THE BICYCLE BEING RESTORED TO POPULARITY IN THE U.S.; OVER TWO MILLION NOW IN USE

New York, Aug. 19—Human legs remain worthy competitors of gasoline as propulsion power for wheeled travel in America.

The humble bicycle, which reached the zenith of popularity in 1897, not only still holds an important place in everyday transportation of Americans, but has staged a tremendous revival in racing sports says officials of the cycle trades of America.

Aid to Traffic.

These officials predict that with increasing congestion of traffic caused by automobiles, the bicycle is destined to assume still greater importance in travel.

It is estimated there are now 2,000,000 bicycles in the United States. A department of commerce report showed that 287,000 were manufactured in 1925, but manufacturers say these figures were incomplete and that many more were turned out.

A modern version of the ancient fable of the tortoise and the hare is seen by the cycle experts in the relations of bicycles and automobiles. The ability of the bicycle—the pedalled "tortoise"—to thread in and out of lines of traffic enables it to overtake the automobile—the motored "hare"—and in many instances to make better time, they assert.

Another advantage favoring the bicycle is the survival in the average modern youth of a desire to possess a bicycle at some time in his young life. More than 300,000 pupils in 500 schools throughout the country have been instructed in the use of the bicycle by a field force maintained by the cycle trades organization.

Rules for safety are stressed and the annual report of the organization for the past year states that there are fewer accidents among children riding to or from schools on bicycles than among those who walk. Statistics on bicycle accidents, in fact, show them to be the lowest in percentage of all vehicular accidents.

The centre of the bicycle population is given as the middle Atlantic states. Working people in New England in particular, use the two-wheeled conveyance to good advantage in traveling to and from work.

At least 100,000 of the bicycle riders in the country now are girls it is reported.

Chicago, especially has seen an increase in bike racing. More than 40 states have held elimination trials to qualify riders for the sixth annual championship races which the Amateur Bicycle League of America will hold at the sesquicentennial exposition at Philadelphia from Sept. 10 to 12. Entry for the races was sought by more than 1500 riders.

The cycle trades of America will hold its annual convention at Atlantic City from Sept. 7 to 11.

ILLINOIS WOMAN IS AMERICA'S QUEEN OF RADIO; IS DECLARED WINNER OF ANNUAL CONTEST

New York, Aug. 16—America's "Queen of Radio" for 1926-7, is Mrs. Lotta Harrauff of Princeton, Illinois. Announcement of the winner in the annual "Miss Radio" contest was made today by G. Clayton Irwin, Jr., General Manager of the Radio World's Fair, at which she will be guest of honor, Sept. 13-18.

"Miss Radio," or rather "Mrs. Radio," is the wife of O. B. Harrauff, general agent of the Franklin Life Insurance Company and Postmaster at Princeton for ten years.

Mrs. Harrauff has tuned in stations in 125 American and 12 Canadian Cities, and has also European, Cuban, Mexican, and Porto Rican stations to her credit.

Her records were received by air-mail and attested to by affidavits signed by Jay L. Spaulding, her attorney, the Rev. John Acheson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in her town; A. H. Unholz, editor and publisher of the Bureau County Record; Dr. Peter H. Poppens, her family physician; Charles H. Coll, President of the First State Bank, and by Probate Judge J. R. Prichard, who writes: "Mrs. Harrauff is a cultured woman, of fine intellectual attainments, prominent in all social and musical affairs of the city, and deeply interested in the welfare and advancement of the community. She is a sincere believer in the radio and its future possibilities as the greatest educational factor of all time."

Her winning essay on "The American Woman and Radio" contains this striking paragraph.

"My dream spans the years, back in 1837, when the sturdy pioneer pair from the East braved the unknown and set forth to seek a new home,—finding it out 'where the West begins' and just next door to the 'State where the tall corn grows.' They built for themselves the home in which I now live, built it of brick and mortar to keep out the elements of nature, little knowing that in days to come, an element of nature would penetrate even those brick walls and bring, not the distress of cold wintry blasts, or summer's heat, but marvelous music, inspiring lectures, putting us in touch with the world, by a turn of the dial." She concludes with:

"Radio is a Godsend to the lonely woman and to the sick, to the woman on the farm, to the woman in the mountain fastness; to woman wherever she may be, it brings happiness and peace."

Mrs. Harrauff used a five tube neodyne receiver and explains her success in picking up DX by stating:

"We are careful to keep all batteries fully charged at all times, believing that the best results will come only from full batteries. We find that some of the so-called static is low batteries or corrosion.

She has best results on low wave stations by using a buried antenna seventy-five feet long.

The "Miss Radio" contest brought many brilliant records and eulogies of radio. Winners of second and third prizes, silver loving cups, will be announced next week. Mrs. Harrauff's entry in form and substance, was unanimously chosen as the best, although several contestants, in fine locations and with good sets, brought in a larger number of stations, notably Mrs. J. N. Barger of Albany, Mo., and Mrs. Flossie E. Erickson of Bloomington, Ill. Mrs. Barger won third prize last year and Mrs. Erickson won not only second honors for the Radio World's Fair but premier honors at the Chicago Radio Show.

A wonderful record has been made by Miss Jennie R. Miller, bedridden invalid of 139 W. Seneca Street, Oswego, N. Y., who has personal letters from President Coolidge and General Pershing in reply to her letters to them in testimony of the joy she has felt in listening to their radio addresses. Helen Keller, in May, visited her, and Miss Keller heard the enthusiastic story of what radio has meant to Miss Miller by resting her fingers on the girl's lips. Miss Keller wrote that she has hopes of hearing radio music and speech some day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrauff are now on an automobile trip and she will be notified of her distinction as the official representative of America's feminine radio fans upon her arrival today (Monday, August 16), in the Hotel Benjamin Franklin, Philadelphia.

A COURSE IN ACCIDENT PREVENTION

New York, Aug. 19—The first collegiate course in accident prevention will be offered next month by New York University.

Arthur Williams, president of the American Museum of Safety, sponsoring the course, said yesterday that the university's decision to train men and women for leadership in accident prevention work is "one of the most significant developments since the beginning of the safety movement."

The list of instructors included safety engineers of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., the Bethlehem Steel Co., and the New York Edison Co.

TO SELL CHALET ROYAL TO AID FINANCES

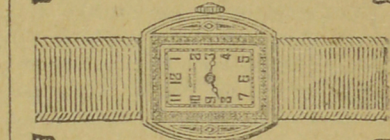

Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 19—The new Belgian economic program, framed to aid solution of the financial difficulty, went into effect today. Foreigners from countries with high exchange had their lodgement tax raised from 10 to 20 per cent, foreign motorists began paying 10 francs daily and foreign motor-cyclists 4 francs. Measures are being taken to diminish the number of state employees by 20 per cent.

King Albert has used his dictatorial power to authorize the sale of the royal seaside cottage at Ostend, known as the Chalet Royal, the proceeds to go to the treasury.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE

"The Million Dollar Handicap" a vivid, thrilling racing story founded on W. A. Fraser's classic of the race tracks, "Thoroughbreds," is being shown at the Capitol for the balance of the week. It abounds in attributes in which motion picture fans delight. It is dramatic, sensational and its scenes shift so rapidly that suspense is sustained throughout the entire showing of the picture. Vera Reynolds plays the leading role.
