EXPECTED IN TONIGHT'S GAME

Fredericton Team Looks Good — University of N. B. Squad to Work Out Wednesday Afternoon.

There is going to be hockey and lots of it at the Arctic Rink tonight when Campbellton faces Fredericton. The result at Chatham last night when the home team defeated Campbellton came as a surprise as Campbellton had been considered strong by the experts who figure out those things. With Fredericton beating Chatham and Chatham beating Campbellton it would look like Fredericton's night tonight. Hockey is a game in which you never can tell, however.

The Fredericton Team.
Fredericton is to put on the ice a strong team the lineup as announced being as strong as possible this season although Edgar Wade is not included. The forwards who will start are Keene, Jim Sterling and Alan Sterling. They will be relieved by Mark Wade and Si Keenan. The defence will be the old reliable pair Clark and Steen with Hickson as net guardian. The eight players should give a good account of themselves.

College Team to Start.
Wednesday afternoon is to see the first workout of the University of N. B. hockey squad. The Red and Black will be minus the services of Fred MacLean as coach as he has departed for Sackville where as stated in the Mail some weeks ago, he has been engaged to coach Mt. Allison University's squad and also is likely to work with the Sackville town squad in the Central League. MacLean signed with Mt. Allison a long time ago and although he would have preferred to remain here is going to live up his contract. The Garnet and Gold evidently is out to make it a hockey year but will have a tough proposition in the U. N. B. squad. The matter of a coach for U. N. B. will be dealt with later.

SNEER TOWARD
HOCKEY IN CANADA

Boston, Jan. 4—A campaign to develop a strictly amateur hockey game which will include the opening of numerous playground rinks here this winter to stimulate school boy interest and will lead eventually, its sponsor's hope, to similar action throughout the country is the aim of the New England A. A. U.

"Hockey, as far as American competition in the next Olympics at Amsterdam goes, would be a strictly amateur proposition," declared William Prout, Vice-President of the American Olympic Association, and the only U. S. member of the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

"We want to develop hockey and feel that going after the youngsters is our only hope. There will be no more of the Canadian interpretation of amateurism as for as our hockey goes. We intend to stand by our interpretation of the amateur as defined by the Amateur Athletic Union."

Prout said that he had been watching the work of the eastern teams, and was pleased with their showing. "They are on the right road, and by Olympic time in 1928, we ought to be able to find some sort of a real amateur organization fit to fill the Olympic team," he said.

Home is where the young collegian leaves his grip during the holidays.

Tourists in Eastern U. S.
League are Weeded Out

Stan and Wilfrid Veno Among the Number — Their Brother Arthur Allowed to Play — Residence Clause Bars S. Slater of Montreal, Gee Ahern of Halifax and Many Others.

New York, Jan. 4—A general cleaning out from the ranks of Eastern United States amateur hockey of all pseudo amateur puck chasers and those whose eligibility is any way doubted, has been started in New York and Boston, although the authorities have worked silently and without publicity.

Sensation after sensation has been sprung in the camps of the amateur clubs, but only those connected with the operating clubs have been aware of what has already happened and what will probably happen within the next few weeks. The sensations connect the five clubs operating in the Eastern league, New York A. C., St. Nicholas and Knickerbockers of this city and Pere Marquette and Boston A. A. of Boston.

Early in the season, due to the scandal started by Irving Small, Boston A. A. player and American Olympic team star last year, when he sued the Boston Arena Company for salary alleged to have been due him, the sport writers of the Hub demanded a clearance of all doubtful performers for public confidence. Over in New York the clubs were organizing for the new league and players from many sections of Canada were suddenly bobbing up in the city made famous by the glaring lights of Broadway.

When word was sent to Boston that Wilfrid and Stanley Veno, originally from Chatham, New Brunswick, but for the past five years residents of Boston and New Haven, were slated for berths with the Knickerbockers, the trouble started.

Venos in Scandal.

President Von Bernuth of the Eastern League received complaints from Boston that as the Venos were mixed up in the scandal centered around the Westminster club mix-up of 1922, Boston fans would not tolerate their playing in the amateur league, although neither has ever been branded for professional. That complaint marked the passing of the Venos despite their hard training with the Knickerbockers.

President Ted Saucier made repeated appeals for cards for the Venos, but meeting after meeting decided against them. But that wasn't all. No sooner had the Knickerbockers been measured for uniforms than other charges were made against their players, First Percy "Spider" Fynan and Arthur Veno, brother of Stanley and Wilfred, were protested under the residence ruling.

While the Knickerbockers were planning a defense for Veno and Fynan, seven other players were refused cards. They are: Cyril S. "Sig" Slater, Montreal, Canadian Olympic team star; Gee Ahern, Halifax, N. S.; Abby Cox, Ottawa and New Haven; Chester Harris, Saskatoon; Tommy Gillespie, Toronto, and Saul Ste. Marie; Moss Gagne, Ottawa, and Leo Schrader, Ottawa, Cox and Harris were charged with infraction of the amateur rules and when letters from Canada were produced they were not permitted to play with the Knickerbockers in their 7 to 2 victory over St. Nicholas last week in New York.

Slater Barred.

Slater, Ahern, Gillespie, Gagne and Schrader were barred under the residence ruling. A stormy meeting was held between the clubs and Gillespie, Ahern, Gagne, Schrader, Fynan and A. Veno, granted cards shortly before the game. Slater was not permitted to play, and with Harris Cox and the Venos, he watched the play from the bleachers. It appears that Gillespie, Ahern, Gagne and Schrader were registered in the United States over a year ago. In the interim, Boston questioned the right of "Red" Hall, a professional football player, to mingle with the amateur hockeyists. The usual meeting was held and the officials contended that Hall had not played professional hockey and was eligible to play with the U. S. A. simon pures. This decision has so far appeared popular.

Without much publicity, Phil Rudolf of New York A. C. suddenly dropped out of sight and when his team appeared against the Boston A. A. the A. C. team was without their star performer who formerly played with the Westminster, Veno's team. On top of this comes the announcement that "Hago" Harrington, Pere Marquette star, was also slated for a jeering behind closed doors, but Harrington has since entered the professional ranks with Art Ross' Boston Bruins.

Harris and Cox are voicing their innocence and President Saucier, who is endeavoring to keep his club strictly amateur, is trying to help the ousted players. Slater will probably return to Montreal, where he has played in the Bankers' League and with Victorias. To fill in the gaps caused by the suspension of Slater and Harris, the Knickerbockers signed Dr. Teddy Behan, former McGill and New Haven player. Just what will happen in eastern amateur hockey circles remains to be seen.

Slater in Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 4—Sir Slater is at present in Montreal, having returned for the New Year holiday and when in conversation with The Star said that he was not quite sure that he would return to the United States metropolis and would in all probability be found with the Bank of Montreal team or the Bankers' League this season and possibly Victorias of the Senior Q. A. H. A. series.

The former Olympic star is high in his praise of the new Eastern Amateur League across the border, and says that it is run on a purely amateur basis and that the officers are decidedly strict in regard to the residence rule of the players and to their amateur status. Slater also states that all the players on the New York teams are bona fide amateurs.

Slater has never left the employ of the Bank of Montreal and the time that he expected to be in the United States was to be on his holidays which he is spending at present.

DANDURAND
COULD NOT BUY
BABE DYE

Montreal, Jan. 4—That Canadiens are out to secure new talent, regardless of cost, was indicated in the announcement today of Manager Leo Dandurand, who, on his return from Chicago, announced that he had offered the Toronto St. Patrick's a record price for their scoring star, "Babe" Dye. The offer was refused. Dye, a temperamental player, is in the bad books of Toronto fans just now, and Manager Dandurand thought it was an opportune time to seek his transfer, but the Toronto Club would not do business.

Manager Dandurand, suffering from a bad cold, will not accompany the team to Pittsburgh, but, instead, will spend the next few days trying to round up new talent. He is seeking a good forward to relieve his attacking division, and is ready to spend up to $20,000 to get the right man.

Moncton, Jan. 4—In a fast game at the Arena here tonight between the Moncton and Saint John teams of the southern section of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association, the former won by a score of 5 to 3. It was a splendid contest throughout.

CHATHAM GAVE CAMPBELLTON
SEVERE DEFEAT

Score 8 to 2 at Chatham Last Night — Visitors Completely Outplayed in Fast Game.

Chatham, Jan. 4—Playing brilliant hockey the Chatham team out-skated and outplayed the Campbellton team tonight winning out 8 to 2. The local team showed tremendous improvement over their game with Fredericton last week. Every man on the line up played a sterling brand of hockey and it would be impossible to name any individual star.

Substitute players were used freely and they showed up well. The locals had no difficulty in breaking up the combination play of the visitors. In this department of the game they themselves were seen to good advantage.

Kerr, McMahon, Kerr, Keoughan, Fleiger, Duncan, Duncan and J. Keoughan scored in that order and Miller and Sharpe for Campbellton.

The line-up:

Chatham	Goal.	Campbellton
Carvel	Goal.	LeBlanc
Fallon	Defence.	McLean
Keoughan	Centre	Sharp
Fleighter	Wings	Howard
Kerr	Wings	Wilkins
McMahon	Subs	Thomas
Duncan		Lavolette
Keating		Miller
J. Keoughan		Shannon

VANCOUVER
FAILED TO GET
AMATEUR STARS

Port Arthur, Jan. 4—Although the Port Arthur Allan Cup holders, from goal out, have turned down innumerable offers from pro. clubs since last winter, it remained for Gordon Wilson and Bill Brydget, the defense pair, now playing together for their fourth season, to decline today one of the highest offers ever made to hockey players.

It was a bid from Vancouver approximately $5,000 each for the balance of the season, but the reply in each case was a confirmation of the previous announcement that all members of the team had agreed to stick together for another year in Allan Cup hockey. The team has now been without a change, except on the spare list, for three years.

My trouble was caused from overwork and worry, having been left alone with a large family. I had tried everything, without any relief, but I know, today, that I would have been a nervous wreck but for your wonderful
