It was the first time since 1923 that a woman had been executed in England. Thousands of people had signed a petition for a reprieve, but the home office had refused to intervene.

SPEAKER TO DECIDE ON POINT OF ORDER

(Special to The Daily Mail.)

Ottawa, June 24—When Parliament resumes this afternoon Speaker Lemieux is expected to give his ruling on the sub-amendment to the Stevens amendment moved by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member during the debate on the Customs charges early this morning. When the sub-amendment was moved Hon. Mr. Meighen raised a point of order and it is on this that the speaker will give his ruling.

It is certain now that a division will take place some time tonight. A number of members including the Premier and Mr. Meighen are still to speak but the debate will not be unduly protracted.

It now seems certain that at least two and perhaps three of the Progressive members will vote for the Stevens amendment and against the government. All indications point to one of the most crucial divisions of the session.

A JUNE BUG
WORSE THAN A
KISSING BUG

Truro, June 23—A "June bug," entering a closed car at Hilden last night, nearly caused a serious accident, when a young woman becoming terror stricken by the insect, leaped from the fast moving car to the road. While drifting through Hilden a June bug, entering the car through the windshield, struck the back of the car and rebounded, landing on her head. With a scream she opened the door of the car and jumped to the road, before the driver could bring the car to a stop. She landed on her feet uninjured.

When asked why she feared the "June bug" she replied that when quite young she was frightened by one, and ever since, try as she may she cannot overcome the terror that seizes her when one of the insects comes near her. She declared "I would rather face a bear than a 'June bug' any time. She said she would jump from a train going fifty miles an hour rather than occupy the same apartment with a 'June bug'."

St. Annes, On The Sea, June 24—Two incidents in connection with the open golf tournament caused Britishers to laugh and frown.

In the first, they got a good laugh because Bobby Jones had to pay sixty cents to gain admission to the St. Annes links, he had forgotten his card and the man at the gate did not recognize him.

The other incident was the appearance in the newspapers of cartoons depicting John Bull as a depressed shopkeeper who stands idly by while Uncle Sam runs off with golf honors, France with tennis and Australia with cricket.

WOMEN TALK
THE LONGEST
OVER PHONE

Berlin, June 24—Berlin telephone officials assert that a check-up on complaints about the inadequacy of public telephone booths has revealed that women's telephone conversations last an average of eighteen minutes. Men talk about nine minutes.

Under the heading "Paint and Powdering Stations" the telephone administration's report discusses the second cause for long waiting lines. Numerous women use the booths, the report says, merely to revamp their make-up.

Had Fair Sport.

Mr. H. G. Chestnut has returned from a fishing trip to the Restigouche. He landed a number of salmon, the largest tipping the scales at twenty-seven pounds. Mr. Chestnut says that the fishing on the Restigouche has not been quite up to the average this year, probably owing to the backward season. The river he says is alive with anglers, most of whom are Americans belonging to clubs which control the various pools. The Restigouche is undoubtedly the greatest salmon angling river in the world, and brings a good many thousands of American dollars into the province each year.
