E. O. McDONALD MUSIC BOOTH ATTRACTIVE

A Fredericton Exhibition would hardly be complete without the E. O. MacDonald exhibit which is situated in the usual place of the past few years on the left of the main entrance. This exhibit which is always attractive is drawing large crowds this year as usual as Prof. Ralph Wilson, plays daily on one of the beautifully toned pianos which are tastefully displayed in this particular booth. Among the best known makes which are shown here is the Sherlock Manning Player Piano, which is considered one of the best instruments on the market today. The Gramophone is also shown in this very attractive exhibit, the color scheme of which is white and green, while a very handsome brown rug graces the floor. Mr. E. O. MacDonald the well known and popular proprietor of the Queen Street Store is always on hand ready and willing to talk business and sell anything in the musical line from a piano to a gramophone needle.

THE LUMBER MARKET IS A BIT SLUGGISH

Orders for Future Delivery are Showing a Recession.

STOCKS LESS THAN YEAR AGO

Prospects are Good for an Active Fall Movement.

New York, Sept. 22.—Orders have been showing a gain on the production of the principal softwood mills, and equaled it during the week ended August 28. There is, however, little buying for future needs. Both industrial consumers and retail yards place orders when they must have the material. But it is noteworthy that they are becoming quite urgent in their requests for quick shipment. This the manufacturers find increasingly difficult to give, for so far this year they have shipped a good deal more lumber than they cut, says the American Lumberman. Prospects are good for an active fall movement, especially to the agricultural sections.

Stocks of southern pine mills on August 1 were 12.36 per cent. less than those on the corresponding date last year, while in the four weeks ended August 27 there was an excess of shipments over production of 4.5 million feet. Orders in the same four weeks were 15 million feet ahead of shipments. Sales are largely to the Southwest and South. The market position of this wood is therefore much stronger, and some price advances have been put into effect.

Bookings of the West Coast fir mills have been running behind their output but for the year to date these have sold 4 per cent. more and shipped 3 per cent. more than their production. Rail trade with the middle West is very satisfactory, and there is a good intercoastal movement to the Atlantic seaboard. Business with California is reviving, for holdings there have been greatly depleted and stocks need replenishment for what promises to be good fall trade. Foreign markets continue to take fair amounts, but not their normal share of the mill output though there are indications of improved trade with Japan and Australia. Quotations show no change.

Southern hardwood orders have exceeded production by over two per cent. in each of the last couple of weeks, though output is maintained around ninety per cent. of normal. Bookings of northern hardwood mills during the three weeks ended August 21 were 14.8 million feet against shipments of 11.6 million and production of 5.6 million feet. Trade in hardwoods is good and the outlook bright.

Fire Was of Mysterious Origin and Caused a Loss of $1,000,000—Was Property of Wealthy Detroit Lady—Crew Fought the Flames Stubbornly—Maid Salvaged Jewels to the Value of a Quarter of a Million Dollars.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

William Heughan, "Scotland's Incomparable Actor Singer" with Gladys Sayer, Pianiste were heard at the Opera House last evening. Mr. Heughan has a wonderful voice and is a fine actor as well as a singer and was well received by an appreciative audience. His rendering of "Widdicomie Fair" with the different expressions representing the different characters was particularly good and loudly applauded.

He sang numerous Scottish songs including "The March of the Cameron Men" and "When the Kye Comes Home," besides a goodly selection of English and Irish songs. Miss Sayer was heard in several piano selections which were exceedingly good. Mr. Heughan will appear at the Opera House again tonight when he should have a large audience as this will be Fredericton's last chance to hear this marvellous singer. Mr. Heughan announced that he would sing any song requested by anyone if the request is handed in at the box office. The most attractive part of Mr. Heughan's entertainment is his characterization of the people who are mentioned in his songs. Each selection is prefaced by a description of the song by Mr. Heughan and a brief historical sketch if it is from some well known Old Country locality.
