curtail Their Production.

HAVE TWO YEARS SUPPLY IN STORE

More Profitable to Summer at the Seashore.

Hartford, Nov. 27—Speaking as an individual tobacco grower with a comprehensive knowledge of the tobacco situation in New England, Joseph W. Alsop, president of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Association, today declared that unless the tobacco farmers in the Connecticut Valley not only curtail the acreage but refuse to raise any tobacco at all next year, the product will not reach a normal price level for more than 10 years and the farmers will face ruin.

"Farmers will find it more profitable to spend the Summer at the seashore than to stay at home and raise a crop that will serve only to increase the present over-supply," Mr. Alsop said. "It is customary to have on hand about a year's supply in November. But this year there is practically two years' supply in storehouses and warehouses."

"Tobacco manufacturers are now arguing that the prevailing prices of their raw material should be lowered because of the large quantity on hand and this is in line with sound business reasoning. But if the price is lowered as little as 10 cents a pound, every farmer in the valley will suffer a loss that will be totalled in the millions."

LITTLE WILLIE STILL CLAIMS SILVER SERVICE

Berlin, Nov. 27—Friedrich Wilhelm, ex-crown prince of Prussia, would like a set of table silver which he claims is his. It is not certain that he will get it. Before the world war, when he married, he was promised the set as a wedding present from forty Prussian cities. The set was not completed before the war and by the time it was finished Friedrich Wilhelm was no longer crown prince of Prussia. Still he demanded his silver. This struck the forty cities as unreasonable. They appointed a delegation to visit Oels and reason with the prince. He refused to see them. Now a smaller commission has been repulsed with the words: "He is not in position to receive the commission. Moreover he has received so much ingratitude from the German people that in this case he must stand by his right." It is not unlikely that the ownership of the silver service will be decided by the courts.
