Here and There

The financial statement of the Canadian Pacific Railway issued at Montreal for the seven months of 1926 ending July 31st, shows the large increase in the net profits of $6,691,301.52 over the net profits for the first seven months of 1925. The gross earnings were $101,826,207.11, as compared with $90,343,867.75 for the first seven months of 1925.

Unofficial estimates prepared by the authorities of the Department of Commerce, Washington, estimated that Americans visiting Canada this year would spend approximately $190,000,000. This estimate was intimated to be very conservative and that it was more than likely that the amount would exceed the $200,000,000 mark.

Announcement was made recently over the signature of E. N. Todd, freight traffic manager, Canadian Pacific Railway, of the appointment of D. A. Wanklyn as Industrial Commissioner of the Railway, with offices in Montreal. Mr. Wanklyn replaces Graham W. Curtis, who has resigned, to fill the position of general manager for Montreal Rail and Water Terminals, Limited.

Otto H. Kahn, chairman of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Opera Company, accompanied by a party of internationally known financiers of New York, visited the National Exhibition at Toronto recently. Mr. Kahn, who is perhaps the leading art and music patron of the United States, addressed a luncheon of the directors of the Exhibition on September 2nd, the day of the Exhibition, which was set aside as "Music Day."

It is understood that purchases in Canada of 5,000 railway cars may result from the visit of the engineering expert, Mr. Vandergulch, and the Transport Commissariat's representative, Mr. Baronsky, who have been delegated by the Soviet Republic to investigate the possibility of securing this number in Canada. They have also been instructed to make a study of the organization of the Canadian railway shops and the repair methods in general.

Three wolf cubs were caught recently near Lake Doucelle in Northern Ontario by Arthur Beauvais, well-known driver of the Chateau Frontenac dog team at Quebec, and will be trained by Beauvais for the harness. He is confident that by mingling the wolves with huskie puppies for several months they will lose some of their wolfish nature and make an attractive addition to the Chateau team. Beauvais states that, while wolves have endurance, they have not the "heart" of a huskie dog.

Two world's swimming records were established at the Crystal Gardens swimming pool at Victoria recently, when Ethel McGarry, of New York, swam 880 yards in 12 minutes and 41 seconds, or nine seconds better than the previous woman's record for this event; and when Agnes Gerahty, also of New York, clipped five and two-fifths seconds off the previous record for 200 yards, by completing the distance in three minutes and 12 and three-fifths seconds.

Celebrating the change in name of the historic Dominion Express Company to that of the Canadian Pacific Express Company, a street parade in Montreal was held September first, the day of the change in name, consisting of every description of Express vehicle, new and old. Sam Nightingale, a driver of 30 years' service, headed the parade seated in a wagon of 1890 vintage, and hauled by "Babe," a horse that has been in constant service with the Company for 19 years. Similar parades were held at Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

AN AUTUMN WHIPPOORWILL.
In the Southland they call you "Chuck Will's Widow," Bird of the liquid name Bird of the twilight and the leafy shadow:
It seems to me a shame!
For you are whippoorwill, that and that only,
In the dim wood apart;
Plaintive, sequestered, passionate and lonely,
And haunting to the heart.
But "Chuck Will's Widow!"—never that, oh never,
For I shall hold you still
Endeared to me forever and forever
As whippoor—whippoorwill!

RICH BOY IN A SECTION GANG IN THE WEST; SCION OF HILL FAMILY

Superior, Wis., Sept. 27—Joe Ciccio, who has swung a mean pick for a Great Northern railroad section crew since he passed through Ellis Island, has a new side kick.

Louis Warren Hill, Jr., is his name. His grandfather, James J. Hill, built the railroad. His father, Louis W. Hill, is chairman of the board of directors. The Hill family also controls the Northern Pacific and the Burlington railroads and naturally is well up in the last when Uncle Sam starts handing out upper bracket income tax blanks.

Louis, Jr., a strapping fellow of 24, with a big grin, was graduated from Yale and Oxford universities. Thus qualified, he returned from England and, without a word to his family, came to Superior and stood in line at the Great Northern employment office here without making his identity known.

"I'm a laborer," young Hill told a hard-boiled foreman.

"You'll need a strong back if you go out with this gang," he was told.

"I've got it," the young man with the slight Oxford accent replied.

Identity Kept Secret.

He gave the name of Warren Hill and joined up with Joe Ciccio. He did not reveal his identity. He just shoveled and picked from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. and did very little talking. In fact, Joe advised him, from the depth of his experience, to ease up a bit. The newcomer only grinned. "He's a work-in' fool," Joe said.

Finally a passing official recognized young Hill. Then came a swarm of reporters and photographers to get the story of the "young millionaire starting at the bottom."

Young Hill shook them all away. He couldn't be bothered. He didn't see anything strange about it. All the Hills had worked on section gangs. James J. Hill got his start unloading freight on river boats in Minneapolis before the days of the railroads. Louis W. Hill started early and was through every department of the railroad before he became president.

Good Crew is Necessary.

"A good section crew is as important as a good president, and even more so sometimes," young Hill remarked, and with the additional observation that the newspaper contingent was cluttering up his father's road bed, he turned back to his pick. Joe Ciccio shook his head.

"This fella could ride in a private car and smoke big cigars and here he is working with me for $2.50 a day," mourned Joe. "I wish I had that chance. I'd throw this pick into Lake Superior from here."

A fast train came around the bend and the section crew stood aside to let it whiz by. Joe Ciccio waved gaily at a girl, who fluttered a handkerchief from a car window.

Young Hill was crouched over watching the ballasting under the stretch of newly laid ties.
