STRAWBERRIES ARE GROWING IN ALASKA

Because of the lack of snow for sleds, the contractors have been unable to fill their orders. As a result the railroad has ordered thousands of ties from Seattle to be shipped to Seward by water.

A COUP BY THE FASCISTI IS THREATENED

A Military Uprising is Now Feared in Hungary.

WARNING IS GIVEN BY PREMIER

The Counterfeiting Revelations Have Been Hushed Up.

Budapest, Jan. 21—The nervous tension resulting from the tumultuous scenes of the opening session of Parliament and the imposing display of police on the streets, is manifesting itself in alarmist reports. Some think Parliament's reactions to the counterfeiting scandal will lead to a military coup by Horthy and the Fascists; others believe it will force Premier Bethlen to resign. Meanwhile within Parliament itself the situation seems to have eased somewhat following Bethlen's resumption of negotiations with the Opposition.

Fear of a coup continues to thrive on Bethlen's private warning last night to the Opposition that he might be able to restrain the army if they acted in Parliament today as they have now acted. It is rendered more possible by the fact that Horthy, not Bethlen, controls the army—rather the armies for there are two in Hungary, regular and secret. The latter is largely composed of Fascists, and these parties were the worst involved in the counterfeiting. Though they are Horthy's chief political friends, all the numerous counterfeiting trails pointing toward the immediate entourage of the Regent have been officially lost with mysterious abruptness.

It is not questioned here that investigations have been greatly hindered by the powerful, the secret Opposition of the Horthy group. It is certainly significant that Horthy has not yet made a single public statement condemning the counterfeits or by his public action done anything to dispel persistent reports that he is protecting them.

This is true even of the smaller flocks.

Machine Guns Were Used on Booze Ship Off New York Harbor

Was Finally Abandoned With Sea Cocks Opened, But Was Prevented From Sinking by the Pursuers—Was Trying to Make a Run to the Wharf—Coast Guards Had Been Tipped Off—Chase Was a Lively One.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

NEW YORK, N. Y., January 21—Machine gun fire rattling through the harbor the tug "Rescue" led police and coast guard boats a thrilling chase almost within site of New York city during the night and was finally abandoned her sea cocks opened. She was saved from sinking only by quick boarding by the pursuers.

Four men were arrested, four others were believed to have escaped and a million dollar's worth of liquor was captured. The Rescue is $50,000 boat engine for high speed and was recently sold by the Merritt-Chapman Co., of New York, the present ownership being indefinite.

Cargo Purchased Abroad

It is believed that the vessel had loaded her cargo abroad, instead of buying it on Rum Row, and was attempting the daring feat of running it direct to a wharf in New York. Coast guard details had a tip to watch for the ship. Last night they saw it steaming through the narrows. A coast-guard speed boat was sent in pursuit but its engines failed and the the rescue drew away the coastguard opened fire.

A police detail heard the firing and set out on a police boat. The Rescue sped directly past the police launch, unheeding signals to stop. The police opened fire. The Rescue dashed on, up the East River, with the police following. About a mile up the river the Rescue swooped and then evidently, it was found impossible to escape. The sea cocks were opened, the boat was swung towards a wharf twenty men leaped overboard and the ship was abandoned. Officers drew up and boarded closing the sea cocks just in time to prevent the boat from sinking.

CANCER SCOURGE IS RECEIVING ATTENTION

Regarded as the Foremost Medicine Problem Today.

DISCUSSED BY DR. SOPER

Has Lately Made Extensive Investigations Abroad.

New York, Jan. 21—America should awake to the menace of cancer and redouble efforts to fight the disease as energetically as Europe is doing, said Dr. George A. Soper last night at a dinner of the American Society for the Control of Cancer. Dr. Soper who is managing director of the society, reported on extensive and recent investigations abroad.

"Cancer is everywhere regarded as the foremost medical problem of the day," said Dr. Soper. "It accounts for one-tenth of all deaths among the grown people of the United States, and the mortality is as high or higher in practically every country of Europe."

Much Make Great Effort.

"It is time our country fully realized to nature and magnitude of its cancer problem and marshalled more of its great resources in an organized effort to combat it. We must make a great collective effort if we want to make any headway against cancer."

"It will be well to continue to seek for the causes and a cure for the disease; but nobody should expect that a brilliant discovery is going to banish cancer from the world. The best qualified students of the subject have no such delusion. The interviews which I have just had with over fifty of the foremost cancer specialists in Europe, no less than the character of the preparations which are being made for an indefinitely extended campaign, confirm the opinion that it may be very many years before cancer will be entirely mastered."

"Much is being done to combat cancer in the United States, but a great deal more is being done abroad. The League of Nations is a commonwealth which is comparing the statistics of one nation with those of others in the hope of throwing light on the causation of the disease. The British Government is continuing to support the work of Dr. Gye and Barnard which created such a sensation last summer."
