JACK MINER, THE KINGSVILLE CONSERVATIONIST HAS MORE TO SAY ON CROW CONTROVERSY

(By Jack Miner.)

When I read in several newspapers "to feed the crows in the winter, so they would not eat eggs in the summer," I said that I was thru writing Crow controversy. But the fact is that Mr. Harrison Lewis' explanation as to the fish crow's habits differing from the habits of our crow so much, is so extremely misleading that it just simply compels me to ask for a little more space in the papers of Ontario, following the controversy.

Now, Mr. Lewis' statement thru the "Globe," tries to make us believe that the habits of the fish crow, which is a trifle smaller, differs extremely in habits from our crow. This is absolutely misleading, for while the crows may differ a little in size, their murderous habits are all the same. For an illustration, let us take the habits of our Canada wild goose. It is a very large one that will weight twelve pounds, while in the western provinces they will weigh fourteen and possibly more, and yet their habits are exactly the same. Remember that "Crows are Crows" whenever or wherever you see them and they will all suck eggs.

I have crossed this continent four times the last few years, jumping here and there and all over and the way the crows are increasing caused me to wake up to the seriousness of it. In Manitoba I counted as high as thirteen crows' nests in one little cluster of trees. I even saw a crow's nest on the telegraph wires and the thought of how to decrease their numbers aroused every nerve in my living room. The gun is a failure, in fact I am not entirely in favor of a gun campaign as it is such a good excuse for us to get out with a gun and do wrong. So for months I let my mind's leisure time take up the crow problem and when I had the net or trap completed the next question was how and what kind of bait to use. Well, when I was a boy, we often speared more suckers than we could or would eat, the result was some of them spoiled, and the next thing to hen eggs, the best crow bait I ever got was dead suckers, so last fall before I started in business I saw Art Brown, one of our leading Kingsville fishermen, and he assured me I could have all his spoiled fish and fish heads and so forth, providing I got them off the dock before the health officers put him off, then I called one of our Kingsville draymen, Mr. Everett Bertrand, and he agreed to watch for all such fish, and run them to my premises even if there were only one hundred pounds. Well, I got the fish in November and threw them on the ground and covered them with an old oil cloth canvas, allowing the sun to shine on them, and so forth; well, now, believe me, by the time I got the trap made my bait was just right and ripe. But first of all I cut an old dead horse up and put about two thirds of it under but left a portion outside, then early the next morning I went and pulled all the meat under. We took manure forks and moved the fish right under where we wanted the crows. The fish doubled and trebled the quantity of crows under the net to what there were the previous day, and it seemed that all the crows in the country were fighting to get under for just a taste of those dead fish, when to their surprise they were instantaneously in captivity. Now the net is only twenty feet wide and seventy feet long and I caught 510 the first catch. Why, bless your life, give me a few skunk carcasses and enough dead fish and a Jack Miner Crow Net twenty-six feet wide and one hundred feet long in each county, and I will catch seventy-five per cent of these nest robbers in that county the first winter. Whether they be American crow or fish crow they are all black. Remember I have held an old dying crow up by the tail while seven little unhatched robins spewed out of her mouth. This was only one trip she was making to her young, but of course it was her last. Figure for yourself this crow had robbed at least two birds' nests on this one trip, how many trips will she make each day to these young crows and how long are they in nest before they fly out and work for themselves? How many is she going to destroy providing she can find them? I have watched a crow after she had stole into my sanctuary and got a nest of eggs, tower high into the air and got a mile and half before she started to come down. If she wanted grass hoppers for her young why did she come past so many meadows and pasture fields where grasshoppers are by the thousands?

Now another writer seems to want us to believe crows will not eat corn. During the winter months I keep corn under my goose net, which is sixty feet wide and a hundred and twenty feet long where I catch the geese to tag them, therefore my wing tipped geese have to go under there to feed, this gets them used to going under and educates them to be fearless of it and encourages them to lead the wild ones under when they come in the spring. Well, now, this corn is on the ice and during the last month I have often seen from fifty to one hundred crows under there at once. If these crows are not after the corn they must surely be fish crows looking thru the ice for more fish as we are entirely out of fish at the crow net. Again within one half mile of where I see the crows under the goose net eating corn, I found seven corn borers in one hill of corn stubble, and I view this corn borer as a very serious proposition and what few the crows eat will never be noticed, but if all the insectivorous birds the crows have destroyed the last ten years had been left and allowed to increase when the European corn borer moth was liberated in our beautiful Canada, she would have been gobbled up before she even had time to wink at a mate.

In closing, in regard to the crow and the corn borer, the crows were here in countless thousands before the corn borer arrived and the corn borer has increased to such an alarming state in the midst of these crows that I understand our government is wisely taking steps to make us burn, bury or ensilage our corn stalks, for, as for the crow controlling it, this is only a joke and reminds me of a school teacher who hurriedly gave a little boy the following sum to figure out for his home work.

"If a well was twenty feet deep and a neighbor's cat fell in and they put the ladder down to assist pussy in helping herself out and she was climbing up two steps and falling back ten, how long will it take puss to get out of the well?"

After Johnny had his slate chuck full of figures his mother called him for supper and he hastily shouted loudly, stating if his mother had kept still another minute he would have had this cat (or corn borer to

WHY IS THIS WRONG?

It is unwise to guess the weight of a letter to determine the amount of postage required. Such guessing often results in "Postage Due," which may cause delay in delivery and, in the case of business letters often results in a dissatisfied customer.

COL. PANET PASSES AWAY AT TORONTO

Toronto, March 3.—Colonel Antoine DeLothbiniere Panet, brother of Major-General Henri Panet, adjutant general of the department of national defence, Ottawa, and a member of one of the oldest French-Canadian families in this country, died here of pneumonia last night after a short illness.

Colonel Panet was 60 years of age, and held the position of district ordinance officer for Military District No. 2. He was the son of the late Colonel Eugene Panet, at one time Deputy Minister of Militia, and one of a family of seven brothers, six of whom were in military service. His widow and one son survive.

SHOULD WATCH MORALS OF YOUTH

Rome, March 4.—In many Italian cities a vigorous campaign against immorality among minors is being conducted. In numerous cities of the north police agents have been visiting public dance halls. When girls under 18 (and sometimes even boys under 21) were found, they were taken to their homes. In some cases, the managers of the halls were fined, or the halls themselves, as recently in Naples, were closed indefinitely.

THIS QUEER WORLD.

Cleveland, O.—Three hundred eggs a bird from sixteen mottled Ancona hens in twelve months are claimed by H. Cecil Sheppard, a Berea, O., breeder.

Tarrytown, N. Y.—John D. Rockefeller has paid $8,585 to prevent a reservoir from obstructing the view from his estate. The village has changed the site.

Manzanillo, Cuba.—Carlos Fernandez is having a fine time reading his death notices. While he was away on a business trip the family buried his double.

Albion, N. Y.—Some coyotes that were formerly pets of an Indian woman and obeyed the call of the wolf several years ago are being hunted with a price of $100 on each of their heads.

New York.—As to reports that she snubbed Mrs. Irving Berlin on the Leviathan, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney says: "How ridiculous!"

Springfield, Ill.—Neighbors don't fight over back fences any more. They spat by radio now. And one of their number has asked the radio council to make 'em cut it out.

Dallas, Tex.—Two canary birds from one egg is the unusual trick of nature reported by Miss Addie L. Clark of Dallas. The twins are normal.

Austin, Tex.—An Airedale on the capitol grounds demands goldfish for his diet. As a result policemen have been ordered to kill the dog on charges of depleting the goldfish ponds.

THE IDEA.

Otto Kahn, financier, told this one at a recent dinner: "As I understand it," a man said to a bolshevik, the fundamental idea of bolshevism is to divide up with your neighbor.

"Nothing of the kind," the bolshevik snarled. "The fundamental idea of bolshevism is to make your neighbor divide up with you."

She Coughed Night and Day Until She Used

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Mrs. S. E. Little, 103 Inkerman St., London, Ont., writes: "I got a very severe cold which settled in my bronchial tubes.

I coughed night and day, and although I tried several different remedies I could get no relief until a friend advised me to take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This I did, and I must say that it gave me almost immediate relief as I got rid of my cough very quickly. I hope this testimonial will be the means of helping others."

"Dr. Wood's" is put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
