Orders have been sent to advance posts of the French army to receive him as France receives all beaten foes, who have shown high military qualities.

His surrender had been unconditional. It was announced that the leader, who far more than two years had held European troops at bay would rely entirely on the French for fair treatment.

QUEEN TIY OF OLD EGYPT AS CINDERELLA

Chicago, May 27—Egypt had a Cinderella for a queen in Tiy, professor James H. Breasted, noted Egyptologist, of the University of Chicago, recently returned from Egypt, disclosed today. Interpreting the inscription on a scarab stone, he reported that Queen Tiy, who, in spite of her lowly birth, was taken to wed by King Amenhotep III, who reigned from 1411 to 1325 B. C., was snubbed by the aristocrats of the court.

The King ordered the snobbish courtiers to wear around their necks stones inscribed with the warning that they should remember that Tiy was his wife.

THE OLD TIMERS FREQUENT THE NIGHT CLUBS

London, May 27—Grayheads, or heads that would be gray if nature had not been assisted, are so numerous in London night clubs that newspapers generally agree with the statement of the late Sir Squire Bancroft that the "young-man-about-town" no longer exists in England.

The Kit-Cat and other well-known London night clubs are the haunt of the middle-aged and aged. Practically none of the dancers is really young. This is true of the women as well as the men.

Youth has its fling in the popular dance halls where the cost is less and it is not necessary to be so formally dressed.

BRIAND IS CONFIDENT THAT HIS GOVERNMENT WILL WEATHER ATTACK

The Premier is Optimistic on the Eve of the Re-opening of the French Parliament—His Opponents Have Been Deprived of Ninety Per-cent of Their Ammunition.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

PARIS, May 27—Premier Aristide Briand awaited the opening of the French parliament today with confidence that his ministry would weather any attacks in store for it.

"I am here for life," he said on the eve of Parliament's reopening when it was suggested that communists and radicals would attempt to oust him from the premiership.

Eleventh hour termination of the war in Morocco, pacification of the Syrians and a surprising improvement in the French franc have taken from the opponents of Briand 90 per cent of their ammunition. The Berenger-Kellogg debt settlement stands out as the chief problem about which any fight may centre and the chances of ratification of that pact have been greatly strengthened with the franc's rally.

GOOD NIGHT KISS BUSINESS GIRL'S DISSIPATION

New York, May 27—Except for letting boys kiss them good-night, modern business girls do nothing that is open to serious criticism, according to Miss Jessie Lee Hall, who was elected president of the New York State Business and Professional Women's League at its annual convention yesterday in the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce.

"Heavy 'necking' parties and drinking don't exist among business girls to any extent," she said. "I have been in business for twenty-seven years and I know that, except for a few years just after the war, the standards of young women have been steadily rising. And there is nothing in the habits of the modern business office to endanger the standards of any young girl."

Miss Hall is secretary of the Stanley W. Gunnison advertising organization. Other speakers were Miss Olive Smith and Mrs. Evelyn W. Allen, principal of the Girls' Commercial High School. Mrs. Allen said that a course in stenography is as valuable intellectually as courses in Latin or geometry.

ART TREASURES ARE RECLAIMED IN LAWSUIT

Paris May 27—A curious lawsuit has just been concluded whereby the Louvre is ordered to give up some priceless art treasures and return them to the heirs of the man who was their original donor. But they were originally given to the Louvre by M. Durighele, then French consul in Syria. An old law says that if children are born in the family of a donor he may provide for the return of gifts to his heirs. Durighele's will contained some such provision, it was found on his death.

RICH FIELDS OF OIL FOUND IN SIBERIA

Find Made on Bank of River Near Arctic Circle.

GUSHERS ARE PREDICTED

Region is Closed by Ice a Good Part of the Year.

(Special to The Daily Mail.)

Moscow, May 27—What may prove one of the richest oil fields in the world recently was discovered in North Central Siberia along the banks of the Yenisei River some 300 kilometres from the sea at a point almost within the Arctic Circle. Soviet experts already have prospected upward of 200,000 acres, producing oil whose analysis shows a quality much superior to that of Pennsylvania but it is believed this is only a small part of the oil-bearing region.

Although ice-free approach to the mouth of the Yenisei now is limited to six or seven weeks each year development of the oil field and seaport would, it is claimed through the use of ice-breakers permit traffic three or four months. Experts assert that comparatively shallow wells would produce gushers.

In the same region also has been discovered a graphite deposit estimated at 200,000 tons assaying 85 per cent pure.
