FAILURE TO BREAK RECORD.

John Goldstrom, the aviation enthusiast who started so auspiciously to make a record trip around the world, has failed because of a combination of events which prevented his connecting with the steamship that was to have carried him across the Pacific.

The failure was a matter of chance more than anything else; but it is proof that the facilities for swift air-plane travel in Europe and Asia are not yet advanced to the stage where they may be relied upon with certainty to beat the train schedules over long distances. Goldstrom made a fast trip across the Atlantic and raced by airplane as far as Berlin, where he arrived twenty minutes less than six days after leaving New York. There his plans went to smash. A heavy fog interfered with the new direct air line to Moscow and held him up for a day. He missed a trans-Siberian train, was forced to take another, and, though considerably ahead of the record of John Henry Mears in 1913, arrived at Harbin, in Manchuria, about the time his transpacific steamship was leaving Yokohama, 1100 miles away.

Another effort arranged on the same schedules over the same route may be successful in cutting Mears' record of 35 days, 21 hours and 35 minutes. Mears made that record almost entirely by train and steamship; he used an airplane over only one short section of the route. Anyone who seeks to reduce the travel time must reckon with inflexible steamship schedules on the Atlantic and the Pacific and depend on a perfect interlocking of trains and airplanes for the continental journey.

This paragraph is for graduates. What has your education done to you? Of course you are only at the beginning of education. But what has it done to you—so far? If it has made you increasingly less appreciative and less grateful for the devotion and the sacrifice on the part of others which has made your chance possible, then this thing that you call education is no good. If it has made you less kind and less thoughtful of others, it is no good. If it has made you less tolerant rather than more tolerant it is no good.

Lord Beaverbrook will be the host to a party of forty from New Brunswick who will tour Great Britain during the coming summer. Of the number thirty-six are school teachers, several being members of the Fredericton school staff. The party will leave Quebec by the C. P. R. liner Montclair on Dominion Day. All expenses, including steamship passages, will be paid by His Lordship. That the teachers will have a good time and will add materially to their store of knowledge goes without saying.

One is constantly being called upon to make definite and serious choices in life. Sometimes you are called upon to choose between the retention of friendship and the following of your own earnest convictions. Friendship is one of the dearest things in all life. You are called upon to make up your mind whether some victory that you are aiming at is worth the sacrifice of friendship. Few things are worth that sacrifice. It is sometimes better to keep the old friends and get new convictions.

The number of automobile fatalities in the United States in 1925 was 22,500, an increase of about 10 per cent. over that in 1924 and the rate per 100,000 on population increased from 14.9 in 1924 to 15.7 in 1925. Fatality rates on the basis of registered cars had been decreasing up to 1924 but for 1925 it is about the same as in 1924. There were about 675,000 persons injured by automobiles in 1925 in addition to those killed.

It is understood that if the tentative arrangement is carried out the C. N. R. will pay taxes to the Province of New Brunswick for the year 1925, or a total of $238,000 for 1925 and 1926. The amount will almost take care of the entire deficit on the Valley Railway for the present year. This will be quite a windfall for the province and the Baxter administration is deserving of great credit for securing it.

MEN WILL BE DEBARRED IN THIS CASE

(Special to the Daily Mail by British United Press)

New York, N. Y., June 18—A woman's theatre from which all males will be excluded is planned for next fall by the Woman's Theatres, a group of young women trying to win stage recognition. Writing, directing, decorating and production will be accomplished entirely by women.

DENIES THAT SHE POISONED HER HUSBAND

Roberval, Quebec, June 17—Emily Sprague Gallop spent her second day in the witness box today in her trial for the murder of her husband. All the morning, she was questioned by her counsel, Allyn Taschereau, K. C., and in the afternoon she was cross-examined by Valmore Blenvenue for the crown. Mrs. Gallop maintained that she had never told anybody of poisoning her husband and swore this accusation was baseless.

At 5 o'clock, a juror stood up and said: "If the accused is not tired, I am, and I move the adjournment."

The evidence will be continued tomorrow and a verdict is expected some time on Saturday.

REV. DR. CHOWN WILL RETIRE

Montreal, June 17—Dr. S. D. Chown, former general superintendent of the Methodist Church and Rev. R. P. MacKay for years secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church, were granted leave to retire from official duties by the General Council of the United Church of Canada today.

Retirement will take effect at the conclusion of the present sessions. Both will receive their present salaries until the end of the year, and thereafter fifty per cent of that amount in addition to the amounts they will receive from their retirement fund.

SEIZURE OF RUM WAS MADE ON P. E. ISLAND

Halifax, June 17—Four hundred gallons of rum, in forty 10-gallon kegs, belonging to a person or persons unknown, were seized late yesterday afternoon on a small brush-covered island near Ingraupport, Halifax county, by a customs officer of that place who acted on information supplied by two youths, it was revealed here today.

The boys landed on the island to "explore" it and returned to Ingraupport with the announcement that they had found 14 kegs of rum.

Having been engaged on a rumored "landing of liquor" since the beginning of the week, the officer immediately visited the island and discovered, instead of 14 kegs, no less than 40 distributed in various places.

The Halifax authorities were notified and the liquor brought to the local examining rooms. A search is now being made for the owners.

C. P. R. ORDERS TWO 585-FOOT OCEAN LINERS

London, June 17—The Canadian Press learned tonight that the Canadian Pacific Railway has placed contracts for the construction of two class "M" vessels for the North Atlantic trade.

The Clyde shipbuilding firms of John Brown & Son and William Beardmore & Company were awarded the contracts.

In dimensions the new ships are to be 585 feet between the perpendiculars, 75 feet in the beam and 27 feet in the draught. They will have accommodations for 1,600 passengers and a cargo capacity of 4,000 tons. It is anticipated that the ships will be put into service in the early part of 1928. The contract prices were not announced.
