SIXTH ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF MUSSOLINI WAS MADE AT BOLOGNA ON SUNDAY

Premier Took Attempt Calmly and Later Delivered Address at Railway Station—Crowd Beat Would-be Assassin to Death—Was Youth About Eighteen Years Old.

Bologna, Italy, Oct. 31—Premier Mussolini has escaped the bullet of another would-be assassin.

As the Premier, accompanied by prominent members of the Italian Government, was leaving the Congress for the Advancement of Science at 5.45 p. m. today, he was fired upon by a youth about 18 years old. A crowd which packed the Rue de l'Indépendance closed in on the boy and beat him to death before he could be arrested.

The bullet tore through the sash of the order of St. Moritz which Mussolini wore across his heart, ripped out a portion of his uniform and then passed through the sleeve of the coat of the Mayor of Bologna, who was seated at the premier's side.

Continues to Station.

Mussolini's car did not stop and continued to the railway station where the Premier made a farewell address to the officers of the Bologna garrison. He was informed at the station that his would-be assassin had been killed.

Bologna was packed with black-shirted visitors from the surrounding countryside in honor of the premier's visit, which was made in celebration of the fourth anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome, and also for the purpose of dedicating Bologna's immense concrete sports stadium, the "Littorale."

Calm After Attack.

The Premier maintained the same calmness after the attack that he has exhibited after other attempts on his life. He bent to examine the path taken through his uniform, and then inquired solicitously whether or not the mayor had been injured. He ordered the car to slow up, and as the crowd closed in on the would-be assassin Mussolini urged them against reprisals. He proceeded to the station where he boarded a train for Lito to join his family.

Mussolini had been given a tremendous ovation on his arrival here, accompanied by Luigi Federoni, minister of the interior; Attilio Terruzio, under secretary of the interior, and Filippo Truatti, leader of the Unitarian party.

The stadium, which was dedicated by Mussolini has a seating capacity of 50,000 and is said to be the largest structure of its kind in the world.

Sixth Attempt on Life.

For the third time this year, and the sixth time since his famous fascist march on Rome four years ago, this month an attempt against the life of Premier Mussolini has been reported.

Of all these, only one attempt, that of the Hon. Violet Gibson, the Irish woman, on April 7, 1926, resulted in a wound for the Premier. His answer to these attempts and to those who fear for his safety, was at first almost unconcern, but after the most recent attack, that by Gino Lucetti, a youthful Italian, Mussolini demanded that other countries cease harboring plotters against the lives of Italian officials. Lucetti had planned his act against Mussolini while a resident of Marseilles, France. Previously Mussolini, with the endorsements of the government had caused laws to be passed renewing capital punishment for those seeking to kill members of the Italian Royal Family or the government. The two first attempts against the Premier's life were reported in 1923 and 1924, but these were not admitted by statements from the Italian government.

HARRY HOUDINI SUCCUMBS TO SECOND OPERATION AT DETROIT, GREAT MAGICIAN

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 31—Harry Houdini, the magician, died today.

Harry Houdini, for years a famous magician on the stage, was stricken with appendicitis while en route to Detroit, but insisted going on with his opening performance, following which he was rushed to a hospital.

The noted escape artist, whose adaptiveness at freeing himself from straight jackets, chains and cells mystified audiences in all parts of the world, died after a second surgical attempt had been made to save his life from the effects of peritonitis.

Born in Wisconsin.

Houdini, popularly supposed to be of Oriental birth, was born in Wisconsin in 1874, the son of the Rev. Mayer Samuel Weiss. His theatrical name was early acquired through legal procedure.

As one of the outstanding personages of the American stage and leader of magicians, his popularity lasted for a quarter of a century. Beginning his stage career as a trapeze performer, he toured the world. His versatility was evidenced by his winning the Australian Aeronautical Association prize in 1910. It was during his journey through Asia that he became interested in mysticism and shifted his role to that of magician.

Houdini counted among his audiences the royalty of Europe and Asia.

Against Spiritualism.

He wrote numerous treatises intended to expose spiritualism as a fraud. A book "A Magician Among the Spirits" created a furore among professional spiritualists by his assertions that the practice was "bunk."

One of his public challenges of long standing that he could duplicate or expose any seemingly magic feat was accepted by Raymen Bey, Egyptian mystifier in August. The Egyptian had created a sensation by remaining in a sealed coffin under water for 19 minutes. "Short breaths and conservation of oxygen," said Houdini, who entered the coffin and stayed there 90 minutes.

ACADIA AND SERVICES TIED

Halifax, Oct. 30—University of Acadia's football squad played a three-all tie game with the members of the United Services fifteen at the Wanderers Grounds yesterday afternoon in an exhibition game.

The game, while interesting throughout on account of the close score, was spoiled by bad fumbles. Many chances were thrown away by each squad, when tries were staring the players in the face. The visitors secured the jump early in the game but the seamen shaped up better in the second half and managed to tie up the count.

The players:—

Acadia—Elderkin, fullback; Wilson, McWha, McLean and Matthews, three-quarters; Barteaux, Davidson and Dougan, halves; Lane, M. Titus, S. Titus, White, Hubley, Raymond and Gordon, forwards.

United Services—Holms, fullback; Hope, Timothy, Thompson and Wurtle, three-quarters; Hart and Barnes halves; Murray, Johnson, Donald, Mitchell, Foster, Stagg, Hewit and Rhodes, forwards.

WOODSWORTH ON INTERESTS

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 31—"The three big interests dominate the country today," declared J. S. Woodworth, Labor M. P. from Winnipeg Center, in an address delivered here this afternoon under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Woodworth declared his belief that universities, the press, the churches and all industrial life were dominated by financial interests. "A change must come," he declared, "either by national disturbance or by an appeal to reason and conscience."

BOY IN GIRL'S CLOTHES PUZZLES BOSTON COPS

Grilled to Find if He Were Student Going Through an Initiation Stunt — Maintained Story.

Boston, Nov. 1—After an hour's attempt to convince Sergt. Joseph Shannon and Lieut. Joseph Donahue of Central-sq. Station, Cambridge, that he was not a student masquerading in girl's clothes as a part of an initiation stunt, a 16-year-old boy was pronounced a probable victim of amnesia by City Physician Brousseau of Cambridge and sent to the Cambridge City hospital for observation late last night.

Who he is, where he lives, how he got to Central sq. and why he is wearing girl's clothes, the boy was unable to explain at midnight.

When the boy stopped Sergt. Shannon shortly after 10 o'clock in Central sq. he told the sergeant he did not know who he was and asked the sergeant to take him to the police station so that he could "find himself."

Save for a slight masculine tone of the person's voice, the sergeant was under the impression he was talking with a girl. Though bareheaded, the boy had what seemed to be a boyish bob. His cheeks were powdered, his lips rouged and his eyebrows penciled. He was wearing a nutria-colored coat with a brown fur collar and a purple silk dress with lace and black pumps. "Quit your kidding," smiled the sergeant, believing that it was some student playing a prank on him.

"Honest," the boy continued, "I'm lost. I drank something, heard a roaring in my ears and then everything went blank. If you won't take me to the police station I'll go myself."

Whereupon the boy did. At the station Lieut. Donahue tried for an hour to break the boy's story, and then summoned Dr. Brousseau, who tried several tests on the boy. Finally he ordered him sent to the hospital, stating that he considered him a probable amnesia victim.

The boy's hair is dark. His description was sent out to towns and cities by the Cambridge police in an endeavor to find his relatives and establish his identity.

NOBILITY GOING IN FOR BUSINESS

London, Nov. 1—Early Victorian peers and peeresses probably would shudder with horror if they knew that the young folk of present day peers are keen on working at some trade and have popularized an eight-hour day among themselves.

These Mayfair youths and damsels take their jobs quite seriously and declare they feel all the better for having some object in life.

The Earl of Oxford and Asquith's son, the Hon. Anthony Asquith, is engaged in film work; Viscountess Grey of Fallodon's son, the Hon. Stephen Tennant, works with an engineering firm in the midlands. His younger brother is an artist. The Master of Falkland and his brothers the Hon. Byron Cary, do their eight hours with a Commercial firm in the city.

The Marquis of Carmarthen, heir to the Duke of Leeds works in the financial square mile of the city and the Duke of Portland's heir the Marquis of Titchfield is learning all about estate management. The Earl of Lathom is director of a publicity business.

On the woman's side, daughters of many famous hostesses have gone to work following the example of the Hon. Miss Richard Norton, who runs a film theatre. Miss Zita Jungmann and Lady Eleanor Smith are among several who earn a good salary with their pens. Viscountess

MAYAN CITIES BEING EXCAVATED FOR MUSEUM

Lubaantum in British Honduras Proving of Great Interest—Three States of Architecture Found.

London, Nov. 1—The possibility that the ancient Mayan city of Lubaantum may prove to be one of the earliest centres of organized culture in Central America is suggested in a report issued today by Sir Frederic Kenyon, director of the British Museum, on the work of a recent expedition there.

Sir Frederic said that the archaeological discoveries in British Honduras on the site of Lubaantum promised the greatest importance in revealing the ancient civilization on Central America. The discoveries were made by Lady Richmond Brown, Frederick A. Mitchell-Hedges, explorers, and Thomas W. F. Gann, well-known Central American archaeologist. The expedition returned to England on October 3, carrying a rare collection of relics.

Early Centre of Culture.

Sir Frederic's report on the expedition, which excavated Lubaantum last spring, says that the site is one of the largest yet discovered within the area known to have been the home of the ancient Mayas. A preliminary survey of the site showed that behind the final structures excavated there were still three periods of other definite architectural styles, which must carry the date of the founding of the city back to the very beginning of the Mayan civilization. Further researches, Sir Frederic believes, may prove that Lubaantum is one of the earliest centres of culture in Central America.

The earliest style discovered indicates that the builders were a primitive people using stone tools. Pyramids and hill terraces uncovered indicate that there must have been an extensive population working for many years under strong central control. The fragments of finely painted pottery which were found, also show a highly developed art among the people with a long history behind it.

The expedition also made an extensive collection of relics of the Chibobas Indians, the ancient inhabitants of Columbia, a people who attained some degree of civilization.

HOTEL MANAGER SHOT HIMSELF

North Sydney, N. S., Oct. 31—John J. Pallen, manager of the Belmont Hotel, was accidentally killed here today, when a rifle he was examining went off, discharging its contents into his head.

Mr. Pallen had been confined to his room for a couple of days with a cold, but planned to come down stairs this afternoon, contemplating a hunting trip shortly which had been deferred by his recent indisposition. He was examining one of his rifles, a .44 Winchester, in his room early this afternoon, believing it to be unloaded, when it discharged. Death was instantaneous.

An inquest held early this evening resulted in a verdict of accidental death.

The late Mr. Pallen, who was one of the best known citizens of this town, was born at Newcastle, N. B., forty-six years ago, coming to North Sydney in 1910.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Fitz Randolph have gone on a trip to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McAdam have returned from their honeymoon trip.

Mr. W. D. McKay of Halifax is a visitor to the city.

Falkland has the reputation of being a clever dressmaker at her shop in Knightsbridge.
